CALIFORNIA GIVES UP FOSTER

McKellar Uses Japan for Precedent.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—With the administration pressing for ratification of the navy limitation treaty before the end of this week Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], one of the opponents of the measure, disclosed tonight that he will offer a reservation tomorrow providing for freedom of the seas.

The Tennessee senator added that he will have several other reservations to propose eventually, among them being one requiring the dismantling of British naval bases off the shores of the United States. These bases are Halifax, Bermuda, Kingston, Port Castries, and Esquimalt.

Japanese Contention Upheld.

At the Washington conference Japan complained that the American base in the Philippines and the potential base on the island of Guam constituted a menace. Great Britain supported the Japanese contention and America was persuaded to waive the right to establish a base on Guam or in the Aleutian islands or to strengthen the Philippines base.

Senator McKellar contends that if the proximity of the bases of another power is a menace the British bases flanking our shores and lying athwart our trade routes should be dismantled. President Hoover made this proposal to Prime Minister MacDonald in the Rapidan conversations and Mr. MacDonald intimated that Britain might be willing to promise to maintain the status quo of Bermuda and the West India bases, but that it would be for Canada to say whether a similar pledge should be given regarding Halifax and Esquimalt.

That was the last heard of the matter, for the American delegation at the London conference failed to press the proposal.

Text of Seas Reservation.

"As a condition of ratification, it is understood and agreed that hereafter the high contracting parties will both in times of peace and of war respect the absolute freedom of the seas outside their territorial waters and it is further understood and agreed that each and all of the said high contracting parties guarantee among themselves and to others the natural rights of all neutral nations and their nationals to ship their goods, wares, and merchandise on the high seas in times of both peace and war to and from all nations, belligerent or neutral, without interference or molestation."

A resolution practically identical with this in purpose, which was offered by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], was unanimously adopted by the senate a year and a half ago. The thorny question of the freedom of the seas was ruled out of the London conference by Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald on the ground that if that proposition were tackled it probably would be impossible to get any navy limitation agreement.

Opposed by Administration.

The reservation will be opposed by administration senators on the ground that if adopted it would only serve to defeat the treaty, because Great Britain never would accept it. The administration leaders also accuse the opposition of bringing forward this and other reservations for dilatory purposes. The only reservation the administration is willing to accept is the Norris proviso in a modified form declaring that the senate ratifies the treaty with the understanding that there is no secret agreement affecting its terms.

Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], one of the negotiators of the treaty, came to its defense in some extemporaneous remarks, at the close of which he was catechized by Senator Hiram W. Johnson [Rep., Cal.], leader of the opposition.

Asks About Cruiser Quota.

"I ask the senator," said Senator Johnson, "if on the third day of February, 1930, in company with Mr. Stimson, Mr. Morrow and Mr. Adams the senator called upon Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson and demanded 21 eight inch gun cruisers?"

"It was about that time that we decided that we would try it," Senator Reed answered.

"Did Mr. MacDonald at that time reply that the suggestion was more impossible than it had been during the previous summer?"

"I think he said something like that."

FRIENDS TELL OF M'CORMICK CAMPAIGN GIFTS

BY PARKE BROWN.

The largest single money contribution toward the nomination of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick for United States senator from Illinois was $20,000. That amount was given to the Voters' Progress club, a campaign organization, by Frederick W. Allen of New York City, a Yale classmate of Mrs. McCormick's late husband, Medill McCormick. The amount was included in Mrs. McCormick's original statement to the committee.

It was the second day of hearings at the federal building conducted by United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota as chairman of the special committee directed to inquire into the cost of senatorial primaries held in various states this year.

Totals Already Included.

The donors of the larger contributions made to the Voters' Progress club, the Illinois Young People's Republican clubs, and the Ruth Hanna McCormick volunteers, were named by several witnesses, but the total of their contributions already had been included in Mrs. McCormick's statement to the committee that $67,214.10 had been spent in her behalf by those three organizations.

The one item of McCormick expenditures brought out for the first time was the personal disbursement of $7,207 from his own pocket by W. D. Alexander of Bloomington, a retired lumberman. He testified that until he took the stand he had not told Mrs. McCormick or any one else of the expenditure. His explanation was that because of a long friendship with the candidate's father, the late Mark Hanna, he had volunteered to handle her campaign in McLean county without financial assistance. He met Mrs. McCormick for the first time on Monday.

At the close of Mr. Alexander's testimony Chairman Nye emphasized the fact that McLean county was one of the eight counties of the state not included in Mrs. McCormick's "budget" in her report to the committee as the ones into which she had sent funds to be disbursed by county managers.

Contributors Are Listed.

The list of the donors of substantial sums to the volunteer organizations supporting Mrs. McCormick included the names of a number of relatives. They were the following: M. A. Hanna, $5,000; D. R. Hanna Jr., $5,000; Carl H. Hanna, $5,000; R. R. McCormick, $2,500; Joseph Medill Patterson, $2,500, and Mrs. Eleanor Patterson Schlesinger, $1,000.

Another $5,000 came from G. E. Sullivan of New York City, who, like Mr. Allen, was a university classmate of Medill McCormick's. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schweppe each gave $1,000. Two Chicago attorneys, George T. Haight and L. L. Dent, turned in $5,000 they said they had raised among lawyers, and C. J. Avildsen and George W. Reinecke each contributed $2,500.

Almost the entire day was given over to the examination of officers of these organizations and to members of Mrs. McCormick's personal and campaign staffs. One of her employes, Fred A. Smith, former newspaper man, who for nearly two years has done Mrs. McCormick's research and publicity work, was the only one in this group whose testimony diverged from the routine.

Protests Against Reports.

After he had been questioned closely concerning his duties Mr. Smith was given an opportunity to add any statement that he wished and he protested because the Nye committee, which he said has the facts, has permitted continued dissemination of rumors that the McCormick campaign produced wholesale corruption.

"Thousands of clippings that pass over my desk," Smith said, "show an increasing tendency to imply that Mrs. McCormick is a political associate of Al Capone and is in alliance with hoodlums and criminals. There was not a single corrupt act committed by a member of our organization in this campaign and this committee ought to lose no time either in establishing the facts alleged or exonerating this organization."

Smith told Chairman Nye if there is anxiety to establish important facts about Illinois campaign expenditures he should subpoena the Rev. Elmer L. Williams, who then sat at the press table, and compel him to tell who paid for the mailing of a "tremendous quantity" of copies of "Lightnin'," devoted to attacks on the late Senator

COOLIDGE LOSES HIS WIFE, BUT MESSENGER HELPS HIM LOCATE HER

Boston, Mass., July 15.—[Special.]—"I've lost my wife," said former President Calvin Coolidge to a statehouse messenger today when he and Mrs. Coolidge became separated at the statehouse for a few moments.

They had just arrived on the third floor and Mrs. Coolidge turned and entered the executive suite, where Mrs. Allen, wife of the governor, was receiving. The former President, instead of following, walked toward the office of the president of the senate. He went a few paces before he missed Mrs. Coolidge and appealed to the messenger, who explained the whereabouts of Mrs. Coolidge.

CHILDREN CLAIM SWINGING RECORD AFTER 4 HOURS

A swinging contest was added to the list of endurance "flights" yesterday. The three children of Ald. Peter N. Jans, 1229 Leonard place, Evanston, took off in their swing in the back yard of their home.

The children, Peter Jr., 11 years old, Mary, 9, and Rita, 5, climbed out at noon after four hours of continuous swinging, to claim the swinging endurance record.

Truman Kirkpatrick, 16 years old, of 608 Belleforte avenue, Oak Park, and Jack Harris, 10, of 1012 Augusta street, Oak Park, ended their tree sitting "flight" yesterday at the request of their parents, after having spent 115 hours in an oak tree. They had earned $4.50 each.

Hoover Picks U.S. Parks as Vacation Site

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—President Hoover will leave Washington about Aug. 15 for a two weeks vacation in the Yellowstone and Glacier national parks, it was announced at the White House today. The trip, officials hastened to add, will be entirely recreational and for the sole purpose of giving the President a needed rest from his long sojourn in Washington.

According to the White House announcement President Hoover will make no speeches or public appearances in the various cities en route to and from the parks. In making up the itinerary, not yet announced, every precaution is being taken by the President's advisers to avoid entangling the President in Republican primary fights. Wherever possible the presidential train will be routed to avoid states where primaries are still to be held.

May Take Boat in Chicago.

Presidential advisers state that Mr. Hoover is considering making part of his trip via the great lakes. If this is done to avoid crowds and the dust and heat of train travel during hot weather the President would board a lake boat either at Chicago or at Detroit. It is considered most likely that the President will travel by train to Chicago, take a boat from there to Duluth, and then make the rest of the trip by train.

The original tentative itinerary for the President's western trip called for stops in Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, and at Madison, Wis., to allow the state university to confer degrees upon both the President and Mrs. Hoover. It was inferred from the statement made today by George Akerson, his secretary, that the Madison part of the schedule has been abandoned.

Pick Several Campsites.

Representatives of the interior department, at the direction of Secretary Wilbur, have selected a number of camping sites in the national parks for the use of the presidential party. The President plans to spend several days fishing and tramping.

LINDY BABY'S FIRST AIR RIDE MAY BE TO MORROW MAINE HOME

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. may take his first airplane ride on a trip to the North Haven, Me., home of his grandparents. The baby, now four weeks old, has yet to be taken for a ride in a plane with his father, Col. Lindbergh today said it was possible he would fly his wife and baby to the Morrow summer home on the Maine coast some time within a month. He added, however, that reports that he had planned it definitely were premature.

In any event the colonel is not likely to use the Lockheed Sirius plane in which with his wife he set up a new transcontinental record on Easter Sunday.

"It would be perfectly feasible, if the wind direction is right, to land the plane on the island," he said, "but for such a trip we would be more likely to use a smaller plane."

The colonel has twice made the trip between New York and North Haven by air.

WRITES TRIBUTE TO WIFE; THEN TAKES POISON

"To my wife, somewhere in Cook county: I didn't realize what a wonderful girl you were when I left you June 10. Take care of Theresa. I'll meet you in heaven." The note was found by the police when called to a room of the Morrison hotel which had been occupied for two days by a man who registered as Kenneth Weger. He was unconscious from poison. He was taken to the county hospital, where it was said his condition is critical. He is believed to be from Sullivan, Ill.

California Heat Plays Around 100 Degree Mark

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—[Special.]—The third day of southern California's continuous heat wave ran temperatures up to an official 96 in Los Angeles, 99 in Pasadena, 108 in San Bernardino, and 111½ in El Centro. Calexico, just across the Mexican border from Mexicali, reported 118 degrees.

Rum Runner's Car Hits Auto; 1 Dead, 1 Hurt

A booze runner speeding toward Chicago with a supply of alcohol in the rear seat of his automobile crashed into another car at Elmhurst road and Highway 58, two miles west of Des Plaines, last night, killing a father and critically injuring his 15 year old daughter, who were returning from an evening ride.

The dead man was Clyde Reighard, 50 years old, an automobile mechanic residing at 1309 Washington street, Des Plaines. The girl, Marie, was taken to the emergency hospital in Des Plaines with a possible skull fracture.

Both cars were flung into the ditch by the force of the collision. Reighard was lying crushed to death in the wreckage of his machine when county highway police of the Morton Grove station arrived. No trace was found of the driver of the other car, but farmers of the vicinity told the police they had seen him fleeing from the scene.

Alky Cans Scattered.

In the tonneau of his abandoned car were a half dozen cans of alcohol and scattered over the road were the remnants of other cans whose contents had drained away. Early this morning the police were searching neighboring fields for the bootlegger.

The rum car bore license plates issued to Peter Cappola, 3001 Jackson boulevard, Chicago, but in a side pocket the police found a bill of sale which indicated that on July 2 Thomas Gordon, 2191 Meade avenue, had purchased the machine from a used automobile agency. Both men were sought.

Blowout Causes Death.

Jean Ascher, 29 years old, 847 Ainslie street, was killed yesterday when his automobile turned over, as a tire blew out, on a highway near Clsne, Ill. A woman companion, whose identity was not learned by police, was seriously injured and was taken to a hospital at Olney. Ascher was a bond salesman.

Mrs. Rose Rogers, 51 years old, 2127 South St. Louis avenue, received a fractured skull last night when she was struck by an auto driven by Theodore Gordon, 2313 Walnut street, at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. She was taken to the Mother Cabrini hospital. Gordon was held.

VOLLEYS AIMED O'DONNELL HOME HIT NEIGHBOR'S

A shotgun attack intended for the home of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, beer gang leader, at 8145 South Honoré street, according to the police, missed its mark early this morning when the gunners, riding past in an automobile, fired by mistake into the cottage of Edward G. Jones at 8139 South Honoré street, two doors away.

Two guns boomed as the car speeded by and thirteen leaden pellets crashed through the front windows of Jones' home, where he, his wife, and two children lay asleep. None was injured, most of the slugs striking a piano. Jones, an electrician, informed the police that he had no enemies, and Lieut. Thomas H. Wood said he was convinced the lead was meant for O'Donnell.

O'Donnell, reached by telephone, spoke as follows: "So there was a shooting in the neighborhood? I never even heard it. I sleep sound. I don't know who would be shooting at me."

At least five times in the past O'Donnell has been the target of gangsters' guns but has always escaped, the police recalled.

LINGLE SUSPECT LOSES FIGHT TO ESCAPE INQUIRY

Secrecy Veils Plans for Chicago Trip.

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in Room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—[Special.]—Frank Foster, member of the Moran-Aiello gang of Chicago and indicted for the murder of Alfred Lingle, lost his fight late today against extradition to Chicago.

Foster Takes the Stand.

Foster was the first witness summoned. Asked when he had been last in Chicago, the gangster plucked his lips, as if striving to remember.

"O, about June 6 or 7," he answered. Lingle was killed on June 9.

"And where did you go, Mr. Foster, when you left Chicago?" asked his lawyer.

"Santa Fé," replied the gangster, adding, "I didn't have any business out there. Just a pleasure trip, see? I like the country in New Mexico."

With a gesture indicating these answers settled the issue, the lawyer turned his client over for cross-examination by Deputy District Attorney Tracy Becker. Foster's bland attitude turned to irritation under Becker's questions.

Irked by Cross-Examination.

"You took a berth on this alleged trip to Santa Fé?" Deputy Becker began. Foster cocked one leg over the other, nodded and, as an afterthought, drawled: "Sure. D'you think I traveled in a box car?"

"Remember the name of the Pullman car?" the prosecutor asked. Foster didn't. Nor could he recall the porter's name, the meals he ate in the diner, and the towns he passed on route to Santa Fé.

"A rather hazy trip, Mr. Foster," the deputy district attorney suggested. The witness did not answer. With a surly expression on his face, Foster was excused.

Chicago Hotel Clerk Testifies.

Mr. Becker summoned Donald H. Wilson, who identified himself as room clerk at the St. Clair hotel, 162 East Ohio street, Chicago. Wilson was asked if he knew Foster.

Hesitantly the hotel clerk pointed out Foster. The gangster glared as Wilson said: "That's Mr. Foster. I saw him in the St. Clair lobby on June 11."

Cross-examination failed to shake Wilson's story. A corroborating witness was Miss Mary Micklin, St. Clair hotel stenographer. Foster's attorney waived cross-examination of Miss Micklin.

Judge McComb entered an order denying the writ, Foster was manacled and placed in the custody of the Los Angeles sheriff, pending arrangements to return him to Chicago.

Secrecy Veils Plans for Trip.

John Scherping and Edward Dudley, agents from State's Attorney Swanson's office at Chicago, declined to reveal the route they planned on the return trip. One report was that they would take Foster by airplane.

"We aren't advertising any plans regarding Foster," said Dudley. "We don't want him killed on our hands and we don't want him taken from us by his friends."

Seized here two weeks ago in company with his wife and four other Moran-Aiello gangsters, Foster at first agreed to waive extradition. One of his comrades, George Davis, wanted in Detroit as a violator of the federal narcotic law, was granted a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner David Head. His bond was fixed at $25,000 and Davis remained in custody.

JURY STARTS INQUIRY

As the Cook county grand jury paved the way yesterday for an investigation of a supposed alliance between certain Chicago newspaper men and gangsters, two newspaper men—Leland H. Reese, gangland reporter of the Chicago Daily News, and Harry Read, city editor of the Chicago Evening American—stood identified among those whose friendships with gangsters are under inquiry.

Reese has, according to his own admissions, been threatened with death by gangsters. He was the sponsor of Julius Rosenheim, paid informant of the Daily News, who was slain Feb. 1. Reese has said that he narrowly escaped death when gangsters forced his car from a road near De Kalb, Ill.

Read, according to a formal statement printed yesterday in the Chicago American, reprinted elsewhere in this edition, was a guest at Scarface Al Capone's mansion on Palm island, Miami Beach, Fla., and was held for questioning with Capone and others in Havana, Cuba.

Jury Calls for Brundidge.

Investigation of the activities of Reese, Read and other Chicago newspaper men follows charges made by Harry T. Brundidge, staff correspondent for the St. Louis Star, in articles published by his paper and reprinted in THE TRIBUNE.

This inquiry, by order of Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle of the Criminal court, is in the hands of the grand jury, and the first step taken by the jury was to send a telegram to Mr. Brundidge. The message, signed by Bernard De Vry, foreman of the grand jury, was as follows:

"Pursuant to your offer to appear before the Cook county grand jury and enlighten us as to certain matters pertaining to crime conditions in Chicago and Cook county, we cordially invite you to appear before us directly. Kindly advise us as to when it will be convenient for you to appear."

Reply from St. Louis Star.

The St. Louis Star wired the following reply:

"As stated in the public press during the last 72 hours, Mr. Brundidge has been in Miami Beach, Fla., and Havana, Cuba. He has been pursuing his investigation of matters pertaining to the assignment to delve into the background of the Lingle murder. The Star instructed him by cable to Havana yesterday to start for St. Louis at once and it is expected that he will arrive Saturday.

"If it is agreeable, the Star will produce him in Chicago any day next week the grand jury my select."

While the Brundidge-Reese-Read-Rosenheim matters have been approaching a climax, the investigation of the murder of Alfred [Jake] Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, who was killed by gangsters on June 9, has been secretly conducted by Charles F. Rathbun, assistant state's attorney and a member of THE TRIBUNE law firm, and Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson. Both officials declined to comment yesterday on the nature of the present developments in that case, but they appeared optimistic in hopes for a solution.

Brundidge May Talk Monday.

It is reported that Brundidge will be requested by the grand jury to appear next Monday, and at that time he will be asked to give proof of his charges that there were other "itchy-palmed" newspaper men in Chicago beside Jake Lingle.

Brundidge in his articles recited instances of alleged racketeering by Chicago newspaper men. He did not mention names, but the articles carried his offer to give the names to the grand jury if and when he is called.

Reese, the Daily News reporter, in an article published in the News, said that he had been threatened with death; that he believed Rosenheim, who furnished the basis for Reese's stories on gangland activities, had been murdered by the Capone gang in an effort to intimidate the Daily News, and that the gangsters who in another car forced Reese's car from the road were seeking to kill him and his bodyguards.

Murder Attempt Revealed.

Another attempt on Reese's life, which occurred on the same day on which Lingle was murdered and which had been kept secret, was revealed yesterday.

Investigators learned that early on the morning of June 9, a message came directly to John Craig, city editor of the Daily News, that Reese was to be assassinated. Craig dismissed the warning as the work of a crank, it is reported.

A short time later word of the murder of Lingle was flashed to the News, and closely following this, according to the investigators, came a telephone message from Reese, who said gangsters had followed him out to the race track—the same track to which Lingle was bound when he was killed. Reese expressed fears that the gangsters were there to kill him, and begged for an escort to convey him safely back to Chicago.

Now convinced that the message of the morning was in earnest, Craig requested former Commissioner of Police Russell to send Capt. William Schoemaker and a squad of detectives to bring Reese to Chicago.

The commissioner, however, decided that time would be saved by sending a squad from a district at the southern end of the city, and five detectives, all heavily armed and riding in one of the orange detective bureau squad cars, went to get Reese.

The Daily News reporter was waiting in a room at the clubhouse, was loaded into the squad car, and delivered safely at the office of the Daily News. Since that time, as Reese explained in his signed article, he has been accompanied night and day by armed bodyguards.

Augustus Peabody, president of the Citizens' association, interviewed yesterday after a meeting of the association's board of directors, said he had been authorized to confer with State's Attorney Swanson and Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, concerning the progress being made in the investigation of the murder of Lingle. Mr. Peabody said he would seek to hold the conference today.

Evening American Publishes Article on Harry Read's Visit at Capone Estate

The Chicago Evening American yesterday printed the following statement in connection with the visits of Harry Read, city editor of the American, to the Florida estate of Scarface Al Capone and the arrest of Capone, Read, and others in Havana, Cuba:

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE today published a story that Harry Read, city editor of the Chicago Evening American, had paid several visits to Al Capone in his Palm Island estate, in Miami Beach, Fla. It was stated in the story that Mr. Read, as well as Capone, was a member of a party that visited Cuba.

"The story went on to describe the questioning by Cuban police of the entire party that arrived in Cuba in the same amphibian plane.

"Here are the facts:

"Mr. Read left the office of the Chicago Evening American on April 8, primary day, went to his home and went to bed ill with a cold, which later developed into bronchitis with some indications, according to a clinical report, that pneumonia germs were present.

Tell of Invitation.

"On April 18, on the advice of his physician that he take a short vacation in a warm climate, Mr. Read went to Miami, arriving there April 20, where he registered at the Ritz-Carlton hotel. Later that day he met a member of Capone's family on the street and was invited to the Palm Island estate.

"He availed himself of the invitation and called that afternoon. At Mr. Read's request, Capone posed for pictures which were mailed that night to the Chicago Evening American and subsequently published by this paper on April 24, under the caption, 'Alphonse Capone—Public Enemy—Fishes in Exile.' During the following week Capone appeared in both federal and state courts on various charges.

"Mr. Read covered these hearings as a newspaper correspondent, telegraphing developments which were published in this newspaper.

"Mr. Read visited the Capone home some five or six times during the week. He met there various Miami business and professional men and members of Capone's family.

Describe Plans for Flight.

"On Monday, April 22, Mr. Read received a telephone call at the Ritz hotel from J. Fritz Gordon, a Miami attorney, who represented Capone in his court hearings. Mr. Gordon explained to Mr. Read that it was his intention to fly to Cuba on the following day with Capone and several others and asked if he would care to make the eighth person so that the airline would run a plane.

"Mr. Read assented, requesting Mr. Gordon to prepare his papers for the emigration authorities.

"The following morning the party flew to Havana, arrived without incident, and registered at the Sevilla Biltmore hotel. Mr. Read had lunch, joined the Capone party on a trip to the Tropical Gardens, where beer is given away, stopped at a restaurant where dinner was had, and returned to the hotel.

"The Capone party went to several cabarets that night, but Mr. Read was in bed at 8 o'clock. After a short nap he dressed, went to the lobby, wrote several letters, and was back in bed at 11 o'clock.

"On the following morning at 6 a. m. emissaries from the Cuban secret police came to the hotel and told Capone they had been asked by the American embassy to question him and the persons who arrived on the plane with him. Capone and the others, including Mr. Read, accompanied the secret police emissary to headquarters, where it developed that the questioning had to do with reports that Capone intended bombing some public buildings as part of a May day labor demonstration.

"On hearing this Capone laughed heartily. After the arrival of the chief of the secret police Capone was asked what he was doing in Cuba. He said he came over to spend some money and drink some wine. The chief stated that the Cuban government was glad to have him as a visitor and hoped his stay would be a pleasant one. The names of those present at the time were not requested by the police and the interview did not last more than two minutes.

"The party returned to the hotel and breakfast. About 10 a. m. Mr. Read, accompanied by the aged father of Attorney Gordon, proceeded to Morro castle and the Cuban fortress. They returned late that afternoon. Where Capone and the others went is not known.

Relates Shopping Tour.

"That night Mr. Read took a walk through the streets of Havana alone. On the following morning the entire party went shopping in the accredited manner of tourists abroad. That afternoon, the plane being ready for the return trip, they embarked for the United States.

"On the night of the day he returned to Miami, May 1, Mr. Read boarded a train for Chicago.

"The records of the auditor of the Chicago Evening American show that Mr. Read asked for and was sent by telegraph the sum of $300, an amount less than the total he had to his credit on the books of the auditor when the requests were made. This indicates that Mr. Read paid his own expenses and defrayed his share of the cost of the Cuban trip."

JOLIET DIVORCEE SETS SELF AFIRE; MAY DIE OF BURNS

Self-immolation was attempted yesterday by a despondent divorcée, Mrs. Elizabeth Sluk, 45 years old, 909 Clay street, Joliet. Smearing her limbs with grease and saturating a mattress with the same substance, Mrs. Sluk lay down upon the improvised pyre and touched a match to it. A moment later, sheeted in flames, she ran out of the house and down the street, sinking exhausted in a yard five blocks away. Attendants at St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet, believed her burns would prove fatal.

Cop, Girl, Youth, Gun, Love and Money Make Drama

In answer to a telephone appeal for help last night, Lieut. Paul Riccio of the Canalport station hid himself in a closet of the apartment of Miss May Manek, 22 years old, 1373 West Cullerton street. In a few minutes, Stanley Kowalski, 25 years old, 1815 South Paulina street, appeared. "May," said Mr. Kowalski, "you have jilted me. I demand that you either marry me or give me $200 damages." He drew a revolver. Lieut. Riccio emerged from the closet, seized the gun, and arrested him.

ROBBED BY TAPE BANDITS.

Max Goldberg, proprietor of a tire shop at 2601 South Wabash avenue, was robbed of $178 last night by three men who bound him with adhesive tape and tossed him in a wash room.

PASSPORTS GROW DESPITE STOCK MARKET FLURRY

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—Passport figures gathered by the state department disclose that the stock market depression has not had an adverse effect on American travel to Europe. Department statistics show that the number of passports issued this year have exceeded by more than 10 per cent the number issued for the corresponding period last year.

In May 43,227 passports were issued, compared with 38,715 last year. In June the number of passports issued was 32,405, as compared with 29,508 for the corresponding period the year before.

The whole passport fee is now $6 instead of $10. All passports valid on July 1 and which are taken out after that date may be renewed twice for two year periods.

CLERK STUMBLES ON FORTUNE IN CHECKS; SPURNS $5

Carrying his tray to a table he kicked something. It was a wallet containing indorsed checks totaling $600,000.

Rather than take time to find the corporation which owned the checks, the clerk hurried back to his work and a superior arranged the return to the grateful owners. Heaney turned down a $5 reward offered him.

THREE DIE, THREE ILL IN ONE FAMILY FROM MYSTERY POISONING

Newton, N. J., July 15.—(AP)—With three of his children dead, and his wife and a fourth child in a critical condition, Wilbur Stanton tonight was waging a losing fight for life against a poison which puzzles doctors.

The children, Elizabeth, 13, Fanny, 12, and Alice, 4, died today shortly after being stricken. Mrs. Stanton and William Cortwright, a step-child, 2 years old, also are ill, but are expected to recover. Stanton was not expected to live through the night.

Sunday the family went on a picnic, taking with them sandwiches made of preserved meats. On their way home they stopped at a stand and ate some ice cream. It has not been determined whether these foods caused the illness.

TROOPS RUSHED TO STOP RIOTS IN BENGAL; 4 SLAIN

Troops and police are being rushed to Mymensingh and to Koshorganj. Four persons were killed and two wounded during rioting yesterday at Mymensingh. Police fired into the mob to stop the riots. Frantic appeals for help have been received from Kishorganj, forty miles from the former city. Every available soldier in the district is being sent there.

SWANSON TELLS CHURCHMEN OF LINGLE INQUIRY

Split Reported in Crime Committee of Pastors.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

State's Attorney Swanson appeared yesterday as the second witness before the Chicago Church federation's investigation committee which is holding secret hearings on Chicago's gangdom and crime. The prosecutor was asked about the Lingle murder case and he gave an unqualified indorsement of the investigation and search for the murderer as being conducted by Special Prosecutor Charles F. Rathbun.

After press photographers and reporters had been shooed away by detectives of the Hotel La Salle, where the hearings are being held, Mr. Swanson entered the committee's room. Upon emerging he talked jovially to interviewers of his appearance before the ministers. He said members of the committee had asked his opinion of the value of an investigation such as they are conducting, and he told them if they called in enough public officials they will then be able to give intelligent discussions of crime and political matters before their congregations.

Questioned About Rathbun.

Mr. Swanson said he had been asked if his appointment of Special Prosecutor Rathbun had been forced upon him or was embarrassing to him. The prosecutor said he had told the ministers that neither was the case. On the contrary, he said, he had previously thought of appointing Rathbun to his staff.

A resolution was adopted by the committee indorsing Swanson's administration as state's attorney.

Mr. Swanson said he had been asked why no convictions have been obtained for the 47 gang murders since Jan. 1. "I told them that my office was a prosecuting office," Swanson said, "and that if they would give me evidence, I would convict. The reason for the small number of convictions is the lack of evidence."

Urges Metropolitan Police.

Mr. Swanson was asked his opinion of the organization of the police department. He replied that a metropolitan police department should be organized to supplement the Chicago department, the county highway police, and the village police.

"Such a department," the prosecutor said, "would cover the entire metropolitan area similar to the way the London metropolitan police operate. The department would have a separate head and also be independent of the Chicago police, the state's attorney's office, and the village governments."

Mr. Swanson said that he advocated the organization of an independent secret service agency. He explained that the secret service should not be responsible to the city administration or to the police commissioner, either of the city or the metropolitan district. Mr. Swanson did not name the agency to which the secret service should be answerable.

Report Split in Committee.

Division in the ranks of the church federation's investigation committee is reported to have occurred at yesterday's meeting. A movement began which, it was said, threatened for a time to bring the hearings to an end. It was reported that defense of the committee's work by the Rev. Philip Yarrow and the Rev. Elmer Williams saved the day. The Rev. Mr. Yarrow is the chairman of the political action commission of the federation under whose direction the special investigating committee was organized. The Rev. Mr. Williams formerly was a reform crusader for the Better Government association.

The Better Government association drew fire from Ald. Arthur Albert, the first witness heard, a week ago, when he charged the association with reform racketeering. Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago divinity school, president of the Chicago Church federation, was asked to comment on the proposal to close the federation crime hearing. He said: "I am only an innocent bystander and have no comment to make."

No Comment Intended.

Rumors of a split among the committee members as to whether they should continue the investigation were substantiated by the Rev. Frank E. Jensen, pastor of the Mount Zion Lutheran church and head of the committee.

"Our motives have been grossly misinterpreted," Dr. Jensen said, "and I want it made clear that this committee of investigators will make no comment on the information it receives. It will simply publish its findings as they are received with the hope that the public will demand a change by way of petition or at the polls whenever conditions warrant it."

Police Question Druggist In Bonner Killing Inquiry

CRIMINAL COURT.

Rollie Huber, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge E. I. Frankhauser.

Philip R. McDonnell, a druggist, whose pharmacy at 501 West 79th street was watched by police for two months in the expectation that Fred Burke, notorious killer, would visit McDonnell, was surrendered at the detective bureau yesterday by Attorney John F. Bolton. He was questioned by Chief of Detectives Norton about his knowledge of the case of Thomas Bonner, who was slain on Thursday morning, supposedly by Burke and a companion.

Attorney Bolton said McDonnell did not know Burke and did not go to Newaygo, Mich., a week ago to meet Burke—as Bonner had told the police—but went to visit W. A. Smith, who is being held at the detective bureau. Bolton said the mixup of automobiles, in which Smith's car was believed to have been used by the murderers of Bonner, was due to a breakdown of McDonnell's car at Newaygo.

Contradicts Bonner Story.

Bolton contradicted the story told by Bonner before his death to the effect that McDonnell and Mrs. McDonnell returned from Newaygo in one car, while Bonner returned alone in Smith's car. Bonner and the McDonnells came back together, according to the lawyer, and Smith arranged to come to Chicago later, bringing McDonnell's car and getting his own.

Chief Norton questioned McDonnell behind locked doors and refused to reveal what the druggist had told him. When the chief left the bureau after 6 o'clock McDonnell was still in Norton's office. Norton explained that McDonnell was merely being "detained."

The automobile found at Smith's cottage at Newaygo, and which bore license plates issued to McDonnell, was discovered to be a stolen car. Samuel Wagner, 7256 South Aberdeen street, said it was stolen from him on the night of July 1 after he had instructed his chauffeur to take it to a garage at 7629 South Aberdeen street.

Explanation on Car Mixup.

Attorney Bolton said the license plates were McDonnell's but that the car was furnished by Bonner for the trip to Newaygo on July 6—a trip which Bonner had said he was going to take with the intention of finding Burke, for whose arrest large rewards had been offered. Bonner was secretly working with the police to trap Burke, but whether he told the truth about seeing Burke at Smith's cottage Norton would not say yesterday.

Police officials said Mrs. McDonnell's maiden name was Golden and that she had a sister or half-sister named Mamie Liston who had married a man named Burke. But Attorney Bolton denied that either McDonnell or Mrs. McDonnell was related in any way to the fugitive killer.

COMMITTEE OF 15 FINDS INCREASE IN VICE RESORTS

Vice resorts are opening more rapidly than they are being closed, according to a report yesterday to the board of directors of the Committee of Fifteen by Charles E. Miner, general director of the organization. He declared that 105 commercial vice resorts had been closed so far in 1930.

The number of closed resorts in various neighborhoods were listed as follows: Lake View, 18; Grand boulevard, 25; Washington park, 11; Douglas park, 10; uptown, 24; lower north side, 3; Kenwood, 3; Lincoln, 2; near west side, 7; Albany Park, 1, and Oakland, 1.

"The intensified campaign against law violations is reducing profits from liquor and gambling and this increases presurre to open vice resorts," Mr. Miner said. "Another factor is that reduced income from properties under present conditions is leading operators and owners of real estate to take greater chances in order to maintain a higher rate of return."

AL CAPONE'S NEW HOME IN FLORIDA READY THIS FALL

Miami, Fla., July 15.—[Special.]—Construction work on a $375,000 residence and estate of Al Capone, to be built thirty-five miles north of Miami in Broward county, will begin immediately, according to the general contractors for the job, Vivian & Stovall of Palm Beach, and the home should be ready for occupancy by winter.

Capone's decision to abandon the Palm island estate came as a surprise to Miamians, who have watched the legal battles that the ganster chief fought to maintain his residence there, and that Capone would give up the beautiful island home to go to a more or less inland location was a still greater surprise.

Residents of Miami are regarding the efforts of the last three months, when state, city, and county attempted every means at their disposal to drive Capone from the state, as a "joke" on the state. The state spent thousands of dollars for legal and trial expenses. Now that Dade county and Miami have admittedly given up the task, Capone laughs at them and moves out of his own accord.

All of the remaining perjury charges against Capone have been dropped.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 16.—A fanatical mob of Wafdists, completely out of hand and with passions whipped to fever heat by inflammatory articles in native newspapers, swept through the streets here today, causing Europeans to flee for their lives to the shelter of the stock exchange building and other points of concentration. Before native troops and police had regained control of the situation 15 civilians and 1 policeman, all Egyptians, had been killed, and at least 60 were wounded by gunshot. About 160 others, including 50 police, were injured in other ways.

Eleven Europeans Injured.

European casualties total 11. One European girl is in a serious condition, and an Italian boy who was watching the rioting was killed by a stone thrown by some of the mob.

Today's outbreak—the worst since the "Zanghlul Pasha" riots in 1919—caught the authorities napping. The Wadf committee of nationalists, supporters of Nahas Pasha, former premier, who resigned after his failure to conclude a treaty of independence with the British government, had organized "two hours silence" in memory of those who had died as martyrs for the constitution."

Use Silence As Ruse.

Actually the silence enabled prearranged whistle calls for an organized attack on the police to be more clearly heard. A shrill whistle blast was the signal for the mob to collect as if by magic wherever the leaders wanted an attack to be made, while cartloads of stone were in readiness for the assault.

Throughout the morning the native police were kept on the run. They were not prepared and had neither steel helmets as protection against the showers of stones nor arms to defend themselves. In a few minutes the police force was entirely disorganized.

Two British police chiefs, Maj. Arthur Remanba Bey, acting commandant, and Inspector T. W. Fitzpatrick Bey, were among the first to be attacked and injured. After their wounds were dressed at a hospital they returned to direct the street fighting.

So spontaneous was the outbreak that many shopkeepers on the Sheif Pasha, which is Alexandria's Fifth avenue, hadn't time to pull down the steel shutters guarding the windows and the roadway was quickly strewn with broken glass.

Toward noon the situation was eased by arrival of 500 Egyptian soldiers from the Sidi Bishr camp, eight miles in the desert from Alexandria. Slowly the mobs were driven back into the native quarters in dense masses, maintaining a continuous shower of bottles and stones on the police as they retreated.

No British troops thus far have been called into the area. El Ferik Spinks Pasha, commanding Egyptian troops at Cairo, however, has been warned from Alexandria that further reinforcements of cavalry and infantry may be required.

TORTURE SHOE MAN BUT FAIL TO GET JEWELS

Three robbers forced their way into the apartment of William A. Decker, a shoe store owner residing at 5858 South Kedzie avenue, early this morning, and tortured Decker with pins in an effort to make him reveal the hiding place of diamonds which they believed him to own. Failing in this, the bandits tied up Decker with wire, locked in a bathroom three guests whom he was entertaining, and fled with $10 in cash and a pair of cuff links valued at $57.

"For almost an hour," Decker told the Chicago Lawn police, "they kept sticking pins in my feet and demanding that I tell them where my diamonds were hid. I told them over and over again that I didn't have any diamonds, and I guess they finally believed me because they left after twisting the wire around me and taking my $10 and the cuff links."

JARECKI REFUSES TO SPIKE CHARGE AGAINST CASE

More Witnesses Called in Maguire Hearing.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday refused to strike out charges of bad faith made against Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case by Fred V. Maguire, chairman of the board of election commissioners, in his answer to Attorney Case's petition for his ouster on allegations of malfeasasce. As the hearing on the petition was resumed, Case made his rejoinder, declaring the accusations against him to be scandalous, impertinent, and untrue.

"There are some things about which no one but your honor and I could know," Case said in referring to the charge that he is bringing the action as part of a political plot to oust Maguire and defeat Judge Jarecki at the fall election. "No other people on earth could know it except us. I know those things to be untrue. Your honor knows they are untrue. I am asking your honor to strike from the answer all statements your honor knows to be untrue."

Judge Lets Answer Stand.

Attorney Albert Fink, representing Maguire, objected, holding that the question of ulterior and improper motives had a bearing on the validity of the proceedings. He declared he was prepared to prove that the whole proceeding is a scheme of Case to further his political advancement. He said if Case were sincere, he would welcome and invite investigation. Judge Jarecki ruled that the answer should stand.

The first witness called yesterday was Arthur Burrage Farwell, for many years president of the Chicago Law and Order league and the Hyde Park Protective association. He testified to vote frauds and election violations in the first ward in elections since 1926. He said Maguire had continued to appoint election officials who had countenanced and participated in irregularities after receiving reports from the associations.

Other witnesses were election officials, who were called by Case to support his charges that Maguire had allowed persons with police records to serve as clerks and judges. Joseph Vidi, 24 years old, 711 South Paulina street, who was an election judge in the seventh precinct of the 25th ward in the April primary, testified that he served seven months in the bridewell in 1925 for larceny.

Indicted for Robbery.

John O'Connell, 2332 Ogden avenue, another election judge, said he was indicted for robbery, but was found not guilty. He said he had been arrested several times on suspicion, but had been released on each occasion. Mike Fusco, 1333 Elburn avenue, an election judge in the second precinct of the 20th ward, said he had been arrested several times and dismissed.

E. C. Arthur of the Eureka hotel testified that he had witnessed irregularities in the first ward at the April primary and previous elections. His complaints against officials and against stuffed poll lists were disregarded by Maguire, he said.

FRIENDS TELL OF McCORMICK CAMPAIGN GIFTS

Witness Chides Nye Senate Committee.

Hanna and Mrs. McCormick. The chairman made no response.

W. R. James, president of the west park board, was excused after he had testified that he did not manage the McCormick campaign in Cook county, but merely was in charge of the Monroe street headquarters, and that he volunteered his services out of friendship and without consulting Gov. Emmerson or any one else.

Query Surprises Secretary.

James D. Snyder, Mrs. McCormick's political secretary, told of his handling downstate county situations and of the distribution of the "budget" funds among them. He was surprised when Chairman Nye asked him if shortly before the primary he did not change eight $1,000 bills at a Springfield bank. Mr. Snyder said he was not in Springfield at that time and had not been in the bank mentioned in ten years. James W. Rodgers, Mrs. McCormick's financial secretary, said his duties consisted of keeping books and making out checks.

Mrs. Frederick A. Brown, treasurer of the Illinois Republican Women's Clubs, to which Chairman Nye on Monday referred as Mrs. McCormick's "own" organization, said it took no part at all in the senatorial primary.

The officers of the Illinois Young People's Republican clubs, started as an aftermath of the Emmerson state campaign of 1928, were called. They were Lester H. Weinrott, chairman; Charles H. Davis, vice chairman, and C. J. Avildsen, treasurer. The Voters' Progress club witness was Lucius Wilson, chairman. C. D. Anderson and Mrs. Mabel Rush told of the activities of the McCormick Railway Men's and Women's league, a part of the candidate's own working forces.

Paschen Is Questioned.

Mrs. Anna Fleming Curtis, president of the Century of Progress Women's Political club, of which Mrs. McCormick testified she had never heard, said that it is not connected in any way with any political organization. Its activities apparently are confined to the Forty-ninth ward, and Building Commissioner Paschen, committeeman for that ward, was asked about Mrs. Curtis and her organization. He said he know only that she had an organization in the ward.

Paschen and a defeated candidate for the county committee in the Forty-first ward, John J. Dedic, were asked about the expenses of their own campaigns. Each said he had spent about $2,500.

RECEIVERSHIPS TO CAUSE DELAY IN CAR MERGER

Ordinance to Be Placed Before Council Today.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Fifteen days after the voters approved the transportation franchise on referendum, the aldermen are to be asked today to proclaim that there will be a delay in the consolidation of the surface and elevated lines. This declaration is contained in the preamble of the ordinance granting authority to the companies to spend $12,000,000 on extensions and improvements before consolidation and to deduct the amount spent from the $65,000,000 to be expended in the three years after the merger. The ordinance comes before the council today.

It is asserted in the ordinance that the Chicago railways, the Chicago City railway and the Calumet and South Chicago railway are in the hands of receivers, and then the sentence continues, "and there will ensue some delay in effecting a reorganization of the said companies and the transfer of the said properties to the grantee. . ."

Calls Receivership Vital.

The receiverships and the predicted delay are thus hooked together. When the Chicago City railway and the Calumet and South Chicago railway companies were placed in the hands of receivers on July 7, President Busby gave out a statement saying: "This receivership is practically necessary to effective and expeditious reorganization of the existing traction properties and their transfer to the Chicago Local Transportation company, the grantee. . ."

In the franchise, approved in the referendum of July 1, the new company is required to obtain the existing lines before accepting the grant; and the new company is given 120 days in which to accept, or such longer period as the city council may allow. One alderman, who has seen the new ordinance, interpreted it to mean that the city council shall go on record now as saying that there will be a delay after the 120 days.

Insist on Delay.

It is reported that the companies' lawyers insisted upon this proclamation of delay, and that Walter L. Fisher and Allan T. Gilbert accepted the phraseology as attorneys for the local transportation committee. This committee was to have met last Monday to pass upon the ordinance authorizing $12,000,000 of improvements, but the meeting was called off.

Now it is to be presented at a meeting at 11 o'clock this morning and it is planned to present it to the council at 2 o'clock.

From New York last night came a telegram saying that the board of transportation has consented that its chief engineer, Robert Ridgway, should be the chief consulting engineer on Chicago subway construction.

WOMAN ACCUSES ALD. KAINDL OF AIDING IN PLOT

Ald. Edward J. Kaindl [34th] was named yesterday as having conspired with Peter Lavelle, a precinct worker, to have the latter's wife, Mrs. Stella Lavelle, 1351 North Washtenaw avenue, committed to an insane asylum. This testimony was given in Superior Judge Sabath's court, where Mrs. Lavelle made a plea for temporary alimony. She sued her husband, a superintendent for the sanitary district, for separate maintenance.

According to Mrs. Lavelle's attorneys, Barratt O'Hara and Ronald C. Oldham, the insanity proceedings were begun by Lavelle on Kaindl's advice because Mrs. Lavelle refused to solicit votes for certain candidates in the April primary. She was held at a psychopathic hospital for three days before her release was ordered by County Judge Jarecki.

Ald. Kaindl last night denied he was a party in the alleged plot.

NEW 'NOISELESS' STREET CAR CUTS OUT HALF OF ROAR

Tests made yesterday of a new street car designed to reduce noise showed that it makes just half as much roar as the Chicago cars now in use.

Prof. J. K. Tuthill of the University of Illinois, who is employed by the Chicago Surface lines to make a study of street car noises, described the new car last night, together with other progress in the problem of lessening the noise of Chicago traffic.

The new car, which is being operated on Clark street, is equipped with a worm drive and the motors are connected with the drive by universal joints. The motors are mounted on the truck frame and do not rest on the car axle.

Prof. Tuthill has three theories for reducing street car noise, and the newly designed car takes care of one of them. The other two are lower speeds and smoother tracks.

"We can't reduce speed, of course," he said. "Chicagoans must have speed. And it is technically possible to have a smooth track, but rails will get rough with use. The companies now have new rail grinding machines which are helping to solve this phase of the problem."

ILLINOIS SCHOOL FUND TO HELP PAY TEACHERS

Board to Get $2,567,715 for Salaries Today.

The city teachers' salary problem was apparently solved yesterday by almost 50 per cent with the announcement by the county treasurer's offices that $2,567,715, the school board's share of the state school fund, would be turned over to the city treasurer today.

In addition the schools have $100,000 due them in tuition from the nonhigh school districts just outside the city, making a total of $2,667,715 available.

Chicago's 13,000 school teachers, who have been on their vacations of three weeks and are still awaiting their June salaries, have $6,100,000 due them. City and school officials have yet to raise $3,432,285 toward the salaries.

No Market for Warrants.

Officials have been holding conferences for three weeks in an attempt to raise the money. One reason given for their failure is that the school board has $13,000,000 in 1930 tax anticipation warrants for which a market cannot be found.

City Controller George K. Schmidt, interviewed concerning a resolution passed by the board of education calling upon him to take steps towards selling tax warrants so that the school teachers might be paid, said:

"The board of education has the sole responsibility for incurring expenses and the controller is only its agent. We cannot act without an official order from the school board.

Other Employes Not Paid.

"It may be mentioned, however, that the firemen and police also have not been paid for some weeks. Most of the policemen and firemen are heads of families who are concerned more with the payment for groceries than the purchase of gasoline for their automobiles."

The controller's comment was believed to refer to the remark of a school teacher, now teaching in summer school, who said she was unable to reach her classes because she had not enough money to buy gasoline for her automobile.

Taxpayers, by their failure to pay what they owe in taxes to the county, are in part responsible for the present situation, according to Hayden N. Bell, county attorney, and Louis E. Meyers, member of the school board.

"If a major part of the 1928 taxes were paid, we could sell our tax warrants in twenty-four hours," said Mr. Myers.

Attorney Bell said that many property owners had been canvassed by lawyers and induced to refuse to pay taxes and to file suit in the County court at the September term.

Harry Sinclair Goes East After Conference in City

Council Passes $3,700,000 'Baby' Budget; Orders Bonds

The council finance committee shortly after midnight this morning adopted the supplementary appropriations, known as the "baby" budget, totaling approximately $7,300,000. The funds for the additional appropriations to the various city departments, that had been forced to retrench by the budget passed in January, are a part of the relief given to the city by the recent special session of the legislature.

The committee also recommended a number of ordinances authorizing the issuance of bonds without a referendum as provided in the legislative bills. Among these ordinances were those authorizing the issuance of $7,000,000 in bonds to take up the deficit of 1928; $12,000,000 in bonds to set up the city's working cash fund; $12,500,000 to set up a working cash fund for the schools, and an ordinance authorizing the sale of 1929 and 1930 tax warrants now held in special funds of the city.

City Officials Eager Watchers.

The aldermen began their discussions at 2 p. m. Department heads and other city employes occupied the side lines, waiting for an opportunity to present their financial requests to the committee.

The major appropriations, which were adopted practically in the amounts set up by the committee's financial staff, are as follows:

Police	$1,444,145
Interest on tax warrants	2,877,800
Fire	626,000
Gas	566,400
Street cleaning	500,000
Public works	239,899
Health	161,400
Election commissioners [transit referendum]	103,530
Sanitary district light bill	194,876
Water fund claims	191,000
House of Correction	139,300
Local improvements	212,753
Corporation counsel	29,200
Controller	18,550

As the committee neared the end of its session Harris Keeler of the Chicago bureau of public efficiency informed the aldermen that they were overappropriated by approximately $113,500. Under the new legislation the aldermen would be forced to take up this deficit in the 1931 budget. The aldermen retrenched slightly and announced that revenues expected from restaurants and gasoline filling stations, which were not collected before, would make up the difference.

Plan Full Water Meterization.

Before taking up the budget items the committee recommended a series of amendments to the meter ordinance which call for meters in every Chicago building, including the two flats and single residences to which Mayor Thompson had pledged exemption in his platform for election in 1927.

The amendments, if passed by the council today, also will authorize Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe to ask within thirty days for bids for the lump purchase of 400,000 water meters and their installation. The estimate for this job, which will cover a five year period, is $16,000,000, which the aldermen plan to finance out of the sale of water revenue certificates.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman of the local transportation committee, was authorized to expend an appropriation of $500,000 from the transit fund for subway plans as needed.

During the afternoon session the aldermen voted to allow Corporation Counsel Ettelson $25,000 with which to start condemnation proceedings on property needed in constructing a subway to be built by the south park board under the Illinois Central tracks at 47th street, which will be the south entrance to the World's Fair grounds. After Keeler's statement on the overappropriation the committee reduced the amount to $5,000.

LONDON NEWSIE AND RICH BRIDE IN INDIANA TOWN

Logansport, Ind., July 15.—[Special.]—Alfred Cecil Durban of London and his bride of four months have arrived in Logansport and have taken up residence in a modest two room apartment.

Mr. Durban is seeking a job as an apprentice electrician and Mrs. Durban seeks to renew old acquaintances. And both came here to avoid publicity and public discussion of their romance. But tonight it seems as if those discussing their affairs are limited only to the number counted in Logansport by Uncle Sam's census enumerators.

For Mrs. Durban is a home town girl who has been away for a long time, a resident in foreign lands. She was the great-granddaughter of Daniel D. Pratt, pioneer Logansport resident and United States senator from Indiana. She was born here as Vivienne Huntington, daughter of Charles Pratt Huntington, millionaire. Most of her life has been spent in London, but seven years ago the girl, then 21, came back to claim her inheritance of the large Huntington fortune.

The next excitement in Logansport was four months ago when cables carried the news that the heiress was married to Durban, 23 year old Londoner. Their romance began when the Huntington mansion in London was included in the route on which Durban carried his daily newspapers.

The couple came here from Canada, where the young husband entered upon his apprenticeship as an electrician.

"Throughout the months we resided in Toronto," they said, "we were subjected to continuous publicity that became a bore to us."

ALDERMEN O. K. LEASE OF SCHOOL LAND FOR AIRPORT

The two year argument between the city and the school board over the terms of a lease of 585 acres of school land at 63d street and Cicero avenue to be used in developing the municipal airport apparently was settled yesterday. A recommendation that the council approve a proposed lease, which already has been accepted by the school board, was passed yesterday by the council finance committee.

The lease is for a period of 50 years with a provision that it can be cancelled by either party at the end of the first 20 years. The rental will be $25 an acre for the first ten years, $27.50 for the following five years and $30 an acre for the last five years of the 20 year period. For the remaining 30 years of the lease, if it continues to operate, the rental will be 6 per cent of the valuation of the property.

NEW YORK STATE HAS 12,609,555 IN 1930 CENSUS

More than Half Reside in Metropolis.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 15.—(AP)—Philadelphia's 1930 population is 1,961,458, an increase of 137,679, or 7.54 per cent.

Albany, N. Y., July 15.—(AP)—New York state maintains its position as numerically the largest of the states in the United States, with a population of 12,609,555 according to a compilation by the Associated Press of the county totals announced by the various district supervisors of the 1930 federal census. This is an increase of 2,224,328 or 21.4 per cent over the total of 10,385,227.

New York City, with a population of 6,968,792, contains more than half the inhabitants of the state. The population of the state, outside New York City, according to the 1930 compilations, is 5,650,763, an increase of 835,584 over the 1920 total of 4,765,179, or a gain of 18.6 per cent.

Upstate Counties Gain.

All but eleven of the 57 up-state counties recorded increases in population in the last decade.

With one exception the counties showing decreases are devoted largely to agriculture, indicating a drift in population from the rural districts to the larger cities and towns.

The greatest increase was shown generally in the counties adjoining New York City where great blocks of apartment houses have provided living quarters for thousands of former residents of the greater city.

There was no change in the relative positions of the four largest cities, New York, Buffalo, Rochester, and Syracuse, but Yonkers moved into fifth position, formerly held by Albany, while the capital city dropped to sixth place.

Missouri's Total 3,619,176.

St. Louis, Mo., July 15.—(AP)—The 1930 population of Missouri is 3,619,176, an increase of 215,121, or 6.3 per cent, since 1920, tabulation by the Associated Press showed today. This was the largest gain in three decades.

Eighty-three counties lost in population while 31 gained.

For the first time in the state's history, more than half of the population is urban rather than rural, with 1,849,168, or 51.1 per cent, in 71 cities and towns of more than 2,500.

Revised figures give St. Louis a population of 822,932, an increase of 49,135 or 6.36 per cent.

Florida Gains Half Million.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—Florida's population is 1,468,635, an increase of 500,165 during the last decade, or 51.6 per cent, according to an unofficial 1930 tabulation completed today.

Arkansas Has 1,853,981.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—Arkansas' 1930 population is 1,853,981, an increase of 101,777, or 5.8 per cent.

'Baron Howard of Penrith' Esme Howard's New Title

But you're feminine to your finger tips, just the same.

Your home, your dress, your whole environment, unmistakably suggest how much you care about appearances—and the value that you place upon impressions.

Yet, while most of your possessions eloquently complement your personality, it has been different with your motor car—until now.

THIS brings you news of a strikingly new and different type of automobile—the most unfettered, yet most obedient motor car in all the world.

It tells you of the first car ever made which a woman can drive all day, yet leave serene and fresh as when she entered it.

If you do any driving of your own at all, this achievement alone will impress you as remarkable.

For you've learned that keeping your car well-groomed will not keep you well-groomed. You've learned that pedal pushing is a trial to fragile shoes—and that the nervous strain and physical strain of constant gear-shifting combine to wilt the freshness of your own appearance and the things you wear.

But here is a car that literally floats along—in gear and fully controlled—yet free and silent as though there were no gears.

A car in which you shift with silence, safety and precision from high to second, back and forth, at forty . . . fifty miles an hour—and never touch the clutch!

A CAR in which you never dread to lift your foot from the throttle when traveling at speed—so completely does it eliminate forcing of the engine by car momentum and the resulting sensation of "piling up."

A car that takes half the fatiguing footwork out of driving—that is incredibly easy to stop—that steers quite as easily because it automatically rights itself and swings to "straight ahead" the instant you round a turn.

It's a car with the good manners of your home at its best. Every moment of motion is cushioned and hushed.

A new engineering development—free wheeling—one of the greatest forward steps in automotive history, makes possible the delights this new car will give you.

It makes your driving a surer, simpler, safer experience than it has ever been before.

SO we urge and invite you to see the car—to revel in the bewildering new beauty of its contours and appointments—its longer wheelbase—longer hood—wider doors—wider seats—wider windows—its slim, silvery radiator with Ovaloid headlamps, and with tiny parking lamps glimmering on its broad, sweeping fenders.

We know you'll like this different car. We rather feel you'll strive to be the first one in your circle to own it, once you've known the thrill of gliding 'round the boulevards on a trial drive.

But the interest is keen. And so we strongly advise that you telephone the Studebaker salesroom most convenient to your residence and make a definite driving appointment. Simply say you wish a demonstration of a New Series Studebaker President or Commander Eight.

McKellar Uses Japanese Demand for Precedent.

Johnson continued, "whether the Japanese in their response said they understood the plan under review was intended to take care of the situation up till 1936, and as to the naval strength of the powers thereafter that would be discussed and decided anew by the conference of 1935?"

"That is what the treaty provides," said Mr. Reed.

Reed Admits Japanese Demands.

"Does the senator recall that is what the Japanese insisted upon?"

"Why, of course," Senator Reed impatiently replied. "The Japanese insisted on a lot of things. There was a continuous process of horse trading for nearly four months. The Japanese said they were not going to be bound beyond the period of the treaty and we replied that was exactly our position. If the Japanese at the next conference have the right to claim a 10-7 or a 10-20 ratio we can claim 10-1. Why make a mystery of that?"

"There is no mystery," Mr. Johnson retorted. "The treaty says it and the treaty says we are to build only 15 of our 18 big cruisers during the life of the treaty."

The Californian flung more questions at Mr. Reed who finally blurted out:

"I am delighted to answer any proper questions but I decline to be cross-examined here. I am sure the senator does not want to make this look like a police court grilling."

"I am sure I have no such intention," Mr. Johnson retorted. "If the senator declines that is the end of it."

Produce Copy of Proposals.

Previously Senator Johnson asked the Pennsylvania senator if he had a copy of the American proposals of Feb. 5, adding that he would like to insert it in the Congressional Record. Mr. Reed, saying he would save the Californian that trouble, produced the document.

"I thank the senator very much," said Senator Johnson. "That is the first time that has been done and that paper is one of those under embargo from the secretary of state, which he says is confidential, and we cannot even communicate with one another about it."

The document is a tabular statement of the tonnages proposed by the American delegation for each class of ships in the British American, and Japanese navies. A summary of these proposals was made public by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson on Feb. 6. He suppressed, however, two paragraphs, one of which proposed that the United States be allowed to build one superdreadnought in order to establish Anglo-American battleship parity and the other of which provided that the United States should modernize its existing capital ships. These paragraphs Mr. Stimson read to the foreign relations committee when he returned home. There is, therefore, nothing not hitherto known in the document Mr. Reed submitted at the request of Mr. Johnson.

Senator Johnson then asked if Mr. Reed had a copy of the Japanese response of April 3, also among the suppressed documents. Mr. Reed said he was not sure, but will report tomorrow whether he has it.

The Old Arm Chair Is Vacant Now

"Where's that big fat man who was always sitting around in that old arm chair?", asked the gas meter man, "is he dead?"

"You'd be surprised", answered the ice man, "but he's down in the baseball lot playing shortstop for the Eternal Swatters—and he's a whiz—they tell me".

"Don't try to kid me", yelped the gas meter man, "the last guy that tried that is still in the hospital".

"You asked me didn't you," shot back the ice man, "he got hold of some kind of new salts down at the corner drug store—Kruschen Salts they call them. Put so much pep and get up and go into him that he just couldn't sit and when he got to galivantin' around, the fat just rolled off him—pounds and pounds of it. Go down and see him run the bases—ask for arm-chair Pete—you won't know him unless someone gives you the low down."

"Well, I'll be gosh hanged," meditated the gas meter man—"Kruschen Salts—Kruschen Salts I'll remember that name—the wife could lose 50 pounds and still be no flapper."

Germany for 'U. S. of Europe'; Urges Revision of Treaties

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 15.—The German reply to Foreign Minister Briand's memorandum proposing a European federation, which has caused more speculation than the reply of any other power, was handed to the French foreign office today.

Although containing almost as many reservations as the Italian reply, the note clearly indicates general acceptance, and even expresses eagerness to take part in a discussion of the proposed federation not later than September. This is a startling vindication of M. Briand's conciliatory policies, which have been under fire by the French nationalists during the last few months owing to their alleged lack of firmness with the Germans and Italians.

A Double Victory for Briand.

Coming on the heels of the naval holiday agreement with Italy, this constitutes a double triumph for the aged foreign minister.

While the German reply is favorable to the formation of a European federation, the note shows clearly that such a federation must be different from M. Briand's original conception. At the outset, the German government states politely but clearly that a revision of the present treaties is a necessary condition to a European union.

"The German government believes that the ultimate goal of the union ought to envisage, in the spirit of conciliation, a bold reform of certain conditions which are recognized as intolerable, and thus bring about a real pacification of Europe which can be based on other principles than justice and equality," the note reads.

Insist Russia Be Admitted.

Like the Italians and several other powers, the Germans insist on the admission of Russia and Turkey, saying that their exclusion would be contrary to international policies which have hitherto prevailed. It is also made clear that the proposed union should in no way be directed against America or any other country.

"European nations not members of the league of nations, as well as non-European states, should be invited to a general meeting at Geneva in September," says the note.

This last phrase raises the question here whether the Germans are flirting with America, hinting in a veiled way for her participation.

On one point the Germans are wholeheartedly in agreement with M. Briand—the necessity of subordinating economic to political aspects. This is because the question of territorial changes necessarily demands political intervention.

Unlike the Italians, the Germans do not place chief importance on disarmament, simply declaring that the organization of a union involves discussions of "the security of disarmament and the question of minorities." This is strong support of the French thesis, although the mention of minorities subtly injects the question of a revision of the war treaties again. A revision of the treaties, in fact, is a recurrent theme cropping up in different language in several places in the German note.

In taking up the economic aspect, the note stresses the seriousness of the industrial and agricultural crisis.

Must Develop New Markets.

"We must seek ways and means of developing new and larger markets in order to facilitate the exchange of products between agricultural and industrial regions in Europe," it declares.

Speaking in behalf of the nation which, next to England, is the most highly industrialized in Europe, the German note emphasizes that mere governmental action is not sufficient to solve economic crises and suggests limiting disastrous international trade rivalries by the formation of huge trusts under the direction of the federation.

"Direct accord between certain branches of private industry remains a field for which an important place must be reserved," the note declares.

The Germans do not go as far as Italy, but insist that the proposed union should not duplicate the work of the league of nations nor form a strictly European clique within the league, thus weakening its world prestige.

In closing, the note contains a frank warning to France that the federation must not be used as an instrument for strengthening the French hegemony.

"In treating economic questions, military considerations should not be put forward," the note says.

PREDICTS DAY WHEN COAL WILL BE MADE OF AIR

Scientist Sees Synthetic Fuel-Power Age.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BIRMINGHAM, England, July 15.—A future world in which the life forces of fuel and power will be drawn synthetically from the sun, air, soil, and sea, and where ailments will be cured through the knowledge of subtle chemistry of the living cell, was painted graphically before the Society of Chemical Engineers today by Dr. Herbert Levinstein, internationally known scientist.

He predicted the end of the coal age and then drew a picture of the manufacture of fuel from thin air. He anticipated the world's greatest scientific achievement in the discovery of a method of extracting nitrogen for soil fertilization from the atmosphere and announced that the time is coming when factories will perform in an instant the work of providing necessities for which nature has sometimes required ages.

Raw Material and Power.

Pointing to the geological age in which buried timber became coal, Dr. Levinstein asked:

"If time is money, what is money value to this reaction in terms of time?"

"Wind, rain and soil and Aristotle's elements of the earth, air, fire and water, are raw materials of our organic chemical industries," he continued. "These have been derived from growing plants or from animals living on plants. Except for mining metallurgy and the various applications of metals and a few rocks and minerals, this is true of all our main industries. Above all, it is true of our very important raw material and power."

"It is becoming a matter no longer of choice but of necessity for the human race to learn to use the air, soil and sun to the best advantage, to make the earth more productive of food and raw material. This is one great task of science.

Living Cell and Disease.

"The other is how to decrease human suffering by the conquest of disease, which would follow slowly upon the increased knowledge of the living cell, of which so little is known.

"The discovery of how to use nitrogen of the air to increase the productivity of the soil will remain one of the greatest landmarks in human achievement. Having tapped the inexhaustible supplies of atmospheric nitrogen, the next step is to transform another new constituent of air, carbonic acid, without the intervention of plant life, and thus get, without an interval of a geological age, the raw materials now obtained from coal.

"The complete reduction of carbonic acid to a constituent of coal has, in fact, been accomplished. It will certainly not be long before the constituent of coal gas becomes the valuable raw material of the chemical industry.

Measure Wealth by Coal.

"National wealth is reckoned in terms of coal or oil energy stored up in geological ages long ago. Power is being used in increasing amounts in all industrial countries much more so than here. It is essential that Great Britain obtain the raw material of power more cheaply than other nations.

"The world cannot spare enough acres of actual or possible forest land for acres of a fixed quantity, whereas the population of the world will be doubled in 70 years at the present rate. The chief competitors for the world's acres for production are food and timber. Long before there is an actual world shortage, acute problems of great difficulty will arise between nations having enough food and timber and those who have not."

Concluding an inquest yesterday in the case of 2 year old Wayne Anderson of Des Plaines, who died after swallowing a piece of fireworks on July 4, a coroner's jury recommended that fireworks manufacturers be compelled to label their products as poisonous.

COUNCIL GROUP APPROVES PHONE FRANCHISE, 10-6

Public Hearing Will Be Held on Monday.

A new franchise giving the Illinois Bell Telephone company permission to use city streets and alleys for its lines for the next 23 years was approved yesterday by the council gas, oil and electric light committee. The vote was 10 to 6. The dissenting aldermen protested against the haste of the committee in approving recent changes in the ordinance draft without further study.

Yielding to the objections Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], the committee chairman, announced that the franchise will be ordered deferred and published at today's council meeting and will not come up for passage until the following session. A public hearing on the franchise will be held on Monday morning to allow aldermen and others to lay their objections before the committee.

The principal objections to the ordinance hinge on the absence of any definite provision obligating the company to pay the cost of relocating its equipment in the event of subway construction. The only mention in the franchise is that the company agrees to be bound by an ordinance to be passed by the council in the future governing the relocation costs.

This future ordinance, according to the aldermen, would be based on subway legislation passed in 1929 by the state legislature.

Aldermen have asserted that the city makes a gift to the company of any reserve it put aside for these costs during the 20 year period of the old ordinance, in which the company was specifically obligated to pay the costs. Attorney W. D. Bangs denied in a committee hearing that the company had accumulated a fund for relocation costs.

For Indefinite Term.

While the franchise provides specifically that it shall run for the period of 23 years, it will not terminate then, but will continue to be in force until either the company or the city terminates it by a six months' written notice. The company will pay 3 per cent on its gross revenue to the city as compensation and guarantees a minimum payment of $2,000,000 a year. Free telephone service in the city hall is discontinued.

LEGGE ANSWERS KANSAS CRITICS OF WHEAT POLICY

Tells Governor Acreage Must Be Cut.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, yesterday made public his correspondence with Gov. Clyde H. Reed of Kansas, who has taken issue with the federal administration's policy regarding wheat acreage reduction. The chairman makes it plain that the grain stabilization activities of the board have undergone no appreciable change in policy in spite of the governor's charges of its having broken the market and caused a record breaking slump in wheat. Mr. Legge says further that secretary Hyde of the department of agriculture and he have not asked Kansas to abandon growing wheat—only to effect some reduction in acreage.

"Some of the newspapers seem to have the impression that you and I got hot about something," says Mr. governor. "The only heat I noticed on the trip was furnished by the weather man, and he furnished plenty.

Wires "Stable Policy" Pledge.

Answering charges by the governor and other Kansas leaders who took offense at remarks made by Legge about the state and its farming, on his recent speaking tour there, the farm board official declared today they had been only in jest. He wired to Gov. Reed yesterday that the "stabilization corporation market position" was "practically unchanged and will be maintained at June 16 level through the present crop moving period unless price advances to or above original cost of wheat," the farm board's agency now holds.

Legge had been accused by Reed of having no stable policy, so that whenever wheat was sold by the corporation it broke the domestic market and even caused foreign queries of apprehension.

In his letter sent last night to the Kansas governor Legge emphasized the "important problem" facing the board of "keeping the market channels open." He described in detail the steps being taken by the board's corporation to make this possible, and declared all forecasted congestion at terminal markets and in storage facilities had thus far been avoided.

Reports Inquiry for Grain.

"Today," he said, "the corporation has inquiry for some wheat in the northwest on which the miller does not have an option, and wheat is apparently not available from other sources. They [officers of the stabilization corporation] are filling this order and immediately buying an equal amount. Incidentally, the buying is being done in the southwest, where the new crop is now moving."

The position of the stabilization corporation, he pointed out, was within one per cent yesterday of what it was on June 16, when it stopped selling, "and we can assure you most positively that this position will be maintained during this crop moving period, unless in the meantime the market reacts to the level at which this wheat was purchased, which, I am sure, will be accepted as a satisfactory basis at which the southwestern growers are willing to sell."

"Stand Firm on Average Cut."

Legge stated, in releasing the correspondence, that he wished it understood the farm board was firm in its policies, that it was attempting to secure an adjustment of wheat production which would "give the consumer a chance to catch up with the producer," and that it was a position he invited Reed to take with him in requesting reductions of western farmers. Legge had conferred with George M. Milnor, president of the stabilization corporation, before announcing this.

Earlier in the day Legge met with representatives of the reorganized $1,000,000 National Live Stock Marketing association, which elected Charles A. Ewing, Decatur, Ill., farmer and banker, as its new president. Directors of the organization, which is expected to handle over half the entire amount of live stock marketed cooperatively, were considering the hiring of P. O. Wilson, Cincinnati, O., as secretary-manager last night. Two large coöperative groups from the northwest again declined to join the farm board's approved agency yesterday.

CAPPER VAINLY ASKS HOOVER TO APPROVE BUYING MORE WHEAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—Senator Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.] placed his proposal for the purchase of 100 million bushels of wheat through governmental loans today before President Hoover but failed to obtain his approval. Earlier in the day Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, who has just returned from his western tour with Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board, discussed the wheat situation with the President and is understood to have opposed the use of further funds of the board in an extensive wheat stabilization program at this time.

Senator Capper said that he found the President sympathetic to the plight of agriculture and anxious to do anything desirable to aid the wheat situation. The Kansas senator admitted, however, that he obtained no promise that the President would direct the farm board to make loans to the grain stabilization corporation with a view to the purchase of 100 million bushels of the new wheat crop.

Senator Capper insisted after his interview with the President that the purchase of this wheat would be helpful.

GIRL, 13, KEEPS FATHER'S SUICIDE PLANS A SECRET

Centerville, Ia., July 15.— (AP) — Faithful to her promise to keep secret his plans for suicide, the 13 year old daughter of John Miller, 63, a farmer, today made plans to bury her father, dead of self administered poison. He wanted a simple funeral, he told the girl Sunday, after explaining that he intended to take his life. He warned her to go to a neighbor's home and spent the night and to return Monday, bringing some one with her. He cautioned her to keep his plans secret.

The girl return Monday as directed and found her father dead. Financial and marital troubles were blamed for his act.

TRAILS TAINT OF COMMUNISM IN GOTHAM SCHOOLS

Congressmen Hear Few Tales of Playing Hooky.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—A congressional committee, formed avowedly to give the people of the United States "a composite picture of communist activities in this country as directed from Moscow," listened solemnly today to tales of children playing hookey from the public schools.

The committee, headed by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., began its inquiry at the local office of the department of justice, and the outstanding fact it elicited was that of the 700 schools in New York City only "three or four" have felt a trace of communism.

In those, some children—not more than 10 per cent above the normal batch of absences—have stayed away from classes on soviet festivals. Some literature has been circulated. There were two specific instances, the committee learned, in which young radicals had refused to salute the flag, and one of them changed her mind after an interview with the district supeintendent.

The testimony came from three officers of the department of education—Dr. William J. O'Shea, superintendent of schools; Haven Chatfield, superintendent of the 23d and 24th districts in the Bronx, and George H. Chatfield, director of attendance.

Dr. O'Shea told the committee there was nothing to fear from communism in the schools and that it is on the decrease, such as it is. "Such a teacher would be suspended in twenty minutes," he assured Mr. Fish, who asked if doctrines inspired from Moscow were taught here.

TWIN TENS PACK!

THE crowd was just drifting into the beautiful Petrushka Club out at cool Sky Harbor last night when we asked them to tell us which they liked best, the slim folding Wallet pack or the handy Twin Tens pack of WINGS.

It looked at first as if the Wallet pack had a sure victory. Then the charming ladies of the ensemble had their say—and the smart, easy-to-split Twin Tens pack came into its own. Final count: Twin Tens—75 to 49.

As one of the gay-costumed waiters put it, "The Wallet pack it is ver' pop'lar here, of course. But the ladies have the say on parties here. They tell their escorts to buy Wings in the Twin Tens pack. And so they do! Da, the Twin Tens pack is mos' favored."

Some like one pack—some another. But they ALL like an air-cooled smoke—pack them how we will.

AIR-COOLED Smokes Cleaner . . . smoother . . . cooler. By an utterly new and exclusive process, all the fine Turkish, Virginia and Burley tobacco that goes into WINGS is air-washed. All burn, sting and bite—all irritating impurities are air-washed out. Nothing remains but the smoothest, tastiest, coolest tobacco!

71ST CONGRESS' APPROPRIATIONS NEAR 5 BILLIONS

Exceed Previous Mark by 200 Million.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.] — An upward trend of governmental costs is shown in statements issued today on the appropriations of the recent session of congress.

Representative Will R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], chairman of the house appropriations committee, and Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash], chairman of the senate appropriations committee, in separate tabulations agree that the appropriations of the second session of the 71st congress were $208,692,465 greater than those of the second session of the 70th congress.

Representative J. W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn], ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee, computes the increase at $259,692,465 by adding $51,000,000 under indefinite appropriations for the settlement of war claims. Mr. Byrns says if the appropriations of last year's special session are added, as he thinks they should be, total appropriations of the present congress exceed by $459,003,062, those of the last session of the 70th congress.

Grand Total Nearly 5 Billions.

The grand total of appropriations for the recent regular session, including those known as permanent and indefinite, is given by Representative Wood and Senator Jones as $4,873,929,233, compared with $4,665,236,768 in the second session of the 70th congress.

Representative Wood and Senator Jones explain the increase as being due chiefly to the farm relief act and the expansion of the public works program to relieve the unemployment situation. Representative Byrns charges that the mounting costs are due to Republican extravagance.

Representatives Wood and Byrns seize the opportunity to make campaign documents out of their appropriations summaries. Representative Wood happens to be chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, while Representative Byrns is chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

Wood Points with Pride.

"This record," says Representative Wood after reviewing in elaborate detail Republican achievements under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, "and the traditional capacity of the Republican party to provide efficient and sane management of the affairs of the government, should commend themselves to every thoughtful citizen."

"The history of the last few years and the present condition of unemployment and unrest throughout the United States has demonstrated that relief cannot be hoped for under Republican rule," says Mr. Byrns. "There must be a return to Democratic policies and Democratic simplicity."

Wood Explains Increases.

To explain increased appropriations Representative Wood refers to $101,900,000 granted to the farm board in the regular session and increases included in appropriations for public works aggregating upward of 400 million dollars. Among the items are $129,371,000 for federal aid roads, forest roads, national park roads and special road construction, $60,885,000 for sites and construction of public buildings, $103,400,000 for rivers and harbors and flood control works and $10,660,000 for the commencement of construction on Boulder dam.

Representative Wood says that 70 per cent of total governmental costs, exclusive of the postal service, are for national defense purposes and in meeting the obligations coming from past wars. Included in this calculation are $1,250,000,000 for interest and public debt retirements, 800 million dollars for veterans of all wars and 720 million dollars for the operation of the army and navy.

Hoover Called Extravagant.

Representative Byrns says "that even the myth of Coolidge economy disappeared with his régime."

"Since Mr. Hoover entered upon the presidency there has been a complete reversal in the attitude of the Republican administration and congress toward the expenditure of public money," said Mr. Byrns. "From a semblance of economy under Mr. Coolidge, which was considered by many at that time a mere gesture, the government has indulged in what may well be termed a riot of extravagance."

SLUG MAN, LOOT OFFICE.

Two armed robbers sauntered into the real estate and insurance office of John Lussem, 1076 West Harrison street, slugged Lussem with a pistol butt, and fled with $90. Des Plaines street police were notified.

START ON REFUELING NONSTOP FLIGHT TO ARGENTINE CAPITAL

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Randy Enslow, Garland Peed and Jimmy Arrigan took off at 4:24 p. m. today in their Stinson cabin monoplane "K" on a non-stop flight to Buenos Aires, an adventure for which they had been preparing for months. It is one of the longest non-stop flights ever attempted, the distance from New York to Buenos Aires being 8,400 miles.

They made a rather tricky getaway in that they ran no risk of an accident because of an overloaded plane. They started the flight with a small quantity of gas, but their tanks were filled in the air over Valley Stream, three contacts being made.

The next fueling point will be over Havana. Subsequent refueling points will be over Panama, Lima and Mendoza. The three flyers expected to reach Havana within twenty hours.

NIGHT IN WOODS ADDS DANGER TO FLYER'S INJURIES

Found Almost 24 Hours After Crash.

Bennington, Vt., July 15.—(AP)—The evil fortune which swept his flyer father to death in the barren wastes of the North Atlantic hovered tonight over the unconscious form of Frank Goldsborough, 19 year old aviator, whose plane crashed into the wild mountain side east of here yesterday, and who lay there through the night awaiting rescue.

The youthful aviator, holder of the junior transcontinental flying record, was in a critical condition at Putnam Memorial hospital suffering from a fractured skull. He was found this morning after an all night search was conducted for him and his plane, which now lies demolished on the side of Woodford mountain.

Crashes on Mountain Side.

The plane in which young Goldsborough was injured was en route from Buffalo to Keene, N. H., with Donald Mockler, lecturer, as a passenger. It crashed to destruction in a fog bound forest yesterday morning.

Young Goldsborough lay unconscious amid the wreckage until 6 o'clock this morning, when searching parties after a fruitless all night combing of the wilderness came upon the wrecked plane and its victim. Mockler, who was thrown clear of the wreckage, brought news of the accident to a farmhouse near here. He had struggled in vain to pull his companion from the plane and then wandered through thick underbrush for hours before he found help. Then he couldn't find his way back.

Use Coats as Stretcher.

Two suit coats taken from the backs of his rescuers served as a stretcher on which the injured flyer was carried for two miles to a waiting ambulance. Then a slow, cautious trip was made to the hospital. A surgeon found the youth to be suffering from a fractured skull. This with the long period of exposure and lack of treatment made his condition most critical.

"The last thing I saw," Mockler said, "was Goldsborough turning off the ignition switch. When I came to I saw the tail and part of the wing of the plane hanging to the tree. Part of the wreckage on the ground covered Goldsborough's head, chest, and feet. I succeeded in partly freeing his head and chest, but his feet were caught in the controls, and, try as I might, I could not release him."

Killed in Glider Crash.

Norfolk, Va., July 15.—(AP)—Darwin Smith, 20, licensed transport airplane pilot, was killed today in a glider accident at the state rifle range at Virginia Beach. Smith had taken two previous flights in the glider. The third time it crashed from 20 feet altitude.

Saved by Parachute.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 15.—(AP)—L. D. Miller, pilot for the Midwest Aviation company, escaped death today when he made a successful parachute jump from a plane he was testing which failed to come out of a tail spin above the municipal airport. The plane was destroyed.

Army Pilot Killed.

Moorseville, N. C., July 15.—(AP)—F. B. Tyndall, United States army pilot from Langley Field, Va., was killed when his plane crashed near here tonight.

OFFICER STICKS TO BARE FACTS AT NUDITY TRIAL

Carroll Beauties to Learn Fate Tomorrow.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Capt. James J. Coy, who goes places and sees things for the police department, is just a lay critic and not a professional drama inspector at all, but he stuck to his story of falling scanties and revealing, fluttering feather fans today and left Producer Earl Carroll, Jimmy Savo, the comedian, and eight of Mr. Carroll's most beautiful girls in a hot spot.

Just how hot the spot is will not be revealed until Thursday, when Magistrate H. Gotlier will decide whether or not to hold Mr. Carroll and his selected show folks for trial on a charge of giving an "obscene, indecent, immoral and impure performance" in the current "Vanities" now on exhibition at the New Amsterdam theater.

Magistrate States Views.

Magistrate Gotlieb, at the close of the testimony of Capt. Coy, the only witness, had this to say about Mr. Carroll's "Vanities":

"As the case now stands before me, I determine it to be a lewd act and a lewd exhibition. Regardless of the show's other attractions this city has not reached the point where nude dancing is approved. I will, however, hear argument along legal grounds at the request of counsel for the defense before I act."

The two scenes which were described as "lewd" are the celebrated fan dance, during which Fay Bacon is accused of having appeared nude, and "Modes—A Window at Merls," during which Jimmy Savo, Mr. Carroll's funny man, is charged with having used an indecent technique in adjusting the scanties of Frances Joyce, a "wax" model.

Coy Sticks to Guns.

Capt. Coy perspired under cross-examination this afternoon. He reluctantly admitted that he was just a lay observer of things theatrical and had no professional standing in the drama world. He was quite certain of his observations, however, and spoke them right out in court.

"Now," said Attorney Benjamin J. Rabin, "was it not entirely possible captain, that Miss Joyce's garment fell by accident.

"That's absolutely impossible," said Capt. Coy. "The bloomer's were pulled down and it was the defendant, Savo's, method of adjusting them that was objectionable."

"Have you ever been an actor?"

"Well, I was with a circus once. I watered the elephants. I got 50 cents for the job."

"The audience laughed when Mr. Savo was adjusting the girl's garment, didn't they?"

"I never laughed. I was too shocked. Savo appeared to be making improper gestures."

"When Miss Bacon danced, you say she was nude?"

"She certainly was nude in the back. I saw her from head to her heels. She held the fans in front. She danced and kept drawing one fan after the other down in front of her."

Magistrate Gotlieb barred all spice seekers from the courtroom today. Mr. Carroll and his entourage almost tiptoed into court and it appeared that all concerned had come to the conclusion that the matter is serious.

Echoes of the '80's As Told by the Want Ads

Economists say that commodity prices are falling steadily. Maybe so. We lay no claim to vast wisdom in the science of economics. But we think it will be some time before a want ad will appear similar to this one from 1880. 21 meals at 16 2/3 cents per meal! ENGLISH HOUSE, 31 E. WASHINGton street. Single room and board $4 to $7 week. Restaurant tickets 21 meals $3.50. Transients $1 a day.

Alas! A Bargain!

Too bad our grandfather failed to take advantage of the following want ad, placing the property in trust for our special benefit:

Four Wheels—No Brakes!

Where Do You Worka, John?

And reminiscent of the good old railroad days is this one:

Not many can fulfill these requirements, but the man who can—like almost a million others daily and over a million on Sunday—undoubtedly reads the Chicago Tribune.

The next is odd not so much because of the job itself as because of where it came from. The Tribune draws want ads from all over the world:

Nurses and Governesses

SITUATION WTD—REFINED French lady, speaking good English and French, would like a position as governess; am located in Paris, France, but am desirous of coming to America. MLLE. BLANK, 00 Rue, PETROGRAD, PARIS, FRANCE.

Here's One Kind of Want Ad We Have To Reject

Included in the swarm of mail which comes to the Chicago Tribune's Out-of-Town Want Ad department daily, a carefully written letter from India recently arrived.

The writer wanted to place the following want ad in the Tribune:

A highly connected gentleman wants 700 pounds as a pure charity. Strictly confidential. Please write S. Blank, Bajasore, B. & O., 88 Broad st., Boston, Mass.

It's pretty hard to make out exactly what this highly connected gentleman was trying to do, but one point is clear—he wanted cash to the extent of $3,500. Whatever his reasons, the Tribune could not print the want ad. It violated a rule of censorship, and, like dozens of other ads received every day, it was rejected for the protection of Tribune readers.

KEEP ON WATCH FOR FAKE OFFERS AND CON GAMES

How Tribune Readers Are Protected

The Tribune investigator was looking through the apartment in which the furniture was for sale. Mrs. Blank, who was showing the place, wanted to advertise the goods as used furniture in the Tribune Want Ad section. The Tribune man, had come out as a prospect to see the furniture.

He noticed that the rugs turned up at the edges as only newly-laid rugs have ever been known to do.

He observed that not a single scratch marred the smooth surface of the three-piece living-room set.

The drawers in the bed-room furniture were empty. In the dining-room, there was no silverware. The place had the general atmosphere of a furniture store, not of a home.

Exposing A Fraud

"Why are you selling out?" he asked the would-be advertiser.

"My husband left me," she replied, "and I'm going home to mother."

This answer clinched his suspicions. It was Alibi No. 3 in the investigator's list. He identified himself and told the woman that the Tribune could not accept her advertising. Once more Tribune readers were protected against people who fill vacant apartments with cheap, new furniture and try to sell it as used articles upon which the price has been greatly reduced. Actually, they ordinarily sell at a considerable profit to themselves. The buyer not only fails to obtain a bargain, but also generally pays more for poorer goods than if he had purchased at a retail furniture store.

Real Bargains Every Day

Hundreds of offers of used or slightly damaged furniture appear in the Want Ad section every day, offers upon which Tribune readers can save money. Furniture racketeers, thinking to exploit this reader-interest in the Tribune Want Ad columns, are barred from advertising by rigid Tribune censorship.

Crooks Are Punished

Always alert to protect its readers, the Tribune employs a staff of men who make a specialty of tracking down all dubious looking want ads whether in furniture or in other classifications. Through constant watchfulness these men are able to prevent Tribune readers from being victimized. A long list of offenders, their addresses and telephone numbers, is on file. Every household furnishings ad that appears in the Tribune must comply with all Tribune censorship rules and must be free of any connection with people known to be unscrupulous.

While furniture misrepresentation is not a criminal offense, some other want ad tricks which the Tribune has tracked down and exposed are punishable by heavy fines and prison sentences.

CPLE.—YG.; CAREFUL DRIVER or handy man; also new Chevrdst. at your service; wife to help cook or care for child. Both good golfers. What have you? Go anywhere. Address K 000, Tribune.

"Who but inexperienced youngsters would insert 'both good golfers' in a handyman and household help Situation Wanted Ad!"

This comment on the foregoing want ad from the Tribune of July 10, wins $1 for Adele W. Sabath, 5551 W. Congress st. "Here's hoping they may soon get employment so that their ship of matrimony may not be wrecked on the rocks of poverty," Miss Sabath continues.

Miss Eva Budmats, 3911 N. Nottingham Ave., saw the same ad and says "This seems to indicate an intelligent couple, people one would like to have around. They probably could cope with any situation and seem to be good sports." $1 for Miss Budmats!

13 DIA. ENGAGEMENT RING, 36 stone dia. wedding ring, Elto outbd. motor, for choice lot in or around Chicago, or what have you? Address G 000, Tribune.

"Here's a case of a marriage gone on the rocks, where the disillusioned bride is anxious to trade the 'rocks' for a piece of terra firma, since she has come down to earth again," writes D. A. Kelley, 817 S. Wells st., in response to the Barter and Exchange item reprinted above. $1 for Mr. (or Miss?) Kelley!

Of the same ad, Miss Hannah G. Gore, 1061 North Shore Ave., Chicago, makes the following analysis: (a) young woman is disillusioned; (b) pushes husband or lover off outboard motor; (c) wants property or solid footing in exchange for love tokens." $1 for Miss Gore.

(Incidentally, the advertiser had 32 replies.)

WANT SEDAN—WILL GIVE new or used seal coat even exch. Radcliffe 0000.

"I imagine this advertiser is a furrier who is planning to take a trip in the slack season. He may be going to Canada to buy more furs."

This deduction from the above ad wins $1 for E. Gradon, 5015 Adams st.

This is all we have space for this week. Next week we'll print some more. Get your comments in early. We pay $1 for each comment printed on unusual Tribune Want Ads. Simply address "Interesting Want Ads," Chicago Tribune, Room 1015, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Corns All Gone Big and Small Radox Took Them Roots and All

In England they have a sensible, easy way to get rid of corns in just a few days—a joyous, invigorating foot bath every night for 3 or 4 nights—then lift out the corn—out to stay.

Ask in any drugstore for a package of Radox, first time on sale in America. Hard corns—soft corns—callouses—hard skin on heels and toes—it's all the same to Radox—you'll have new, strong, flawless feet a week from now—ask for Radox and enjoy walking—dancing.

THE NEW RAIL RATES.

In two decisions announced on July 8 the interstate commerce commission has sought to give the railroads in the northeastern quarter of the United States an increase of $50,000,000 or more in annual income. The commission wishes to give the western lines an additional $10,000,000 and the eastern lines $40,000,000. The machinery for providing the added revenue is a general increase in the so-called class rates.

A key to the character of the increase is provided in such a typical rate as that applying between Chicago and New York. At present the first-class rate for that haul is $1.42. Under the new order it will be $1.52. The rate in 1913 was 75 cents. The successive increases in the intervening years have more than doubled the cost of railroad service. The new rate, to be precise, is 202 per cent of the 1913 level.

Scrutator has raised the question whether the railroads will actually benefit from the latest increase as much as the commission expects them to. He suggests that they will not. He mentions the competition of truck lines, whose rates are not regulated by the commission, and concludes that the higher rail rate will be reflected in a considerable loss of business to the competing trucks. That result may be written down as a certainty. The railroads will not only lose business; they will lose the cream of the business. The trucking companies are in a position to select what they want to haul; the railroads will get the less profitable business.

The competition of water lines must also be reckoned with. An increase in rates will encourage all shippers to seek out other means of moving their raw materials and finished products. If trucks will not serve, ships or barges may. If none of these means is suitable, factories and warehouses may be relocated to reduce as much as possible the freight charges.

Temporarily the railroads may benefit, but no one should be astonished if the final result of this last increase is a loss in railroad revenue which will begin to appear as soon as means are found of circumventing the higher tariffs. In this connection it is significant that before the series of rate increases which began in the war years the ton-miles of freight carried by our railroads increased in close relationship to the increase in the population. Since then the business of the railroads has not kept pace with the growth of population. The only time when the relationship seemed likely to be restored was after the 10 per cent decrease in rates ordered in 1922.

No shipper or consumer who has thought through the question can wish to see the railroads in financial straits. It is for the good of the country that they prosper, for only when they prosper can they give the kind of service desired. The recent policy of the commerce commission, however, is not likely to produce the desired results. The commission has taken the position that the principal if not the only factor in determining rates shall be mileage. The theory is one which makes a strong appeal to pedants but it is too simple to meet the complex economic inter-relations of the country. It takes no account of loss of business through competition and of the killing off of business which can exist only when rates are low enough to attract it. The mileage theory also penalizes freight moved over the prairies because it is expensive to haul freight over the mountains of Pennsylvania.

A period of business depression and falling commodity prices would seem to be an unfortunate one in which to revise railroad rates upward. At such a time the pressure to seek the cheapest road to the market is greatest and the loss of business to the railroads is likely to be felt speedily. Admitting, as may well be done, that railroad rates in 1913 were too low, it is difficult to believe that the railroads today will benefit from rates 202 per cent of those prevailing in 1913 when the level of wholesale prices, as of May, 1930, is lower than it has been at any time since September, 1916. The May index was only 27 per cent above 1913. The discrepancy seems to be too great. There is presumptive evidence that it is unfair to the nation's shippers and will not redound to the ultimate benefit of the railroads.

THE SUCKER STATE.

Treasury department figures show that Illinois was again second among the states in income tax payments in the year ending June 30, 1930. Illinois' contribution was $223,000,000.

That is a tidy sum and it has all been paid. As if it were not enough, the federal government is seeking to borrow $2,000,000 more from the Illinois state treasury. The federal government has appropriated at last for the Illinois waterway [after citizens of Illinois had spent upwards of $80,000,000 of their own money on the project], but Uncle Sam can't seem to find the money with which to start work, though he takes more than a hundred times as much from Illinois each year in income taxes alone. Whether this reflects more discredit upon the federal government than upon the representatives that Illinois sends to Washington is a nice question.

GETTING NOWHERE IN THE SENATE.

As a buffer between the naval treaty and future consequences the Norris proviso that the senate adopts with the understanding there are no secret agreements back of it seems to be exactly nothing in the way of protection. The President has said there is no other agreement than that expressed in the treaty, but has declined for reasons of state to make public the correspondence connected with the negotiations.

The senators evidently are not to get the exchanges which might make the ideas back of the agreement both here and in Great Britain clearer, but they may be about to ratify nevertheless. The Norris proviso merely intimates that possibly they are being imposed upon, but if so that they disclaim all responsibility for it. Thus they would neither stand on an assertion of right or privilege to the full confidence of the administration nor express themselves as satisfied that they had all the information they needed to bind the United States to a naval agreement.

They would intimate that they were going it blind, but that they cared to do nothing more than make a note of it for consideration in a future judgment upon revealed facts.

PHILANTHROPY IN ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Ga., had a new mayor for a day or so in the absence of the regular holder of the job and the police and courts are busy trying to catch up with the consequences. Ald. J. Allen Couch, acting as mayor, took advantage of his opportunities to do a charitable turn. He said he had wanted to be a benefactor to his fellow man and this was his first good chance. He emptied the city jail as a feature of the Fourth of July celebration and gave the inmates their liberty.

The generosity has not been appreciated generally in the city and there is talk of putting Mr. Couch himself in jail. Meanwhile the police are rearresting the ex-jailbirds on such charges as can be made against them. Georgia is one of the states in which there is an economic value in petty offenses. The judge is an employment agent and considerable public service is obtained from citizens who can be picked up by the police for one reason or another.

Prohibition is a valuable aid to road building, for instance, and when a community decides that it is time to do some highway work a search for stills, home brew, and pints will usually bring in the workers for a sixty or ninety day period. This is regarded as keeping the dry law on a sensible basis and getting some good out of it without disturbing life in general.

Mr. Couch may have been justified in saying that the persons he let out of jail had been discriminated against, there being so many of their kind loose in the city, but a remark of that nature is seldom negotiable at the bank. Atlanta naturally resented the reflection upon its citizenship, as well as the disturbance of its public service. The system has its good points. The city gets work done by citizens who have been sent to jail. Other less intelligent communities get theirs from citizens who ought to be.

THE BILLBOARD SHOULD GO.

Director Cleaveland of the state department of public works has taken a step against the billboard nuisance by clearing up a stretch on Sheridan road under state jurisdiction. At the same time President Cermak of the county board has asked the Association of Commerce, City club, and Chicago regional planning commission to make recommendations for a zoning ordinance to do away with these eyesores. Mr. Cermak calls attention to a recent decision in Indiana upholding a zoning ordinance of a park board which prohibits billboards within 500 feet of any park or boulevard. He will act at once to free county property where the board has now authority and will support an ordinance on the lines of the Indiana regulation which will extend protection as widely as possible. This plan should be adopted by the park boards. Billboards on boulevards and opposite parks and public grounds maintained at public expense as places of beauty are an offense to the eye and should not be tolerated. We in America are a nation of tourists, and the prevalence of billboards along our highways and amid our most beautiful scenery is unpleasant to increasing millions of our people. Several states have had the good sense and good taste to prohibit them, and all the states should do so. A long and discouraging fight has been carried on by a few individuals and organizations, but the public has not awakened to its own interest in relief. It has been accepted as a necessary evil, which it is not. Now that touring is a national recreation we hope an enlightened opinion will compel the removal of blots on the landscape. There is nothing more noticeable when traveling abroad than the absence of disfiguring signs, and, now that with the coming of the automobile our own home tourists are numbered by the millions, it should be possible to free the American scene of this unsightly feature.

Editorial of the Day

METROPOLITAN CONGESTION.

[Sioux City, Ia., Journal.]

Both New York and Chicago complained against the congestion of traffic on the Fourth of July holiday. Two million vacationists, it was estimated, invaded New York while all rational New Yorkers were struggling to get out of the city. In Chicago traffic conditions were so congested that persons who had left the city for the holiday did not reach their homes until dawn the next morning.

The Chicago situation appears to have been worse than that in New York. Chicago is suffering from a shortsightedness that permitted narrow highways to be built leading into the city. An 18 foot or 20 foot pavement will take care of only two lines of automobiles. Ten to 15 miles an hour is a speed that will not permit several hundred thousand motorists to get anywhere quickly.

Sioux City motorists easily make the comparison between conditions here and in a metropolis. Here one may find an open road within a few minutes. In Chicago or New York one mills with thousands for a chance to escape suffocating traffic, particularly on a holiday. The answer to the metropolis' complaint is very simple. Widen the roads leading out of the big city, provide traffic lanes, and make drivers move more rapidly. Otherwise the motor car is not a convenience but a burden.

LONG SUMMER VACATIONS.

THE custom of having the long vacation in summer months developed in that period when going to school was regarded as something out of the ordinary. In that period the country was on an agricultural basis. The boys and girls had to help with the farm work from spring until fall.

When the stress of farm work was over they left the field and went to school. In the spring the school work stopped when the need of farm work became strenuous. Now the country is preponderatingly on an industrial basis. Independently of that, the ten month school year, or even nine month school year, makes the school child of little service as a farm helper. Farm machinery has lessened the need of farm laborers.

The time has come to consider readjusting the school year so that the long vacation will occur in January, February, and part of March. To run the schools on that basis will be much less costly than the present plan. The heating bill will be greatly lowered. The problem of school ventilation, which appears to be impossible now, will be almost eliminated. The children will have less measles, whooping cough, smallpox, and other forms of contagion. The common cold will be somewhat less prevalent. Well to do parents can take their children away to places where they can be in the sunlight for several hours daily during the dark months. The children of poorer people can get more sunlight in the open air than they can in any schoolroom.

The Journal of the American Medical Association recently published a news letter from Rome, in which Prof. De Voto of the University of Milan advocated this plan for some groups of Italian children. He argued for suspending the schools during February. The ideal plan for Italian youths, especially those in the flat country, is to suspend the schools during the late winter and send the pupils into the mountains of north Italy for at least one month of life in the sunshine and open air. If Mussolini should hear of the suggestion something might happen.

EGG AN EXCELLENT FOOD.

G. S. writes: Are raw eggs good for a thin person?

REPLY.

Egg is an excellent food, especially for young persons and invalids. Raw eggs are just as good as cooked ones, but no better. They are not fattening, in the usual sense.

CATARACTS AND TREATMENT.

J. F. writes: I have cataracts. Is there anything I can do for relief?

REPLY.

If your cataracts are definitely established there is nothing to do but to have them removed when the time comes.

The older and somewhat safer operation is not done until the cataracts are ripe. This means some months or years of near blindness before operation.

SHOULD REVISE YOUR DIET.

S. B. writes: I have had a succession of canker sores, sometimes two and three at a time. Will you please let me know what to do to avoid this?

REPLY.

Canker sores heal promptly after being touched with caustic, particularly if a purge has been given. When a person is subject to canker he should revise his diet and his food and digestion habits.

SIMILAR TO ROCHELLE SALTS.

Mrs. C. R. writes:

1. Will you please tell me the effect of cream of tartar on the system?

2. Is it safe to take a teaspoonful two or three times a day?

REPLY.

1. Cream of tartar is acid tartrate of potash. It does not differ radically from Rochelle salts, a fairly popular saline purge. Cream of tartar is a combination of potassium and tartaric or grape acid.

In doses of one tablespoonful it acts as a saline purge, in which event little or none of the salt absorbs and enters the system. In smaller doses, tartaric acid can be expected to burn into an alkaline ash and to promote maintenance of the alkali reserve. Sometimes, however, it fails to burn into alkali. In smaller doses it acts on the kidneys.

2. Don't take it.

DOUBT OF THE BENEFIT.

A. M. W. writes: Are violet ray treatments beneficial to ulcers of the stomach? What kind of carbons should be used?

REPLY.

REAL ESTATE ON CONTRACT.

Chicago, July 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About four years ago I purchased a piece of real estate from a large realty company. The transaction is covered by a contract on which I have kept up the payments regularly. I have been paying a certain amount per month. At the present time I am unemployed and find it quite difficult to meet my payments. Inasmuch as I have the property three-quarters paid for, I am worried over the possibility of the realty company foreclosing. How soon can they do this? In case they should attempt foreclosure, is there any time allowed for redemption? T. C.

If the buyer has merely a contract then the seller could forfeit it for default without allowing the fifteen month redemption period which is allowed in case of foreclosure of a mortgage.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

SCHOOSH! SCHOOSH! STOP THAT NOISE!

Doc Kegel, our gallant health commissioner, has started a great crusade on useless noises, and we're right behind you, doc, with a pitchfork. There are too many useless noises all around us, and they've got to be stopped. Radio, motor trucks, honking horns, motor buses, and so on and so on. And that isn't near all. Oh, mercy, no. Take a noise that we hear every day. You stop to chat with a friend about anything, anything at all, and he says, "Yeah, and it's prohibition that's done it, too." Now, there's a noise, doc, that gives us a pain in the neck. We've heard it so much that it sounds louder and more raucous than a shipyard where they're putting in rivets. And another noise that has been so disturbing for a long time is this: "Hello, got anything on the hip?" Oh, there are so many noises one hears nowadays that get terribly on the nerves of a sensitive soul! Such as: "Oh, I'm so sorry there's no cocktails! Our bootlegger has been in jail for two weeks." There's a noise we simply hate. Whenever we hear that we know the evening is simply ruined. There's something so disappointing, so grating and harsh, in that noise that we do wish something could be done about it. And then that other noise, "I have some gilt-edge propositions here, and if you buy stocks in the Howling Hyena Silver company you'll be counting your money in the millions before very long." And likewise the noise of a book agent, the noise of the patent cockroach exterminator man at the back door, the noise of this, and the noise of that. Gosh! Stop 'em, somebody.

DILETTANTE.

Were days that fled derisively more fair
Than these rich moments held within my hand,
Contemptuously. Could I but understand
Their miracle. Perhaps too great to bear
Were joy thus close perceived. So unaware—
Distrait, dream mad—my groping yearnings fanned
By memories, yet willful to demand
Some further shrine. . . . What manner of strange bliss
Would shrive that moment of a lover's kiss
Were one to ask, "Is this caress to be
The gift, dear Lord, some day I'll beg of thee?"
Ah, maddening savor, knowledge such as this
To one who sips at life so carelessly.

ENGLAND TODAY BEGINS a great Shakespearean pageant "to be unrivaled in magnificence and historical interest." England will do everything for old Bill except go to his plays.

SOMETIMES IT WORKS AND SOMETIMES IT DOESN'T.

Yesterday the thrilling news flashed under the Atlantic as follows, to-wit, namely (turn rule and quote): "Great Britain Does Not Know What to Say to Egyptian Wafd." That's a terrible predicament. At once we got to thinking what in the world we would say to an Egyptian Wafd if we happened to meet one on a dark night in an alley. What would any one say to an Egyptian Wafd, no matter where he met it? We decided that if the Wafd bared its teeth and growled we would say to the Wafd, "Woof, woof!"

Then we read further down that the Wafd was a political party in Egypt that was always jumping around throwing things at the party in power, like the Democrats do over here. But we still think that "Woof, woof!" is the best thing to say to the Wafd. Go ahead, British empire, say "Woof, woof!" to the Wafd. It hasn't worked very well in India, but it might go great in Egypt. Woof, woof!

PARIS is dreadfully stirred by the shooting of a real Apache in a dance hall. This is probably the first Paris Apache who was ever really shot except in the presence of horrified American tourists, and then always with blank cartridges and tomato catsup for blood. Paris Apaches usually clerk in a collar and necktie store in daytime, raise a large family, put the boys through college, and when they are ninety years old retire to the Superannuated Apaches' Home.

Hey, Farm Board—Shake a Legge!

Hey! Mr. Legge; yes, you, Mr. Legge, you and your farm board; you gotta do something about this. An impoverished farmer named Crescencio Avila living near Magdalena, Jalisco, Mexico, who had been given a little plot of ground by the government, was plowing yesterday and unearthed $50,000 of old Spanish gold. How come a benevolent government doesn't give our farmers of Illinois and Iowah and all points west plots of ground on which they can plow up fifty thousand bucks in Spanish gold? Our farmers are just as deserving as the farmers of Mexico, and if farmers down in Mexico turn up fifty grand in pieces of eight every time they go out to plow, then why aren't our farmers accorded the same right? And gosh darn it, they've got to have it, too. Write to your congressman today.

Then I remember suddenly
I won't be seeing you!

"NINTH MAN KILLED in Detroit's Ten Day Gang War."—The Trib. Anyhow, they seem to be careful about observing the Sabbath in Detroit.

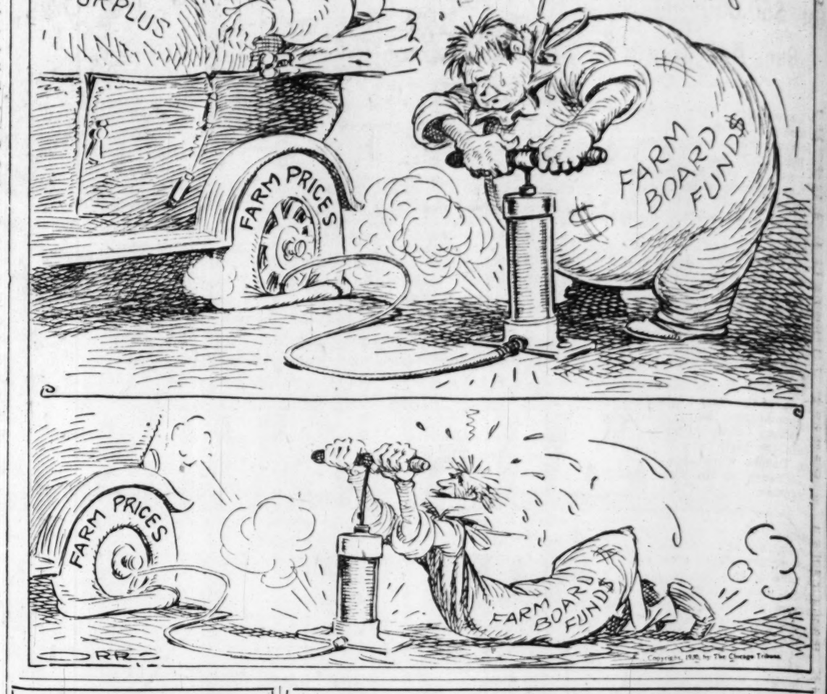
A WONDERFUL REDUCING EXERCISE



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 16, 1865.

ST. LOUIS.—Maj. Gen. Sherman and his staff arrived here and will be tendered a serenade at the Lindell.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Fervent appeals for help are being made to residents of this city and Baltimore by leading citizens of many counties of Virginia which have been devastated by the war. They urge that if help does not come soon numerous families will be reduced to actual starvation.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune says: "It is now declared that Barnum's museum, recently destroyed by flames, was fired by incendiaries in half a dozen places simultaneously. It is suspected that the guilty parties were rebel sympathizers offended by the prominence Barnum has given to the capture of Jeff Davis."

NEW YORK.—Gen. Carl Schurz has been sent by President Johnson to travel through the south on a tour of observation as to the working of the proclamation, loyalty of the whites, condition of the blacks, and the fitness of the states for immediate restoration to the Union.

CHICAGO.—Capt. Charles G. Culver, 105th regiment, Illinois volunteers, and Miss Maria Barnes, both of Sandwich, Ill., were married in that town on July 11 by the Rev. G. H. Robertson.

CHICAGO.—Superintendent of Police Tuttle filed his report for the quarter ending June 30, which showed a total of 3,349 arrests. Of these 726 were women. The Irish were the worst offenders, their arrests numbering 1,805.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 16, 1900.

TIENTSIN.—Seven thousand of the allied troops were attempting to storm the walls of the city this afternoon [July 13]. The success of the attack is doubtful. The Chinese on the wall are estimated at 20,000 and they are pouring a terrific hail of artillery, rifle and machine gun fire upon the attackers. The American, Japanese, British and French troops are attacking from the west and the Russians from the east. The Americans suffered terribly. The chief surgeon of the 9th infantry says a conservative estimate is that 25 per cent of the Americans are hit. Col. William H. Liscum is reported to have been mortally wounded. The marines' losses include Capt. Davis killed, and Butler, Leonard and several others wounded.

LONDON.—Every European in Peking has perished. This is now officially admitted by Shang, the taotai of Shanghai, who gets his information from the governor of Shantung. The massacre, he says, took place on the morning of July 7. Shanghai is now seriously threatened. The Boxers are concentrating in large numbers near the city, which is poorly prepared for defense.

CHICAGO.—John J. Fitzpatrick of the Horseshoers' union was elected president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, defeating John Mullay of the Patternmakers' union.

CHICAGO.—Judge Marcus Kavanagh probably will be a candidate for the Republican mayoralty nomination next spring. Republicans opposed to William J. Moxley, the butterine maker, and Lorimer's choice for the nomination, are urging Kavanagh to make the race.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 16, 1920.

CHICAGO.—While Chicago's electric power strike on the surface car lines revealed symptoms of a spread to other branches of the service last night, company officials promised at least a 50 per cent normal car service during the rush hours this morning with an additional increase during the day. Five hundred of the 1,200 trackmen employed by the company are said to have voted to walk out this morning as a demonstration of sympathy for the adherents of "Umbrella Mike" Boyle, who called the strike.

CHICAGO.—State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne was slated for renomination by the regular Democratic organization, despite the opposition of Robert M. Sweitzer, who insists that Hoyne's independent candidacy for mayor caused his defeat by Mayor Thompson in 1919.

TREES DOWNTOWN.

Chicago, July 14.—Recently you have had some articles about the desirability of trees in the downtown area. Don't you think a big mistake is being made in failing to preserve intact the parkway on North Michigan from Ohio street north? The new buildings at 700 and 737 North Michigan have built their sidewalks out to the curb, thereby taking away from their first floor shops a big asset in the way of a strip of green grass. Contrast 700 North Michigan with the building next door at 720, which has the parkway.

All other property owners have been given permission by the park board to take up the parkway and build their sidewalks out to the curb, and while probably none of them will be so foolish, those who do not realize the asset of a parkway, not only to themselves but to the city as well, should have it emphasized to them. Why not a row of trees along this parkway as well, thereby making it the world's most beautiful shopping center, in the style of Paris? ARTHUR HARRIS.

BASICALLY.

Chicago, July 13.—If you will look up the word "basically" in the Funk & Wagnalls Practical Standard dictionary you will find that it means "in a basic manner." Thus your use of the word was basically correct. NEIST.

ANOTHER SOURCE.

Quincy, Ill., July 13.—If you will consult the dictionary section of Winston's Cumulative Encyclopedia you will find "basically." W. P. J.

HAD BE.

Chicago, July 14.—While the writer has the fic - he would like to protest against the use of "had be" as a verb in the W. G. N. Write it: "He would better be consistent," not "He had better be consistent."

Please have the business manager put a '29 dictionary at the editor's elbow. A. L. HENNESSEY.

BENCHES REMOVED FROM THE PARK.

Chicago, July 12.—For fifteen years our family and friends have enjoyed the benches along the road leading to the shelter, facing the south and overlooking the golf links in Garfield park. Last week on a sultry evening we walked over, as we have for many years, to enjoy the cooling breeze from the south, and this is the only place of the kind in the park, when lo, all we saw was space; for what reason no one can explain, except that "some one may be struck with a ball." Now, if that is the reason, why not let us take the risk as before? If any one is afraid, then let him not choose to sit on those particular benches. For my part, I am simply lost without them. M. S. W.

VON SPEE AND JUTLAND.

Elmhurst, Ill., July 14.—In the July 8 issue of THE TRIBUNE a gentleman from Maywood, signing himself as English-American, takes issue with a previous letter concerning the merits of Admirals Von Spee and Von Hipper as naval experts. He speaks of the battle of Jutland as the place where Von Spee met his fate.

Admiral Count von Spee was, at the beginning of the war, in command of the Asiatic fleet of the German navy. When the war broke out Von Spee attempted to get back to German waters and in so doing he met Admiral Craddock off the coast of Chile. He sank Craddock's fleet, probably because Craddock was weaker in forces than Von Spee, and attempted to dash for Kiel. He never got there. He was determined to destroy the wireless station on the Falkland islands and in doing so ran afoul of a nest of British battle cruisers. He was outgunned, not outmaneuvered, and sank with his entire fleet, save the Dresden, in 3,000 fathoms. The Dresden slipped back around Cape Horn and a few days later was sunk by the British cruiser Kent off Juan Fernandez, in Chilean waters.

Admiral Count von Spee was up against superior armament; still he gave a creditable account of himself until he went to the bottom.

If the gentleman from Maywood will consult his maps he will find that the Falkland islands are a mile or two removed from the place where the battle of Jutland took place. Von Luckner says of Von Spee that "He was a sailors' admiral. A seaman by temperament, open, honest and only himself when on the bridge of his flagship. He was not like a good many of the other German admirals, more ornamental than useful." Such praise from a junior officer who also made a name for himself must be deserved.

HENRY G. PLOCK.

A BIRD ENSLAVED!

Chicago, July 4.—The letter about grackles in Hamilton park killing and eating sparrows reminds me: One day while walking through that park my attention was attracted to the noise of two nearly grown grackles. They were following a mother robin and as fast as she could find a worm or bug she was feeding these two crying grackles. It was a strange sight. Something I had never seen before. C. H. FRISCH.

A VOICE FROM RACINE.

Racine, Wis., July 1.—In Racine the city fathers are now erecting a city hall adjacent to a garbage disposal plant. But that isn't all. In front of the city hall a sewage pumping station is to be constructed. [Won't that be a swell civic scenter?]

BANDITS RAID TOWN; ROB BANK; SHOOT 2 WOMEN

Get $50,000; Machine Guns Awe Crowd.

Willmar, Minn., July 15.—(AP)—Five machine gun bandits, moving swiftly in a well planned raid, descended on the Bank of Willmar today, shot up the town in a fashion reminiscent of the James gang, wounded two women, one probably fatally, and escaped with $50,000 after exchanging shots with citizens.

Although it was estimated that more than 100 shots were fired by the bandits the only casualties were the two women, mother and daughter, who were shot down in the final burst of fire as the robbers sped out of town. Windshields in several automobiles were shot out in the fusillade and windows shattered in buildings near the bank.

Agents of the state bureau of criminal apprehension were investigating the robbery tonight while sheriffs through the state and in Iowa and South Dakota were asked to patrol the highways in an effort to seize the gunmen.

Driver Believed Wounded.

Despite the close watch kept on the roads no trace of the bandits had been found tonight. They fled southward and none of the citizenry attempted pursuit, although several sped their departure with shotgun and revolver fire. The driver of the bandit car apparently was wounded in the exchange and was dragged from behind the wheel.

Physicians tonight held little hope for Mrs. Emil Johnson, who was shot through the arm and chest as she walked along the sidewalk with her daughter, Mrs. Donald Gildia. Mrs. Gildia also was shot, but the bullet wound in her leg is not considered serious.

Only eight minutes were occupied by three bandits in gathering up $37,000 in cash and $13,000 in negotiable bonds after intimidating 25 employés and customers in the bank while two others with machine guns held a crowd of more than 100 at bay outside.

Fire on the Crowd.

While the three gunmen in the bank hurriedly rifled cash drawers and the vault, their companions on the outside kept the crowd cowed by an occasional burst from their weapons. Sam Evans, an oil station employé, tried to snipe one of the machine gunners from behind a penny scale. It was believed to have been his shot which struck the driver as the robbers were preparing to depart.

In making their exit from the bank building the three bandits used George Robbins, vice president, and Miss Mary Walker, a customer, as shields from possible attack by the crowd which had been attracted by sounding of the burglar alarm.

Descriptions of the men said all were fairly well dressed. Four were tall and slender, while the fifth was short. All were rather swarthy. They drove away in a big black sedan which bore Minnesota license plates.

Stratford, Wis., July 15.—(AP)—Three robbers held up three employés of the Stratford State bank here today and escaped with approximately $12,000 in cash. They fled in an automobile, which was traced northward.

Stickup in Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., July 15.—(AP)—A daylight holdup of the Sangamon Building and Loan association, one block from the center of Springfield's busiest corner, at noon today, netted the robbers $330. Two men engineered the robbery, while a third remained in the car. One of the robbers, wearing dark glasses, ordered all employés into a back room, while the other ransacked the safe.

Rob Bank of $24,000.

Birmingham, Ala., July 15.—(AP)—Three bandits held up the Woodlawn-American National bank here early today and escaped with approximately $24,000 in currency.

LEAPS OFF BRIDGE INTO RIVER.

An unidentified man late last night leaped from the Monroe street bridge into the Chicago river. A passing pedestrian telephoned the central district police, who notified the coast guard. The river will be dragged today.

JUDGE THREATENS JAIL FOR POLICE OF LINCOLN PARK

Gives Warning on Minor Traffic Law Cases.

The arrest of Lincoln park policemen and possible contempt citations for park commissioners will be the next step in the controversy between municipal judges and members of the park board over the arrest and jailing of minor traffic law violators, Judge Frank M. Padden said yesterday.

Under a municipal court ruling a minor traffic law violator may be released on his own recognizance if he establishes his identity and shows he is a responsible citizen. The commissioners of Lincoln park refuse to accept this ruling, although all their traffic cases are heard by municipal judges. They demand the posting of a $25 cash bond or the jailing of the violator until the case is heard in the next court session.

Judge Discharges Violators.

Several clashes have occurred between park policemen and Judge Padden over this ruling, as a result of which the judge has been discharging all minor violators who have spent the night in jail. A climax was reached yesterday when Herman Skouglund, 220 West 108th street, was arrested by Park Policeman Harry Barth and taken before Judge Padden.

Skouglund was fined $4 when the court was shown he had not properly identified himself. Barth and Sergt. George Johnstone, his superior, were warned that the guilt of the defendant was all that saved them from arrest.

"In this case," Judge Padden said, "you were in the right. But a duplication of the case of last week, when a responsible citizen was forced to spend a night in jail, will result in arrest for the policemen responsible."

Board Ruling, Sergeant Says.

Sergt. Johnstone replied that the blame did not rest with the police. "It is a board ruling," he said. "We merely follow orders."

"Then in that case," Judge Padden retorted, "I will arrest all policemen who are following orders. Why isn't the Lincoln park board obeying the court ruling? They are not higher than the court. Perhaps I cannot arrest the commissioners, but I can tie up their police department."

Warren Wright, president of the park board, denied that any respectable citizens were being inconvenienced by the park board's ruling.

Resolution Is Addressed to Legislators.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

La Salle, Ill., July 15.—[Special.]—A mass meeting here today addressed a resolution to its state legislators, petitioning for the widening of state highway 7 from Joliet to Depue, a few miles west of here. It was the thirty-third such meeting sponsored by the Chicago Motor club this summer in furtherance of a program for the state to widen 870 miles of arterial highways in the metropolitan area and to build 63 grade separations in 1932 and 1933.

The widening of route 7 is part of this road building program. With a widened route 4, from Joliet to Chicago, it would give 116 miles of four lane pavement between the loop and this historic city on the scenic banks of the Illinois river. The motor club also proposes that the forty foot pavement should be extended south on route 29 through Peoria to Pekin.

Mayor Backs Program.

Mayor Frank Bryzgot of La Salle described the proposition. He was chairman at the meeting.

"The wider road," he said, "will result in fewer accidents and shorter traveling time between destinations."

Route 7 is well known to Chicago motorists. A few miles east of here, between here and Ottawa, is Starved Rock state park, which has more than 750,000 visitors every summer. West and south of here, route 29, are the wooded bluffs of the Illinois river, which attract thousands of motorists by their natural beauty. Furthermore, this highway carries traffic to the second largest city of the state, Peoria.

Termed Aid to Farmers.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club, told how the wider pavements will enable the farmers to carry their produce to the Chicago market faster and safer, and hence cheaper. He told how the wider pavements will attract more visitors from Chicago and cities farther east.

"If you want this road improvement, you can get it," he declared. "The motorists of the metropolitan area pay enough gasoline tax and registration fees to finance the program. It's up to the motorists of this district to tell the 1931 session of the general assembly what we want."

C. M. Charley, La Salle county supervisor, estimated that the widening of route 7 will eliminate between twenty and thirty per cent of the automobile accidents. Others who spoke were: N. M. Mason, Republican candidate for the state senate; Al Hasse, mayor of Peru; Edward Conerton, state representative; Charles Johns and Edward Hayn, Republican candidates for state representative, and Charles Bennet, La Salle county supervisor.

OVERGROWN BOY ADMITS SLAYING MOTHER'S MAID

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Harry Woolsey Jr., 14 years old, but as large and strong as a man of twenty, gloatingly showed New Jersey state police today just how he murdered his mother's 23 year old maid, Anna Miller, and then threw her body over a cliff near his father's summer cottage at Green Pond, N. J., Sunday afternoon.

He couldn't tell just why he had killed Miss Miller, but he confided that he "hates girls."

According to Harry's story, he and the girl paused at the top of a cliff to admire the scenery. Miss Miller had her back toward him when he drew the knife from his pocket. He stabbed her once in the back. She screamed and ran down the hillside. He pursued her, and stabbed her again. She fell on her face, and he plunged the knife into her back four more times.

2 Month Time Limit Gone; Baby Is Still Missing

Grief pervaded the home of Michael and Katherine Moroney, 5200 Wentworth avenue, last night. The "social worker," who kidnaped their 2 year old daughter, Mary Agnes, on May 15, and promised to return her within two months, did not keep her pledge and the hopes which had buoyed Mrs. Moroney in the hospital as she gave birth to another daughter a few weeks ago, were dashed. An anonymous TRIBUNE reader of East Chicago sent $2 for Mrs. Moroney, which was given to her yesterday.

Taxi Boat Franchise Is Denied by Wilmette Board

Speed boat taxi service between Wilmette and the Chicago river, as proposed by Ellery Wood, president of the American Water Transport company, was rejected last night by the village board of Wilmette, following a recommendation of the public service committee. However, the way was left open for further negotiations. Mr.

SCHILDKRAUT, FAMOUS ACTOR, IS DEAD AT 65

Hollywood, Cal., July 15.—(AP)—Rudolph Schildkraut, 65, a great actor two decades ago in Jewish theaters of Europe and later a celebrity in biblical pictures of the screen, died here today from a heart attack.

Schildkraut was born in Constantinople and educated in Rumania. He then entered repertoire, left this for comic opera, and was carried to stardom in classical dramas of the Jewish theater.

With this background he emigrated to the United States twenty years ago. His initial appearance in this country was unfortunate.

As a member of the cast in "The God of Vengeance," in New York, he and eleven others were arrested on charges of giving an immoral play. He was convicted and fined $200.

Almost immediately he entered American films, achieving his outstanding success in "The King of Kings." Under his tutelage his son, Joseph, achieved stardom.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

INSTALLMENT IX.

SHIFTING THE BURDEN.

"You have your son," Laura Smith Ames added; "your fortune should go intact to him!" The Smiths had all been money mad; afraid to spend. Sometimes Laura enjoyed looking shabby, thinking she could make the dress "go for another year."

"Laura, I have more than he'll ever be able to use . . . as—things are," Arnold said slowly.

"I have—made my ultimatum, Arnold," she replied. Her voice shook.

"Well, good-by," he said heavily as he pushed back his chair.

"Good-by, Arnold," she answered quaveringly.

Their fifteen year old son was playing with a small cart and some tin soldiers on the chair. "Good-by, boy," said Arnold. His son looked up stupidly for a second, his jaw dropping, his mouth open. Then he went back to his toys.

Riley waited outside by the opened door of the car. "O, God!" thought Arnold Ames, getting in. He said, and quite as usual, "Morning, Riley."

Laura Smith Ames sat by the table crying. She had seen "the girl." A fool of a friend had pointed her out with an unconsidered, hasty, loud "There's Elsie Ames' girl!" After which she had flushed deeply, clasped and unclasped her pocketbook. But Laura hadn't noticed this. She had seen only the girl; lovely, lovely! Riding, she realized afterward, with Billy Treadway in his car. If Arnold saw her he would look as he did sometimes at musical comedies (the only form of "entertainment" which he liked) when the star, too, was lovely and as she sang so lilting and obvious a song about love that Arnold's density was thinned by understanding, which is the surest dilution for density.

Laura went, awkwardly as usual, to the hall. The boy was still playing on the stair with a small toy cart and soldiers that were lead. She laid a bony, long hand on his shoulder. "Please—notice me——" she whispered. For a second he did; he turned, vacant faced, to her to say, "Can-dy."

"There, dear heart," she whispered. He ate the piece of candy; she wiped his lips, crying again. She had always said her prayers and contributed to foreign missions. She couldn't understand it.

Billy Treadway was also anxious to reach new ground, and young Deane, without knowing it, was heading toward a land where he had never considered it possible to be "amused," and this fact was confessed by his shamed survey of his past. He had come to muttering to himself in his room, as do people who are much alone in their rooms; and again and again before the silver framed portrait of a too studiedly pretty girl, he confided, underbreath, the fact that his old dad had been right. And Katie heard him one early evening, saying quite loudly and bitterly, "Darned fool I was!"

"Katie," Theresa murmured, "do you think it's a person's duty to subjugate self?"

Katie, too, wished to wander in new pastures; she wanted a divorce, and she didn't know where her husband was "this time," which complicated the matter. Mr. Kuria, whom she had consulted, said that desertion couldn't be charged under six months, and "Warner" was bound to come back before that, Katie knew. He always ran out of money in about four months. She told Theresa about it. Theresa had made a habit of running up to Katie's rooms because Mrs. Colt had grown fretful about Katie's habit of running into their rooms.

"It spites me something fierce," Katie confided the Saturday that followed the "cold snap"; "all my life I been dreamin' about a man with a waxed mustache, an' here I got him to the point of askin'—and that ain't no easy job for no woman—and I can't say yes. And lemme tell yuh, Herman Plonk ain't no man to be left alone by ladies. The widow lady where he boards at is always makin' him pot pie . . . the big hussy!"

Love's little gifts of roses!

"But if he loves you——" Theresa said shyly, slowly.

"Honey," Katie answered, "yuh gotta take 'em when they're willing, or go 'round like all the old maids does, sayin' you had your chances, but you never met 'Mr. Right.' . . . I dunno why I ever married Warner anyway; but he give me a pink celluloid brush and comb and he wouldn't look at no one else—and you know how it is." She sighed heavily, and then, rising from "the couch," she said she thought the room was close, and she opened the door. Young Deane had gone downtown and she thought he would be in pretty soon, and she liked to give them a chance to talk without Mrs. Colt putting in her nickel's worth and "freezing him!"

Theresa also thought of the fact that he might come in pretty soon and, flushing a little, she agreed that the room had seemed "a little close." Theresa was not very happy; she had come to the chilling conclusion that her mother felt that it would be well for her to marry "old Mr. Treadway." Of course, Theresa thought, fumbling for comfort, he might not want it. And each night she asked her particular God to keep Mr. Treadway from "asking that."

"Katie," Theresa murmured, "do you think it's a person's duty to subjugate—self?"

"How?" Katie inquired.

"I mean—to think first of other people—and of what they want you to do?"

"It depends kinda on the folks," Katie responded. "Sometimes some kinda folks they want you to do what you hadn't ought to do."

"O—of course not, but if a really nice man wanted you to marry him and you didn't want to, but it would be convenient?" She was a little mixed; it was not easy to voice.

"Give him the air!" said Katie, loudly and harshly. She knew who it was.

"You don't think it would—work out well, Katie?"

"Say, kid . . . it would work out just about as good as a Angora cat in a aquarium . . . If yuh don't have love at first what have yuh got?"

"You see—I don't know much about it, Katie," Theresa said slowly, "but I do know that I'm young and that there might be lots of years. . . . I don't see how I—anybody—could——"

"Me neither," said Katie.

Downtown, at that same moment, two men stood by a window of the Lafayette club looking into the street which seemed particularly gray because, a moment before, it had been brushed by a layer of thin gold. The elder of the men was Arnold Ames; the younger, Harold Gale, who had been paying attention to Mildred Smith, Laura's niece.

"I want you to take work there and pay—as much as you can manage to pay. And Gale—no mention of this to any one——"

"I quite—understand, Mr. Ames."

Arnold stiffened then; Elsie Ames Colt's brother, Frank Hillis, had wandered in. Gale remembered some one's having said you could not gossip with any one, of any one in New York, without insulting a second or third cousin.

Arnold turned abruptly to the window; Elsie's family had had nothing to do with her since the disgrace she had brought upon them through her running off with Barrington Colt. But Arnold was not softened toward them by that; indeed he scorned them for it.

Harold Gale saw the change that had flashed across Frank Hillis' face and as he saw Arnold Ames. Fright had been stark upon Hillis' face, and then this flash of expression had been sponged off by one belligerently, icily set.

Frank Hillis hurried upstairs to settle near a window with the London Illustrated News. He tried to see the picture at which he looked. He saw instead his father, Elsie's father, panting—gasping out—a request that he, Frank, "look after Elsie and her child——"

Frank turned a page. Every one—quite every one—had said his father's mind had been impaired by age. And, following out his father's instructions to provide for Elsie and her daughter, Theresa, would have made a considerable difference in the income from the estate. As it was—with taxes and what not—he lived only as—he should—had to live. Some one coughed in an adjoining room. Frank jerked suddenly. . . . His father's cough, it had seemed that second, rasping and weak with age.

Elsie's girl would be better off for working. And Ames should have provided for her. That was no more than right. And, anyway, too many girls were idle. . . . Elsie had brought it all upon herself, too. . . .

Credit Chasers Poor Teachers, Educator Says

U. of C. Prof. Talks to College Convention.

Controversial opinions on methods of modern college education enlivened the meetings of 200 college professors attending the Institute for Administrative Officers of Institutions of Higher Learning. The sessions, on the University of Chicago campus, started yesterday and will close tomorrow evening.

Gordon J. Laing, dean of the graduate schools of art and literature at Chicago university, acknowledged "there have long been low rumblings of discontent, ominous mutterings of dissatisfaction, savage grumblings of complaint at the teaching capacity of our brilliantly hooded graduate teachers."

Prof. Laing added: "Possessors of master's degrees, who teach from their lecture notes, are but 'stuffed capons of the academic enclosure, stolid, stodgy, immobile, and unproductive.'"

Dean Laing spoke on "Desirable Types of Graduate Training for Prospective College Teachers." He favored reform within the credit system, but Leon Burr Richardson, professor of chemistry at Dartmouth college, would abolish that system.

According to Prof. Richardson one of the greatest defects of a graduate school is the character of the students it attracts.

"I have been impressed," he said, "by the number among them who, with almost painful industry perform their assigned tasks too meticulously. Thus they are slaves to the problems immediately before them, instead of striving for a larger scope."

"While such a method probably never would be applied, he said, Prof. Richardson suggested, as the ideal place to train teachers, an institution that would select its students carefully and give thorough instruction in a specialty, with training in research, and with some work in education and in practice teaching.

"Instead of credit bookkeeping," he declared, "such a school would have at the end a searching examination as a test of the student's command over general principles and his ability to apply them to specific problems. An attractive student life would be a part of my ideal college."

In urging the abolition of the "departmentalized professor of today, who doesn't care if his students are illiterate outside of the subject he teaches," and of the current application of systems of credits and degrees, Prof. Richardson said, "The student who is being trained today forms the idea that an accumulation of pedagogic credits makes a teacher, that untiring industry and uninspired adherence to directions, in the solution of some minor problem of research, make a scholar."

Another leader in the attack on present methods of teacher training was Henry Suzzallo, director of the National Advisory Committee on Education.

"The credit transfer system in American colleges," he said, "is strictly an American disease. It is a fetish that is not known in the old English seats of learning, such as Oxford and Cambridge, which we would do well to emulate, at least partially."

The institute was opened yesterday morning with a welcome to the delegates by Frederic Woodward, vice-president and dean of the faculties at the University of Chicago.

The speakers for today are Ernest H. Wilkins, president of Oberlin college, and the following of the University of Chicago: William S. G. Gray, dean of the college of education; Charles H. Judd, director of the school of education; Leonard V. Koos, professor of education.

'Lucia di Lammermoor' Wins Fresh Applause as Given at Ravinia

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Another high spot has been added to the performance of "Lucia di Lammermoor." In addition to Florence Macbeth's mad scene, the scene of Giovanni Martinelli down among the gravestones, the famous sextet in which all the characters and the assembled guests take part, there is a harp solo that comes in between the first two scenes.

When Joseph Vito plays it, the piece becomes worth your earnest attention, for in its way it is quite as striking as any of these. Possibly it is even a little more so, for circumstances oblige the singers to keep to the same notes year after year, while he is permitted to introduce some variants. What he does is different from what he did last year, perhaps different from what he will do when and if "Lucia" is sung again this summer.

The Ravinians gave it last night, and applause rose high. Miss Macbeth was at her best. Mr. Martinelli, abandoning for the time being the heavy voice dramatic music by which he is best known, proved that he can be uncommonly effective in a rôle usually sung by lyric tenors. By a phenomenon of makeup, his Edgar managed to look surprisingly as though he were a son of Virgilio Lazzaris Raymond, thereby giving a hitherto undreamed of twist to the dramatic possibilities of the story. These three with Mario Basiola as Sir Henry, though with his rôle considerably cut down, Lodovico Oliviero, and Philine Falco, made up the sextet. They turned out to be as well balanced as it has been in any performance hereabouts for a number of years. Once again the applause rose higher.

Methodists Plan Governor's Day at Des Plaines Camp

Officers of the Des Plaines camp meeting in its 71st annual session this week are making extensive preparations for "Governor's day," planned for Saturday. Robert F. Clancy, head of the program committee for the Rock River Laymen's association in charge of the plans for receiving Gov. Louis L. Emmerson at the historic camp meeting site, stated last night that present indications pointed to 30,000 visitors. He predicts the largest crowd ever to enter the camp grounds.

The day will be in charge of the laymen's association and the Methodist Social union. Thomas D. Dixon, president of the social union, announced that the Rev. Dr. William F. Wier, general secretary of men's work of the Presbyterian church, will be on the program with Gov. Emmerson and will speak on the subject, "The Place of the Church in the Modern World."

The Inquiring Reporter

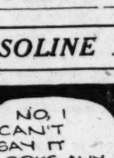
Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you agree with Mrs. Thomas A. Edison that in flocking into outside business the women of America have lost their prestige in their own field?

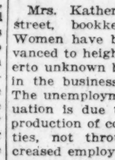
The Answers.

Miss Earlyne J. Bloom, 4825 Kentucky avenue, stenographer—Nobody works for pleasure. Single girls work so they can buy luxuries which they couldn't otherwise afford. Married women work to help their husbands or to "buy the baby a new pair of shoes." That probably proves they are gaining prestige.



Ralph Parker, 2150 Orchard street, clerk — I think the place for women is in the home. Let the single women retain their places in the business world, let the married ones stay at home. I daresay this world will get along no matter what happens to the ladies.

Mrs. Katherine Lohrei, 432 Surf street, bookkeeper — Women have been advanced to heights hitherto unknown by them in the business world. The unemployment situation is due to overproduction of commodities, not through increased employment of women. Higher cost of living has made it necessary for many young married women to work.



G. E. Morris, Hotel Ambassador, auditor — Women are necessary to modern business, even though they are neglecting the fact their primary duty is to the home and the moral welfare of the race. In that way they have lost prestige. But most of them who work must work, whether married or single; at least among the newly weds, living is so expensive.

Mrs. C. M. Cronk, 2848 West Adams street, secretary—I do not think women are losing prestige. They are advancing by doing both kinds of work, thus materially assisting the husband or family make the home a home to be proud of. Often if the wives did not work outside their homes there probably would be a decline in marriages and more money troubles at homes.

Greco-Russian Lines Decide Fall Fashions

While Fur Trim Attests Faith in Prosperity.

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—One hundred and twenty-five creations for cool weather wear were exhibited by fifty-eight of the leading American creators and producers at the autumn fashion promenade, staged by the garment retailers of America at the Hotel Astor tonight.

A three hour procession of mannikins was viewed by more than fifteen hundred manufacturers and retailers, the latter coming from all parts of the country. The display included almost everything in the modern woman's wardrobe, from filmy pajamas to huge fur wraps. The luxurious fur trimmings on coats and suits were expressive, it was pointed out, of the producers' confidence in the purchasing power of the public.

Outstanding in the array of apparel was the Grecian influence, simple and stately, which dominated the new dress silhouette. The pajamas for fall were diversified and colorful. A pajamas with a train, made of wine colored transparent velvet, disclosed how this once simple night wear has expanded.

The Russian mode also was prominent. Waistlines were where they should be and were clearly defined by belts or pinched-in effects. The bloused effect was noted on coats, and there was a tendency to play both coats and dresses close to the hips.

Skirt lengths held a large share of attention. In all the different types there was complete obscurity of the knee. While many sport garment hemlines were 14 inches from the floor, 12 inches was an average for the dressy apparel, while the more formal dresses and wraps extended down to slipper straps or below.

Black and white, separately or together, were prominent in all apparel. Copper, wine red, dark greens, browns and bisque tans were among the leading colors shown. Most in evidence for evening and hostess gowns were blues, pinks and off-whites.

YPRES CATHEDRAL, WRECKED BY WAR, RESTORED AMID JOY

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

YPRES, July 15.—More than 15 years after the first shells struck it in 1914, the reconstructed thirteenth century Cathedral of St. Martin was consecrated today. The first stone of the new building was laid on Armistice day, 1922, so that it took eight years and an expenditure of about $1,425,000 to restore the cathedral as it was before being shattered by German guns.

Impressive religious services marked the consecration. Ecclesiastics from all parts of Belgium and northern France were present. Early in the morning chants were sung behind closed doors and later sacred relics were brought out in a procession and carried around the building while crowds knelt in the cobbled streets. High mass was celebrated by Canon Delaere, former dean of the Ypres cathedral who played a heroic part in the war.

Work is now going on on the belfry of the ruined Clothmakers' Guild hall, which it is proposed to restore to its pre-war state. Difficulties were met at the outset, as it was found the foundations needed strengthening. It is hoped the belfry will be completed by the end of 1931 and that it will again house the carillon for which the Clothmakers' Guild hall was famous before the war.

More Children Go to Camp Algonquin; Others End Vacation

While a party of vacationers returned to their tenement homes yesterday after two weeks at Camp Algonquin, another band of 180 tenement mothers and children boarded a Chicago and North Western train in happy bewilderment. They couldn't quite believe until the train pulled out that they were really on their way to THE TRIBUNE'S summer camp.

But the strangeness lifted when they came at supper time down into the Fox river valley and found a welcome from Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent. And by bedtime mothers felt very much at home in the cool dormatories after their few possessions were unpacked, the tiny children in the nursery and the older children assigned to their cottages.

Every two weeks all summer long that same event will be reenacted. Mothers who will be carefree for the first time in years, children released from the stuffiness of tenement living, and babies too young to understand why they feel like smiling and gurgling every time the kindly nurse comes near them—all will find contentment at Algonquin.

Meanwhile in every district served by the United Charities, which operates the camp, neighbors were left behind who needed the outing, but who could not be sent for lack of funds. To those remaining behind THE TRIBUNE'S free ice wagon can bring daily cheer, provided those friends who have helped in the past will help again this year. The ice fund, with a little over $700, is making no bones about its poverty. It is in desperate need, and unless something happens, immediately part of the 900 families listed for ice will be without it, and the lives of babies endangered.

Another lemonade stand brought the ice fund $1.04 yesterday. Betty Jane Eisner, Vera Gene Weinberg, and Elaine Weinberg conducted the benefit in the front yard at 2219 East 70th street. Another contributor from Fort Dodge, Ia., wrote that she could "enjoy my vacation more if I add my mite to both funds."

Grave Yields Part Secret of Early Illinois

Priests' or Traders' Skulls Found by Accident.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

At a bend in the Kankakee river near Custer Park, Ill., where the Pottowatomie campfires burned in the days when Chicago was yet a wilderness, a strange find was unearthed three weeks ago. Roy H. Moseley, a workman engaged in spading up the soil, which consists of valuable deposits of core sand, useful for steel foundries, interrupted the last long sleep of two men whose graves were made there, probably from 200 to 250 years ago.

Several objects, some of a religious significance, found in one of the graves convinced Moseley and Frank Peterson, owner of the property, that they had come on the last resting place of one of the early missionaries.

The religious relics include three crosses and one crucifix, apparently of silver. Others, some perhaps Indian tribal signs, included a crescent shaped silver ornament with the rude carving of a fox and a tiny silver beaver. Other relics were two large silver or pewter circular ornaments or buckles, to one of which, under a microscope, a strand of rough homespun is seen attached; a corroded iron buckle and a number of metal rings that may have been cloth-covered buttons.

All the bones, except the skulls, had disintegrated. One of the latter is in an excellent state of preservation—the one with which the objects were discovered. The other, found about five feet away, was less well preserved. Neither showed any evidence that the men had been tomahawked by the Indians.

Eager to have an opinion on their conclusion that one of the skeletons was that of an early missionary, Peterson and Moseley communicated with THE TRIBUNE. As a result, the Rev. Gilbert J. Garraghan, S. J., professor of history at St. Louis university and editor of the historical magazine, Mid-America, made the trip to Custer Park yesterday to examine the relics. Father Garraghan is spending the summer at Loyola university.

It proved a disappointment to the historian that no dates or inscriptions were to be found on the articles, except the word "Montreal," stamped on the largest of the crosses, and the initials, "P. H." on two others. This, he pointed out, was more probably the mark of the manufacturer than the owner because of the small size of the letters.

"It is hardly likely that the body could have been that of any missionary," Father Garraghan concluded, "for all who entered this territory are known, and the only instance that seems apt to have had any connection with this find was the death, in 1680, of the Franciscan missionary, Father Ribourde. He was killed by the Kickapoos down near Peoria, and his grave never was found. However, there is little likelihood they would have brought the remains this far north.

"Unquestionably these articles are of French origin, and I am sure they date back to the seventeen hundreds. So few of this character ever have been dug up that I cannot say who could definitely place them.

"Father Ribourde was a missionary companion of the famous Father Hennepin, who came to Fort Creve-Coeur (Broken Heart), which Robert Cavalier, Sieur de La Salle built across the river from what now is Peoria. Father Hennepin already had started northward to explore the Mississippi, a mission given him by La Salle, when Ribourde was killed. Father Hennepin went back to Canada by way of Mackinac, and returned to Europe, where he died."

Peterson exhibited a large number of Indian relics—spearheads, arrow tips, and bits of pottery—picked up at the scene of the discovery. These prove how frequently the site had been used as a camping ground by the Indians. Stones even beneath the present surface of the soil show from their blackened condition that they had come in contact with fire.

The spot was on the usual route from Canada to the Mississippi, Father Garraghan pointed out, and was frequently visited by missionaries, French voyageurs, courriers du bois, explorers, traders, and others.

It has been suggested that if the men were traders the ornaments of the fox and beaver were signs that may have been useful to them in traveling among certain tribes, while laymen often carried crosses and other emblems of religious faith.

When Rouged Lips Meet Linen Napkin, Pity the Napkin!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

O, my sisters of the lipstick cult, they're after us at last! Retribution is about to be exacted of us. Not because of germ scattering this time, either! Worse'n 'at. We can avoid occasions of germ spreading with a stout heart and a mind for other things. But this new penalty threatened is something we can't avoid if we accept the boy friend's invitation to dine with him, or even if we respond in the affirmative to the old school chum's invitation to have lunch with her downtown.

It's the hotel and the restaurant people that are after us, this time. They don't like our lip monograms on their linen not stamped in red. Weather proof, water proof, or kiss proof the lipstick coloring may be, as suggested by Elizabeth Clark, energetic young newspaper scout who ferreted out the hotel keeper's loathing, but linen proof they are not. And the excess cost of laundry resulting from the vivid lip monograms is what irks the managers into a proposed movement to charge the customer extra for lipstick stains.

I don't know what lesson can be drawn from the above, if any. For we women certainly will continue on the principle that it is better to let the hotel napkins suffer than to let our lipstick energy languish. But at least it disposes, in a measure, of the old query about whither goest the paint? Man will have to answer about the disposition of the balance, unless he's a good scout and refuses to incriminate the fair one.

But speaking of lipstick's crimson stain, as we seem to be doing, if you are going in for summer-tan makeup, you may have to change the tone of your lip stain. One can get a horrible result from a lipstick coloring that under ordinary makeup circumstances serves well enough, but not in close proximity to the Indian complexion. Both eye and lip colors may have to be freshly adopted to agreeably complement the light mahogany cheek. Try blue for the eyes. It has been voted the best, along with sun-tan cheek tinting.

Pipe down on the lip shade if the cheeks are outstandingly different, or you'll look like one of those modern paintings that might as well be called Great Gobs of Paint, as anything else.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MISS G. V.: UNLESS THERE IS eye strain an eyewash is not necessary. Applying a warm cloth to the closed lids and letting it remain there for a couple of minutes every night will release the eye muscles from the set position they have been in and rests them. In the morning use a cold water application.

Good Listener Is Ace High with the Strong Sex, Gals

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Instead of the strong, silent men heretofore advertised as God's gift to humanity, it is strong eared, silent women the world can use many more of, it seems. The romantic world, anyway!

What men want from women to make our lovers' lanes more alluring high-or-by-ways is less talk and more listening.

In a symposium conducted by a metropolitan daily in which the opinions of men of note are reported on the burning question of the kind of woman man likes, the theme of the strong, silent woman (a woman must be strong to be silent) is emphasized again and again. So, if you didn't make the altar in the June rush, gals, you know what you have to do to get in under the October quota.

It isn't so much, we take it, that a man wants to be married to a dumb wife. He just wants her to kill that impulse to say what she thinks about it, unless she can say it in few words. And the fewer, the better!

Interruption is not welcome unless it can be edited into "That's just what I think!" Or, "You're right—as you always are!" etc., etc.

There is nothing new in the idea. Coming as it does from the lips of wise men, it simply confirms what every clever woman knows deep down, and what the cleverest of them have been practicing for ages.

It may not set well with the modern girl all het up on the subject of prohibition, the tariff, or citizenship injustices to woman. She has opinions and she wants to air them. She has just as much right to a speaking mind and the instrument of its delivery as the next fellow. She has convictions, righteous some of them; some of them a bit ahead of the times. What good are they bottled up inside of her? She's got to speak them in meeting.

But if the meeting is herself and boy friend, the sad truth is that she were better without convictions than to air them at any length. Maybe she'd better write them home to mother, if she has to get them out of her system. Mother'd understand. She knows men. Also, she knows that the strong-minded, opinionated darling of her own sex is not anything she is particularly anxious to have around during an hour anticipated with pleasure.

Little Harbor Club to Open on 26th of July

BY THALIA

The Little Harbor club at Harbor Springs, Mich., organized by about 30 of the summer residents of Harbor Point, Wequetonsing, and Roaring Brook, is to have its formal opening on July 26.

Those festivities will include a reception and tea in the afternoon, followed by a dinner dance in the evening, and later a midnight supper. Guests will congregate from Charlevoix, Mackinac, and other nearby watering places.

The new clubhouse, recently completed, is located at the water's edge near Harbor Point on Little Traverse bay, and commands an unobstructed view of the harbor and its environs. Immediately in the rear of the clubhouse and adjoining the enclosed porch is the swimming pool, on each side of which are tennis courts.

Automobile garages for members and piers and motor boat slips flank the building on either end. The purpose of the organization was to provide better yachting facilities and entertainment for visiting yachtsmen.

The Michigan state open tennis tournament is to be held at the club in August. Chester F. Ericson is president of the club; Byron T. Gifford, the vice president and treasurer; and Robert W. Hyman, the secretary. The board of governors includes Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, William Waller Jr., John Sidney Burnet, James Offield, Dr. Frank E. Pierce, and Hayward Murphy of Detroit. The Chicago members include, besides the officials, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Russell, and Mrs. Charles V. Hickox, the former Mrs. Catherine Barker Spaulding.

The women of the Trinity Episcopal church of Highland Park will see the fruition of almost a year's labors at the benefit tea and bazaar to be given this afternoon at Mrs. Martin J. Insull's Highland Park residence.

Martin, Mrs. George A. Mason, Mrs. Marshall E. Sampsell and Mrs. Robert E. Wood are among the women serving on the committee.

Mrs. W. David Owen is opening her residence at 1145 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest, from 3 to 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for a tea and exhibition of Eleanor Revere Weeden's portraits of children. Miss Weeden, who is an eastern artist, works in pastels and did two lovely things of the two youngest of the Owens' four children, David and Frederica, last winter in Florida. The Randolph Owsleys' small daughter has been posing for her during her stay in Lake Forest.

Gov. Emmerson is to be guest of honor at "Illinois day" at Arlington race track tomorrow afternoon. He is to arrive in the morning to spend the week-end at the Warren Wrights' place at Golf, Ill. The Wrights purchased the former place of the late Frederic W. Upham some years ago, and have beautified it greatly since then.

The Frederick H. Rawsons' new yacht, the Gadfly II., has arrived from the east and is moored in the lake front harbor.

Miss Ann Mitchell of Greenwich, Conn., who was here in the spring for Edwina Litsinger's marriage to Wilbur C. Smith, and her mother, Mrs. John T. H. Mitchell, are to arrive today to visit Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger in Lake Forest for a fortnight. Miss Mitchell is to be one of the guests at the week-end house party Miss Eleanor Litsinger and Miss Theodosia Smith are giving for the Smiths and their wedding attendants at the Lawsonia Country club at Green Lake, Wis. Others in the group will include Henrietta Countiss, Charlotte Eckhart, Frances Wood, Georgianna Whitcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Donald La Chance, Blake Blair, Charles Meyer, Vojta Mashek, Harry Drake, Edmund Mansure, William Jay Drake, and Edward F. Mr. and Mrs. Ivon Stahl Pieters of 2636 Lakeview avenue are being congratulated upon the birth of their third son at the Passavant hospital on Sunday. The baby is to be named Bruce Allison Pieters. Mrs. Pieters, who was Miss Elizabeth Stewart before her marriage, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Stewart of 1244 Astor street. Mr. and Mrs. Graeme Stewart, who were married this spring, returned yesterday from their wedding trip in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDougal Jr. announce the birth of a son on Saturday at St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. McDougal was formerly Miss Helen Curtenius of Kalamazoo, Mich., where the wedding took place last summer.

Sunny Side Up.

While riding on the street car the other day I wanted to get off at Sunnyside avenue, so I walked up to the platform and without thinking I said in a loud, clear voice to the conductor, "Sunnyside up, please."

The large grin on the face of the conductor, as well as those on the faces of several men standing on the platform, helped make this a moment I will long remember as one of my most embarrassing. H. B. B.

"Reduced to $2.98."

I am short and rather stout. Some time ago I attended a great sale down town on sweater coats, and was so pleased on finding one that fit me that I wore it home. Wondering why so many people were snickering as I walked by I glanced in a mirror, and imagine my embarrassment when I discovered I had been strutting proudly down State street with a large tag, marked plainly "Was $5.50, Reduced to $2.98." Dangerous Nan Awaits Sally's Letter Writers

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Are you busy, girls and boys, composing that letter which will win you an invitation to our party at the R-K-O Palace theater on July 24, a week from tomorrow? You know you have only one more day in which to get it to me. I can tell you that the competition this week is pretty stiff, so you'd better concentrate and do your very best bit of convincing so that I'll know just how anxious you are to join the lucky group.

And what a party it's going to be! The movie, "Dangerous Nan McGrew" is one succession of laughs. You'll see a lot of interesting country, too, for the scene is laid up in the great Canadian northwest and you'll be entertained by an aggregation of stars that couldn't help but chase away the blues. It's all about a traveling medicine show that gets mixed up with the Northwest Mounted, with Klondike comedy character, and with wealthy city folk vacationing at a luxurious hunting lodge in the wilderness. Imagine the sort of story that will make.

Helen Kane, the star whom I'm sure you all know, contributes her bit to make the picture a success. She sings a few catchy songs and does some of her tricky dance steps and she clowns in her own original way. And do you know what we'll be doing all the while? We'll probably be hysterical with laughter most of the time or we'll be boop-boopa-dooping it with the star.

And, remember, the movie is only half the show! In addition to it there will be five acts of vaudeville which we'll enjoy from start to finish. Topping the big bill is Louise Groody, the charming star of "No, No, Nanette." She'll be there in person in a dancing and singing act that you'll love.

Another headliner who will perform for us is Georgie Price, the juvenile, who gives imitations of famous actors we all know. His characterizations of Will Rogers, Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor and Raymond Hitchcock are uncanny, they're so true. The others are good acts, too, with marvelous singing, dancing and comedy.

Doesn't all this make you anxious for Thursday, July 24, to arrive? It's going to be a grand party and I'd like to take every one of you to it, but the limit is one hundred and I shall have to select my guests from the letters I receive. Don't forget, you must have your letter reach me by tomorrow morning at the latest and have it include your name, address, and age.

Pictures and Flowers Decorate Accessories

DOROTHY DULIN — PARIS

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Much less paint is worn on the fashionable face this summer and a great deal more on the smart accessories that Parisiennes carry.

Cotton and linen parasols with elaborate hand painted scenes running around them are appearing on the French beaches. It is a fad of the moment to have these scenes painted by some such well known decorator as Jean Dunand, and in colors that pick up your costume shades.

One of these parasols, a creation of Moulin, is shown at the top of the sketch. Not only the painted scenery, but the shape of this sunshade mark it for style distinction. It is made of natural colored linen and has a riverside scene painted in a rectangle at the center top of the parasol. Outside of this a flounce of linen with linen fringe is placed, as a sort of frame to the picture on and under the parasol. The handle is carved ebony.

Another chic accessory to take up painting is the evening slipper. Perugia has in his newest collection evening pumps with lifelike flowers painted around the vamp and on the heels. He also shows polished kid and patent leather evening slippers with enameled flowers encrusted on them as on the slippers shown in our sketch. These slippers are half black patent leather and half pinky beige polished kid.

There is an evening bag to match them, which is also shown here. It is an envelope bag with the upper half black patent and the lower beige kid. The enameled fastening matches the trimmings of the slippers.

ENGAGEMENT

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Dorothe Stover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stover of Butler, Pa., to Theodore Tefft Weldon of Evanston. Miss Stover attended the Ward-Belmont school in Nashville, Tenn., and was graduated from Gray Towers, Beaver college, Philadelphia. Mr. Weldon is a graduate of the University of California and attended the University of Wisconsin. The wedding will take place in September.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Edward, age 4, was taken to church for the first time. After the collection box was passed he turned to his mother and said: "How much did you get mother? I got a nickel."

Keep Open House in Your Heart for Child's Confidences

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

If you want to enjoy nature with your children write to Mrs. Bevans for a list of "Books on the Outdoor World," which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"If your girl or boy doesn't come to you with her or his problems, then you have failed," or something like that, appeared in this column recently.

Whenever I make a general statement I always feel the need immediately of giving exceptions and qualifications for fear that it may be misunderstood. I think the sentence quoted does need a little clearing up, as every generality does.

It is really true that if you've been a companion as well as father or mother to your children, they will come to you with their joys, their interests and ambitions, the small incident of every day, their big and little sorrows, and the serious problems of their lives.

But just because there is a fundamental understanding, an open avenue of communication between you and your children that doesn't mean that they will come to you with every single thing.

Children, even little ones, have their reserve. They think many deep, long thoughts that we never know, and others of which we do sometimes catch a glimmer. Even with these reservations we may consider that we have their perfect confidence.

But girls and boys in their teens have usually a much greater reticence than smaller children. This phase is often a part of adolescence. There are daydreamings, for instance, and thoughts which never will find words, even to another girl or boy, and then there are all those things which adolescent boys and girls have in common with each other. Those are the things they talk about that have nothing to do with adults—even when there is a sweet and close companionship which is destined to last for life between the children and their parents.

Don't feel that you have failed if your growing girls and boys aren't as free with you in everything as they are with other young people. We parents must accept this plain fact—that we cannot take the place of other children with our own.

Food Talk.

In every way that vegetables are scored for appearance, flavor, texture, and food value—carrots rank high. But with all these fine qualities, carrots are not receiving the recognition they deserve. One reason why they are not consumed more is that so many people dislike them. And, unfortunately, much distaste can be traced to poor cooking.

It is a culinary triumph to cook and serve carrots in such a pleasing manner that the worst objector cannot resist them, and this is easily done if we strive for just two things—to preserve the beautiful color and to retain the natural, sweet, rich flavor.

The color is one of the most brilliant found in vegetables and it is a color rather difficult to spoil in cooking. Steaming and pressure cooking are the two best methods for preserving it. Boiling ranks next. A nice product results if carrots are boiled in a covered kettle [unlike green vegetables that must be cooked uncovered] in just enough water to cook until tender. But be sure there is enough water, because the sugary juice in carrots scorches easily and spoils both color and flavor.

If some water still remains when the vegetable is tender, the kettle should be uncovered and the water quickly evaporated. This requires constant watching. Carrots contain considerable sugar and minerals which dissolve in the cooking water. When this is drained off there is necessarily a considerable loss of the naturally fine, sweet flavor.

A number of cooks hold that less sugar and minerals will be lost if the carrot is cut lengthwise rather than crosswise. In lengthwise cutting the cellular structure is kept more intact. Numerous tests of the minerals left in the cooking water from carrots cut both ways, however, show little difference in favor of lengthwise cutting.

In steaming there is almost no loss of nutrients and any method of cutting may be used. Carrots should be cooked only until done, and no longer. The time depends on the size and age of the carrots. Testing for tenderness should be done often. Fifteen minutes is usually enough for young carrots and thirty minutes for old.

Carrots are most inexpensive. Can you think of another vegetable that can be bought for 8 or 10 cents and will serve 4 or 5 people adequately? They are a rich source of vitamins A, B, C, and D and are good providers of calcium, phosphorus, and iron. They are as good for children as for adults. If you are still a failure in eating cooked carrots, then try eating them raw.

NEW CARROT DISH

PARSLEYED CARROTS.

1 bunch new carrots
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Wash carrots and scrape off outer skin. Slice crosswise or lengthwise. Cover with boiling water, add salt and sugar and cook in a covered kettle until tender. Cooking requires about 15 or 20 minutes, depending on the age of carrots and the thickness of the slices.

The cooking water should be evaporated rather than drained off. This can be done by uncovering the kettle and increasing the heat. Watch this process carefully so as not to burn. When vegetable is practically dry, add butter, then parsley. Turn into a warm dish and serve immediately.

Precautions.

Steam your carrots if you can; if you have no steamer, boil them until just dry, add the butter, toss in parsley and serve at once. If you do this the effect of the steaming brilliant orange discs shining through the melted butter and the cool green parsley will be most pleasing. Once your family or guests taste perfectly cooked and attractively served carrots they will never resist them again.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Clothing Needed.

"I have been out of the hospital only a short time and haven't been able to provide my children with the clothing they need. My girl is 12 and the boys are 10 and 5 years of age. I support them by working in a rooming house and do not earn enough to buy wearing apparel and pay my doctor bills. My sister is in need of clothing, too, size 40 or 42. We will be grateful for anything you can do for us. MRS. H. C."

In addition to a great deal of sickness, this poor mother has had the support of three children to worry about. If you can assist her with the clothing they need at this time, it should relieve her of much of the burden.

HIBERNIANS ASK CONGRESS PROBE PACIFIST ORDERS

Carnegie Foundation Hit Among Others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 15.—A congressional investigation of the secret workings of international institutions in the United States, such as the Carnegie Foundation, the English Speaking union, and others, is recommended in a resolution adopted by the national board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America, now in session at Montreal. The resolution reads:

"We marvel at the skill with which alien propaganda is being insidiously carried on against the United States.

Blamed for Navy Agitation.

"We are convinced that its influence is responsible for the agitation against the construction of an adequate American navy, urging the cancellation of war debts to the United States, favoring the enmeshing of the republic in foreign alliances, and for the recent widespread attacks upon our economic policies. Pressure along these and other lines is being continually exercised by sundry international institutions such as the Carnegie Endowment, the Sulgrave institute, the Pilgrims' society, and the English Speaking union.

"Therefore, we advocate a congressional investigation of the secret workings of at least the most notorious of these organizations."

Condemns Naval Pact.

Another resolution adopted condemned the London naval pact as "a pretence at disarmament, the effects of which will be the continued domination of the seas by Great Britain and the surrender of the surest guarantee of justice and world peace—a navy commensurate with the commercial needs of the United States."

Another resolution urged repeal of the national origins provision of the United States immigration law.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—George Lawrence Cassidy, nationally known as the "Man in the Green Hat" was convicted this afternoon by a jury of four women and eight men on a charge of transportation and possession of liquor.

Cassidy was arrested in front of the senate office building last October while preparing to enter the building with a bottle of colored alcohol in his pocket. The alleged bootlegger has gained much notoriety because of the number of times he has been arrested for dry law violations in the vicinity of the senate office building.

Cassidy faces a possible sentence of five years in the penitentiary and a $5,000 fine or both under the Jones law. Officers of the police liquor squad testified they had trailed Cassidy to the building where senators have their offices and had arrested him as he was taking a bottle into the structure.

PLAN TO TRANSFER WATERWAY CONTROL OVER TO GOVERNMENT

Springfield, Ill., July 15.—(AP)—Steps to expedite the transfer of the Illinois waterway from state to federal control were taken today at a conference between state officials and representatives of the war department.

The chief obstacle in the way of turning over the waterway is lack of a federal appropriation for the maintenance and improvement of the river until next March. Gov. Louis L. Emmerson indicated, however, the state would lend the federal government $2,000,000 for this work if the loan could be arranged legally.

"While I am anxious to hasten the completion of the lake-to-the-gulf waterway, and have no objection to loaning the government the money, I wish to be certain the money will be available when we want to build bridges," the governor said.

The $2,000,000 which the government wants to borrow from the state is part of the waterway fund. Gov. Emmerson said just about enough of this fund was now unspent to pay for bridges which must be constructed when the Illinois river is deepened for barge transportation.

Present plans call for spanning the river in places. Under the law, at least 10 of these bridges must be built out of the special waterways fund. The other two bridges probably will be built by the highway department.

CUSTOMS CALLS AGENTS EAST TO HALT RUM FLOW

Washington, D. C., July 15.—[Special.]—All available customs agents in the Florida and Detroit areas have been ordered to the New York, Vermont and Maine border to combat a rapidly increasing flow of overland smuggled liquor from Canada, it was disclosed at the treasury today. The increase in rum smuggling in the eastern area followed closely, it was said, the passage of the Canadian export law banning the export of liquor to the United States.

War Vet, Legally Dead, Asks Court to Revive Him

Galesburg, Ill., July 15.—[Special]—Percy C. Deulen of Terre Haute, Ind., world war veteran, filed a petition in County court here today to have a decree filed some years ago legally pronouncing him dead set aside, in order that he may adminster the estate of his mother, who died Saturday night at her home in Yates City.

Deulen, formerly of Galesburg, had been missing since 1920. In 1927 his mother, Mrs. Florence E. Miner, took out letters of administration for his estate on the theory he was dead. Deulen appeared at his mother's home on July 4, only a few days before she died.

CUBS BEAT BRAVES, 5-3; MEET ROBINS TODAY

He May, if Mandell's Too Coy.

Fight Decisions

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 15.—The best minds of the prizefighting business agree that Samuel Mandell has seen his best years and is due to yield up the lightweight championship to Al Singer Thursday evening, but as to this, your correspondent, not knowing, can't say.

Singer has been taking boxing lessons from Benny Leonard at an upcountry place in the Delaware Water Gap, like the poor but ambitious fiancée of a rich and socially refined millionaire learning to fan soup in a manner comporting with her new position on the eve of the wedding. The boy is a right hand puncher, and Mr. Leonard has been teaching him certain mysterious knacks of the wrist and elbow for use in case the right hand doesn't land.

Three Strikes in Each Punch.

It seems that a truly expert prizefighter has three strikes in each right hand punch. First, there is the glove, but if the glove just goes on past, then there is the wrist, and if that misses the follow through brings the elbow along. It probably is too late now, but it seems a serious oversight that the Singer boy didn't have William Stribling and Chuck Wiggins in his camp to show him what to do with his thumbs, his skull, and his knees, bearing in mind that fouls don't count in the New York ring.

Samuel has deteriorated after ten years of prizefighting, but I do not believe there are any prizefighters, active or passé, who can give him any instructions in the wiles of his business, and the question before the attendance on Thursday evening will be whether Sammy has gone the way that Dempsey went. He is not a natural lightweight any more and from his persistent steaming and stewing at Gus Wilson's attractive roadside guest house up in the suburbs, I take it that he enjoys no such advantages as were available to Mr. Leonard when he was still fighting here as champion 145 pounds lightweight of the world.

"Well, Boys, He Made It."

Samuel will have to step on the scales under public conditions, probably with old William Muldoon glaring at the bar, but the last weighing-in of Mr. Leonard, who now reminisces of his own career with modest superiority, was attended by doubt, deception, and sleight of hand. That was a few hours before he fought Leftie Lewie Tendler at the Yankee stadium, a bout promoted by and for a coterie of deserving local Democrats who naturally did not desire the champion to weigh in above the 135 pound limit, as this would have nullified the championship quality of their benefit.

Mr. Leonard reported for the weighing, large and rotund and needing only a 50 cent fringe of burlesque comedian's whiskers to pass for Abe Potash just in to watch the proceedings. He and Tendler were rushed into a small room, the door slammed, the key clicked, and before any of the standers-around in the outer room could complain of the outrage the door popped open again and Uncle Will Gibson, Leonard's manager, emerged, exclaiming: "Well, boys, he made it." So the fight drew $452,000.

Mr. Gibson Was Good, Too.

But it was only last winter that I heard of how Mr. Gibson had come to the weighing with a false weight palmed in his hand, to pluck the official counterweight from the scale bar and substitute his own while one of his associates kicked up a row with the Tendler party in the little room, distracting their attention for an instant. Mr. Leonard undoubtedly was a very

Gallant Fox Sulks; May Be Out of Race

BY ARCH WARD.

Gallant Fox, the turf's champion three year old, has become temperamental. He served notice on his trainers yesterday that he has no desire to test his speed with older horses in the Arlington cup Saturday.

WM. WOODWARD.

Earl Sande, who has been astride the Fox in all his victories this season, said the colt sulked throughout yesterday's workout. Unless he shows old form in today's test, he probably will be withdrawn from Saturday's $35,000 race.

William Woodward's great 3 year old has kicked dust in the eyes of every outstanding colt and filly of the season. His victories in the Wood Memorial, Preakness, Kentucky Derby, Dwyer stakes, Belmont stakes, and the Classic have won him a place among the turf's immortals.

Most men owning a colt with such a brilliant record would be satisfied to call it a season. But not Mr. Woodward, the owner of Gallant Fox. He believes he not only has the greatest 3 year old of the day, but the speediest thoroughbred of any age, bar none. He hopes to prove it in the Arlington cup, a weight for age race for horses 3 years old and over. The distance is a mile and a quarter.

The $35,000 prize is not to be overlooked, even for a wealthy turfman like Mr. Woodward. It is particularly alluring for a horse that has a chance to set an all time record for earnings. But friends of the New York banker say it is the desire to demonstrate Gallant Fox's true greatness rather than the chance of breaking a money mark that prompted him to enter the colt in the Arlington cup.

Among the horses Gallant Fox must beat to win the Arlington cup are Blue Larkspur, winner of the Classic last year and the recent Stars and Stripes handicap; Sun Beau, winner of the second Hawthorne Gold cup; Reveille Boy, which came from nowhere to win the last American Derby; Misstep, Toro, Paul Bunyan, Victorian, and Snowflake.

OLD GUARD THINNING OUT.

Cincinnati's release of Long George Kelly brings out the fact that baseball's old guard is passing. The trade which sent Art Shires of the White Sox to the Senators indicates that Walter Johnson thinks Joe Judge's days at first base are limited. Judge is an institution in Washington. It looks like Urban Faber is in his last year as a pitcher for the Sox. All three men have been a credit to baseball. Fans will regret their departure.

A TALE OF TWO FIGHTERS.

Five years ago two lightweights fought one of the greatest bouts New York has seen. The name of one was Sammy Mandell. The other was Sid Terris. When Mandell squares off against Al Singer tomorrow night in defense of his 135 pound title, Terris, who a few years back was labeled the "successor of Benny Leonard," is sure to ponder on the fancies of fate.

Sammy probably will collect upwards of $50,000 as his end of the bout. Terris is fighting around the smaller clubs of New York for $2,500 an appearance.

What brought about this great change in the careers of two brilliant fighters?

This answer probably is as good as any: Mandell has conserved his energy, inside the ring and out. Sammy depends on timely moves. Terris like many promising battlers wasted his stamina on exaggerated motions. He wore out an exceptionally fine pair of legs by needless springing up and down.

Mandell in his Chicago bouts with Jimmy McLarnin and Tony Canzoneri gave evidence that he is slipping. But how many boxers with ten years of ring warfare behind them can match his speed and cleverness?

Whether or not you believe Mandell merits a place among the great lightweight champions of history, there is no denying that his career is an object lesson for ring hopefuls.

BLACK MAJESTY PUTS WESTERN HOPES TO SHAME

BY FRENCH LANE.

Those easterners have a way of shocking our western turf troopers every now and then.

In the Parkview handicap, worth $2,000, which was run at Arlington yesterday, the west sent its two crack sprinters, Silverdale and My Dandy, into action in the seven furlong dash. For reserve forces the west was represented by the American Derby winner, Reveille Boy, Golden Prince, and Uluniu, fast steppers at times.

The lone eastern color bearer was Black Majesty, a son of Black Tony-Herodias, which raced under the green and white jacket of W. R. Coe.

If you had attempted twenty times before the race to tell the westerners that some horse other than Silverdale, My Dandy, Golden Prince, or Reveille Boy would take the track and smother those behind him, you might have escaped uninjured if you had been a fast runner.

Takes Early Lead.

But Black Majesty did just that thing. He jumped into the lead before he had gone a half furlong and his flying heels were dazzling in the eyes of all the western speed demons from then until the finish. He led by two to three lengths most of the way and wound up by beating Golden Prince by a length and a half, with Silverdale third. My Dandy, which had conquered Victorian a few days earlier, was back in the ruck and finished last, Reveille Boy being fourth after closing a big gap, and Uluniu fifth.

Black Majesty had to run the greatest race of his career to keep in front of the western flyers. He stepped the seven furlongs in 1:23 4-5, which tied the track record. He ran the first six furlongs in 1:10 3-5, which also tied the track record for that distance, and ran the half in the dazzling time of :45 4-5. Black Majesty was ridden by Jockey Earl Steffen and in the mutuel speculating paid $11.90 to win, $6.36 to place, and $3.14 to show. Golden Prince was at $5.58 to place and $3.32 to show. Silverdale, the even money favorite, paid $2.40 to show.

Shortly after the easterners quit cheering for Black Majesty a shock awaited them. In the Westmount, which engaged a half dozen three year olds, the easterners backed Swinfield from Walter J. Salmon's stable. He was another even money choice at post time.

Plucky Play Easy Winner.

But the western cold Plucky Play, owned by Norman E. Church, turned up as the winner and he had little trouble doing it, for after taking the lead on the last turn he jumped out far in front of his field and was the winner by six lengths over Fortunate Youth, with the fleet Kentucky filly Galaday third. Swinfield was fourth.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The sudden rise to fame of Cecil Patrick Caraway was temporarily halted yesterday. The young Texas southpaw ran squarely into a devastating barrage of enemy hits and when the firing ceased, Pat, along with his White Sox mates, was on the useless end of a 9 to 5 score in the final with the Yankees. It was the second defeat hung on Caraway during his brief career as a big league workman.

The only salve for the trimming, so far as the Comiskey employés were interested, was that Johnny "Blondy" Ryan, fresh from the Holy Cross campus, bowed himself into the majors in a fashion indicating he was not out of his class. His maiden job was to handle the third base duties, but his chances on defense were too few to mention. However, he was pleasingly active with his bat. He hit a homer with a mate on the runway and later peeled off a single, both against ancient Herb Pennock, the rythmic southpaw, who went to the finish without help from the Yank bull pen.

The Athletics will come to town today. Lyons and Quinn are scheduled to pitch.

Error Gives Sox Run.

The outstanding incident during the first three innings was a run gathered by the Sox in the second. This was made possible by Lazzeri who let Cissell's grounder seep through his hands, the runner going to second on the error. Barnes' infield out put the runner on third, Ryan's first batting attempt in big time resulted in three strikes. Tate, however, produced. He doubled to right and Cissell scored.

Caraway folded up in the fourth as soon as he had accomplished the job of setting down Mr. Ruth on strikes. Lazzeri then doubled to the right field scoreboard. Gehrig lined to center and Barnes should have grabbed the ball, but he stumbled over a blade of grass, and the ball went on its way for a triple, Tony scoring. Gehrig counted on a single by Rice. Chapman's double put Rice on third and he scored the third run of the inning while Mulleavy was tossing out Bengough.

Ryan's Homer Ties Score.

Two runs with which the Sox brought on a 3 to 3 tie in the home fourth resulted entirely from Ryan's homer. Barnes singled with one out and galloped over the plate when the lad from college banged one of Pennock's offerings into the left field stand. Tate then doubled and went to third on a scratch hit by Caraway. This looked like more runs, but they didn't materialize because Byrd made a one handed leap for a healthy drive by Watwood and Mulleavy grounded into a forceout.

The complete dissolution of Caraway as a pitcher began when Chapman singled in the seventh. He scooted home on Byrd's smash into the seats. That made it 5 to 3 in the Yanks' favor, but they kept on going in the eighth. In this round Lazzeri singled and Gehrig doubled. A single and two bagger added two more tallies before Rescuer Walsh could bring the inning to a conclusion. After this the Sox hit home a couple tallies that meant nothing.

TOM ROBINSON'S PUPILS TO ENTER TRIBUNE SWIM

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tom Robinson, who has been swimming coach for 21 of the 25 years he has been associated with Northwestern university, plans to enter a large number of his pupils in THE TRIBUNE'S 100 yard races which will be held in the Lincoln park lagoon July 27.

Mr. Robinson has developed many outstanding stars. But he does not confine his teaching to Northwestern's varsity. During the summer months he instructs the youngsters of Evanston not only in swimming but in life saving. Every day you'll find him at the university pool with his classes. In the last 25 years he has taught more than 25,000.

First Meet for Many.

Several of his group have excellent chances to win the bronze trophies which will be awarded the champions. However, many will compete for the first time, and these are seeking THE TRIBUNE'S merit badges. Every swimmer who completes the 100 yard course in the lagoon will receive a badge.

Any bathing suit acceptable at the city pools or on the beaches will be satisfactory for the races. Dressing room facilities will be provided for all at the Canoe club boathouse.

Preparations for safeguarding the competitors and spectators were completed yesterday. Six life guards assigned from the Lincoln park organization will be augmented by six guards from the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross of which Dr. H. W. Gentles is the head.

No Danger for Novices.

Dr. L. K. Eastman, who has assisted THE TRIBUNE Athletic association in promoting both the Golden Gloves bouts and the Silver Skates Derbies; Dr. Robert McCulley, Dr. H. R. Marsh, and Nurse Grace Meinking will patrol the lagoon in a speed boat.

Many of the youngsters are entering competition for the first time. Their purpose, of course, is to earn merit badges for the 100 yard swim. Perhaps, in future meets, they'll be competitors for the championship awards. In all, 16 prizes will be awarded in the four races in addition to the merit badges.

HITS THREE BALLS IN WATER; CLUBS, CADDY FOLLOW

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 15. — (AP) — William Chapin hit three straight balls into the water hazard at the eighteenth hole of the Greenbrier golf course today.

Then he jumped in himself and rescued balls, clubs, bag, and caddy.

There's Kick in Sox Bats, Yankees Find

The Yankees went away from Comiskey park yesterday with four of the six games played with the White Sox tucked away in their baggage, but they also took with them the knowledge that the Sox can hit in a way that may be embarrassing in future meetings. The Sox as a whole, and the revamped infield in particular, did Manager Donie Bush proud during the series.

DONIE BUSH.

During the six games, the Sox totaled 75 hits and 40 runs in 241 times at bat for a series average of .311. This included 51 singles, 16 doubles, six triples, and two home runs.

The south siders displayed more punch in the first game of the double header Saturday than they have in any other home appearance this season. Twenty hits were responsible for the 11 to 6 victory. They came back with 13 in the second game.

The Sox added 13 double plays to their field record during the series. Five of these were made in the first game of Monday's double header, tying the American league record.

And if that isn't enough, the Sox pitchers held Babe Ruth to five singles in 21 times at bat.

Bat Battalino Keeps Crown by Knockout

Taylor Gets Bout

BUD TAYLOR of Terre Haute, Ind., last night accepted terms for a title bout with Bat Battalino, featherweight champion, at Hartford, Conn., on Aug. 11. The announcement was made by Eddie Long, Taylor's manager.

East Hartford, Conn., July 15.—(AP)—Bat Battalino successfully defended his featherweight championship before the home folks tonight, knocking out Ignacio Fernandez in five rounds of ludicrous action.

Fernandez, never counted out before in fights with the toughest punchers in the featherweight and lightweight divisions, put up an exhibition that had Battalino's rooters laughing in derision, while most of the crowd hooted "fake." It was Battalino's first title defense since winning the 126 pound crown from Andre Routis in this same arena last September.

As early as the first round it became obvious that Fernandez, one of the stiffest punchers in his division, was not long for the challenging rôle. He punched with extreme care and was unable to hit Battalino anywhere but on the elbows and shoulders. The champion boxed carefully through the opening session and most of the work was slow and at close quarters.

The struggle went into its climax with an amazing suddenness in the second round when Fernandez, struck on the elbow, went to the canvas six times before the closing bell rang. He was down for counts of 5, 6, 3, 3, 1, and 4, before the gong called a temporary halt.

With the crowd roaring its disapproval, Bat went out to finish his man in the fifth round. He started him going with another punch to the vulnerable elbow. He finally cornered Fernandez on the ropes and floored him with a left hook to the head and right to the chin. Ignacio dropped on his face, rolled over on his back, and was counted out without a struggle. The fifth round lasted 2 minutes 50 seconds.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 15.—Our Cubs this afternoon knocked off the law abiding Boston Braves, 5 to 3, thus getting themselves in a pleasant state of mind before going to Greater New York for a lot of heavy business.

In evening the Boston series today the Cubs go south three games behind their enemy of the morrow, the league leading Brooklyns, and the day's doings enabled them to gain a game on the Giants, who now are three games behind the Cubs.

It's Osborn's Seventh.

The victory was the fourth out of eleven played on the current trip. It was the second of the trip to be won by Bob Osborn, who now boasts a season total of seven wins to one defeat. Inasmuch as Bud Teachout pitched the other two victories of this journey it readily can be seen that a heavy burden has fallen on Malone, Root, Bush, and Blake, none of whom has won a ball game since Hector was a very small dog.

But the suffering quartet will have plenty of opportunity for action beginning tomorrow in the doubleheader at Brooklyn. Malone and Root will oppose Phelps and Moss in the first games of the five game series.

This afternoon's contest was decided by Gabby Hartnett's 20th homer of the year. He drove in Grimm ahead of him in the sixth to supply the ultimate margin of victory. Other notes of cheer were found in the fact that Cuyler and Wilson did some hitting, a matter that has been causing grave concern these last ten days.

Despite the victory today the Boston series and the preceding four game set, swept by the Reds, go down in the records as grievous disappointments.

Look These Over.

There is, however, no mystery regarding the recent poor showing of the 1929 champions. The following batting figures just about tell the story.

These figures cover the two last series, here and in Cincinnati:

Blair	32	10	.312	Steph'n	24	12	.500
English	34	11	.322	Grimm	27	6	.222
Cuyler	35	9	.243	Hartnett	22	8	.364
Wilson	27	7	.259	Beck	24	5	.208

The game this afternoon did not get through the first inning before the two clubs were in a debate that rivaled in intensity that which closed Sunday's fiasco.

After the Cubs had been disposed of in order in the first half, Richbourg led off with a single, but made a foolish attempt to steal second with the count 2 and 2 against Maranville. He was out, Hartnett to Beck. Then Maranville walked. At this point Berger knocked what the umpires first adjudged his 25th homer of the year. This started the debate, the Cubs arguing that the ball lodged between the stand and the screen, under ground rules a two base hit. Finally the umpires put Berger on second and Maranville on third.

Both Score, Anyhow.

The Cubs started out in the second as if they were going to make a million runs—and they did make one. Wilson shot a line single to right center. Stevie singled to center, Wilson going to third. Hack scored while Grimm was forcing Stevie.

In the fourth the Cubs took a 3 to 2 lead. Cuyler jolted a single off Maranville's glove and went to third on Wilson's single to right. Stevie doubled to left, Ki scoring and Hack stopping at third. The runners held on while Maguire threw out Grimm then Hartnett was given an intentional pass. Beck sent a sacrifice fly to Welsh, scoring Wilson.

The score became 5 to 2 in favor of the Cubs in the sixth inning. Grimm singled to center and Hartnett smacked that No. 20. Cunningham then relieved Frankhouse and put out the fire. The Cubs never got a hit the rest of the way.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

ARGUING WITH BOSS.

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, I received that note from you all right, and I don't know whether or not you intended to be sarcastic when you asked if I didn't think I was spending a great deal of time at Arlington Park, and if I didn't know there were other sporting events in Chicago. Now, Arch, if you intended to be sarcastic, do you think that was fair?

Look back at it, Arch. Didn't I go to Florida for a month last winter and play a lot of golf and do a lot of motoring to report about twelve minutes of fighting in the Sharkey-Scott bout for you? And didn't I charge you only $40 for experience on my expense account? And any one who has been in Florida knows that $40 is a modest, almost ruinous, price for experience.

And didn't I go to New York and spend two weeks for you to see the Belmont stakes, which took a little over two minutes, and the Schmeling-Sharkey fight, which took nearly fifteen minutes? And look at my expense account for that. Did I let that station agent sell me a single bedroom and charge me $20 extra for sleeping alone? No, sir, I was on the level with you.

Now, it's this way, Arch. I once asked a bootlegger why he was in that business, because he seemed such a nice fellow, and he said, with some pride, "It's because I meet so many aristocratic people whom I would not otherwise meet."

That's the way I feel about the races. You meet a lot of folks who ask your opinion about the horses and they think you know something about it because you work on a newspaper, and you don't know any more than they do, but, of course, you pretend you do. Unless I have something special, I just look wise and give them the "0" horse on the program. If it doesn't win it's just one of those things where the favorite loses.

Now, if you're really serious, I won't go out only four times this week. I didn't go yesterday, but I don't claim any credit for that, because I had a note to meet at the bank and in these times one doesn't meet a note even halfway. But Jack Craddock gave me an extension; so that's over for another ninety days.

Now, Arch, please let me know whether you were serious or just razzing me about my liking to go to Arlington Park. There's nothing you want me to go out of town for, anyway, is there? Mandell and Singer tomorrow night is an important battle, but Pegler's there, and we usually don't send two men to anything but heavyweight brawls. Hoping you were just razzing me and with regards,

Harvey T. Woodruff.

"How Hogan Paid His Rent."

We are indebted to Herbert J. K. F. for the words of a topical song of a quarter of a century ago, sung by J. W. Kelly, the Rolling Mill Man. Malachy Hogan, also known as a boxing referee, conducted a place on Clark, opposite the City hall. Here are the words:

He went to Hogan's Tuesday night to ask him for the rent.
"Trate the boys," says Hogan, "or I'll never pay a cent."
"Indeed I won't," says Brady, "and I'll tell you to your face, Until you pay me every red I'll never leave the place."
Both of them were fightin' mad—on murder they were bent—

[CHORUS]

Each gave back the other what they sent,
And the bones that weren't broken were badly bent.
They hugged each other, slugged each other,
With their breaths they drugged each other,

Our Golf Game.

There were only two clubs in our bag with which we occasionally got a fair shot—our No. 2 and our No. 4 irons. One day last week we defaced the fairways at Glen Flora. Returning home, No. 4 was missing, although we had used it on the eighteenth to pitch over the drink after a coupla trips into the cool, invigorating water. We feel badly about it, almost as badly as Bobby Jones might over the loss of "Calamity Jane."

BLACK MAJESTY PUTS WESTERN HOPES TO SHAME

Wins Parkview Handicap; Ties Track Record.

Plucky Boy and in the mutuels he paid $7.24. He ran the mile in the fast time of 1:36 4-5, which was close to the track record.

The big mid-week crowd at Arlington got its greatest steeplechase thrill in the Iroquois Hunt at two miles. The seven contestants raced closely grouped and jumped in a fine way for most of the distance.

Devil Kin, owned by James Simpson Jr. of Chicago and ridden by F. Preece, was the winner. He took the fences on the difficult course better than any chaser to perform here. Finishing second to him was Val Crane's Personality, and Valorous, the heavily backed favorite, was third.

But there came a disqualification. Rounding the last turn Personality and Indigo from Joseph E. Widener's stable both ran inside the beacon. They were disqualified. This moved Valorous into second place and Crumpler got third money.

Devil Kin had his backers and when he ran the two miles in four minutes, breaking the track record, he rewarded his followers at $7.94 in the mutuels.

HELEN MOODY LEAVES NEW YORK FOR COAST TODAY

New York, July 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who returned on Monday from her successful invasion of European courts, will leave on the Twentieth Century tomorrow afternoon en route to her home in California.

The holder of the American, English and French championships plans to remain on the Pacific coast until Aug. 3 or 4, when she will set out for New York again to defend her national title in the women's championship starting at Forest Hills Aug. 16.

Mrs. Moody had planned to get in a few hours of practice at the West Side Tennis club before her departure but decided instead to utilize the short time she is remaining here in shopping. Upon her return to the east she will have a week in which to prepare herself for the championship.

SMITTY—HIGH AND DRY

16 Seeded Net Stars Survive Second Round

Kansas City, Mo., July 15.—(AP)—Sixteen tennis players from all sections of the nation, except the west—the same 16 seeded Sunday as the best in the 1930 national clay courts tournament—tonight had advanced to the third round.

Despite the array of talent gathered from coast to coast, no player has arisen to confound a ranking star. One match today, however, thrilled the gallery as Bryan Grant Jr., midget Atlanta, Ga., entry, fresh from conquests in the south and seeded No. 13, met spunky opposition from the lanky Stanley Almquist, Berkeley, Cal., player on his way home from the intercollegiate tournament.

The tall Californian swept through the first set at love. Then to the consternation of the fans, Grant took the second set at love and completed the contest, 6-1, stroking lightly to the eager Pacific coast boy, who almost invariably slarumed outside.

Tomorrow Grant meets the defending champion, Emmett Pare of Dayton O., who today advanced easily by defeating Karl Kamrath, Dallas, 6-2, 6-2.

Julius Seligson, New York City, who has advanced two rounds without playing, because of defaults, is paired tomorrow with Harris Coggeshall, Des Moines, who today eliminated "Doc" Barr, Dallas, 6-3, 6-2.

Blow by Polo Mallet Injures Hitchcock

Newport, R. I., July 15.—[Special.]—Thomas Hitchcock Jr., international polo star, came here today on William Larrimer Mellon's yacht Vagabondia, suffering with a severe pain in his side where he was hit by a polo mallet several days ago. He was taken ashore to the office of a doctor who examined him and said the injury was not serious. Hitchcock left late today for New York.

Bobby Vernon Knocks Out Ray Tremblie in 1st Round

WESTERN GOLF MEET TO OPEN HERE MONDAY

The most important golf tournament to be held in Chicago this summer will begin Monday at the Beverly Country club when approximately 200 players will challenge Don Moe of Portland, Ore., for his western amateur title.

The first two days will be devoted to 36 holes of qualifying play, after which the 32 competitors whose scores are lowest will continue in quest of the title. Match play will start on Wednesday, the first four rounds being at 18 holes, with a 36 hole final on the following Saturday.

Plays on Walker Cup Team.

It was in this event last season that Moe first came into national prominence. As a reward for his victory he was chosen as a member of the American Walker cup team and made good in decisive fashion by defeating Stout in the singles matches at Sandwich. He was beaten in the first round of the British amateur at St. Andrews, but came right back and finished well up in the British open at Hoylake.

As a result of the experience gained in this campaign on foreign soil, Moe is expected to put up a stubborn fight in defense of his title against some of the best amateurs of the country. To win again he will be forced to stand off the challenge of such sharpshooters as Chick Evans, T. P. Perkins, Jack Westland, Gus Novotny, Don Armstrong, Keefe Carter, Russell Martin, and many other formidable foes.

Chance for Dark Horses.

Besides these there will be many dark horses having a good chance of victory. Few golf fans ever heard of Gilbert Carter of Nevada, Mo., until last year's western amateur at Kansas City, but before he was through he had overthrown a number of the favorites and succumbed only after an extra hole match with Don Moe in the finals. It is equally probable that some little known player will rise to prominence this year at Beverly.

The course has been altered and made much more difficult in anticipation of the tournament. Tees have been set back and additional hazards have been placed.

The layout is such that the winner will have to be capable of getting great distance off the tee and if his approaches wander ever so little from the line to the pin they will land in one or another of the formidable traps.

Mrs. Jones Beats Miss Vilas, 1 Up, in Western Open Golf

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Eight women remained in the running for the women's western open golf championship at the end of yesterday's matches at the Acacia Country club. Most of the favorites survived their first round encounters, but did so only after meeting with stubborn resistance.

MRS. MELVIN JONES.

Mrs. Melvin Jones of Lincolnshire was pressed hardest of all when she was forced to the nineteenth green before defeating Virginia Vilas of Glen View. The finish came in spectacular fashion when Mrs. Jones holed a 35 foot chip for a birdie four. All through the match her putting was uncertain, while Miss Vilas was doing some of her best work on the greens.

Mrs. Zech's Par 4 Wins.

Mildred Hackle of Midlothian traded stroke for stroke with Mrs. Lillian Zech of Tam o' Shanter and they were all square at the end of 17 holes. Then Miss Hackle three putted for a six and Mrs. Zech took the match with a par four. Miss Hackle was formerly western junior champion while Mrs. Zech now holds the state public parks title.

Mrs. John Arends of Kildeer, who had tied for medal honors with Mrs. Lee Mida, was badly off her game yesterday and fell before Helen Macmorran of Indian Hill, 5 and 4. Mrs. Arends took a 49, eight strokes over par, on the first nine.

Mrs. Mida also was erratic and had five three putt greens on the home ninth of her match with Ruth Wilsey, but she managed to hang onto the lead and win, 2 up.

The others to come through to the quarter finals were Mrs. J. H. Indig of Tampa, Fla., June Beebe of Olympia Fields, Rena Nelson of Exmoor and Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge. The summaries follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Mrs. Lee Mida, butterfield, beat Ruth Wilsey, Bunker Hill, 2 up.

There's Still Time to Enter Tribune Golf

With match play under way, new entries continue to pour in for THE TRIBUNE'S public links golf tournament. If you are not already one of the competitors, there's still time to get in, as another group of pairings will be announced Friday and still more at a later date.

To get into these matches you have to do nothing out of your regular routine. Just play 18 holes of golf on any course you choose at any time you find convenient. Then write your name and address on your card and mail it to THE TRIBUNE golf editor.

Matched with Equals.

You will be matched against an opponent whose score indicates that his skill is about equal to yours. If you shoot 118, your opponent will be selected from among those who send in a similar score.

Watch THE TRIBUNE for the pairings and as soon as your name appears, play another 18 hole round at your earliest convenience. Then mail your card a second time to THE TRIBUNE golf editor after writing on it your own name and that of your opponent.

Meanwhile your adversary will be playing an 18 hole round on some course of his own choosing and he will send in his score to be matched against yours. This will be continued throughout the summer and in the end prizes will be awarded those who have won the greatest number of matches.

Send Cards in Early.

Go out today and play your trial round, or if your name has already appeared in the pairings get your second card in as soon as possible so that your opponent will not be kept waiting too long before finding out whether he has won or lost.

You'll find that you'll get a great deal more thrill out of the game if you're shooting against a definite opponent instead of against your own best score.

Perkins' 65 Ties Course Record at Edgewater Hy-Jinx

Hy-Jinxers at Edgewater yesterday saw Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields and Phil Perkins of the British Walker cup team peril the course record of 65 established by Chick Evans three years ago. Lehman missed the record by one stroke with a 66, but Perkins made good his threat by tying the mark.

The 18 hole low net in the morning went to J. P. McNulty of Ridgemoor, 76—5—71. Second low net went to Hank Bartholomay, 71—2—69.

Low gross foursome was won by D. A. Mattson, Edgewater; H. C. Barth, Edgewater; Martin Hill, Bunker Hill; W. H. McGee, Bunker Hill. Their total was 617.

The low net foursome was won by J. D. O'Donovon, Edgewater; P. J. Brennan, Edgewater; J. B. McCue, Crystal Lake, and E. J. Sallon, Illinois, with 694—135—559.

J. B. Gerard and H. Rautenbusch were tied with 75 for low gross in the Chicago District Golf association's monthly invitational meet at Midlothian yesterday. Gerard won the toss.

The new handicap list of the Chicago District will be out next week and the meet yesterday was the last chance of local golfers to adjust their official ratings. John Dawson, the new professional, toured the course in 74. Low net went to J. L. O'Neal of Flossmoor with 76—12—64. J. E. Gaggot of Wheaton was runnerup with 84—17—67. Other leading scores:

W. Perkins, Mission Hills	85	16 69
W. K. Roney, Mission Hills	88	19 69
C. M. Bergstrom, Flossmoor	84	14 70

Freeman Lake Abounds with Silver Bass

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago fishermen who want to step into an interesting fish parade can do so this month by going to Freeman lake near Monticello, Ind., because the white or silver bass have ganged together on the surface and now are traveling around in large schools. They put on quite a show mornings and evenings and better yet they strike an artificial lure. Any angler who hasn't seen the white bass play or caught this species is bound to find these experiences worth while.

Freeman lake is a long and winding body of water formed by the Oakdale dam in the Tippecanoe river. This lake, which is only four or five years old has turned out to be an excellent fishing hole. At the start it had a large variety of fish.

The state has stocked the lake year after year so that today one has a good chance to secure a mess of fish including small mouth bass, crappies white bass, bluegills, etc. The fish have plenty of cover because there are tree tops, stumps and other debris along some stretches of shoreline.

While traveling down the Tippecanoe river last week on THE TRIBUNE'S annual Boy Scout cruise we camped on Lake Freeman one night and early the following morning we went out on the lake to get acquainted with the white bass which the Hoosiers call silver bass.

They were in large schools and dozens of them could be observed working on the quiet surface of the lake as they rushed and struck schools of shad minnows. Some times half of their bodies would be out of water.

WILL AL SINGER RELEASE THAT 'MIGHTY' RIGHT?

Anyway, inasmuch as Mr. Leonard is now a journalist, I do not think I shall write any more pieces about him because these members of the sweaty literati never give common journalists any publicity. Nowadays it is hard to pick safe subjects for newspaper essays, for after a certain amount of mention an athlete becomes a professional rival, like Tilden, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, and Primo Carnera.

The Garden corporation first expected the patrons to contribute about $300,000 for Thursday evening's contest, but for some reason that defies analysis the sales to date have just passed $100,000 and Frank Bruen, the business manager of the Garden firm, now contents himself with an estimate of $225,000. He thinks the patrons are pouting because the last three gala productions around here, all heavyweight fights, ended with the winners lashing and heaving on the floor while their seconds and friends piled through the ropes, with their holsters showing, bawling "don't get up; you're fouled!"

But it would be your correspondent's guess that the patrons just don't care much for Sammy Mandell because he has never knocked anybody out in any of his numerous fights around here. The patrons respond in due proportion to the probable brutality of a prize fight, and Sammy has never done anything to any of his opponents that gentleman couldn't do to a lady after some little acquaintance. That is to say, he pats them on the cheek or chin and sometimes gives them a shy little hug, but he positively never has been known to knock any one down in the vicinity of New York.

Al Has K. O.'d Eight.

The Singer boy has come to be regarded as a knockout puncher, dealing them off the right hand, but this reputation he carries over from his apprentice days when he knocked out about a dozen of his colleagues, all of them unknown to fame and some of them, possibly creatures of his press agent's imagination. In the last two years he has knocked out eight opponents, all hulks or natural mediocrities, and he is still a trifle bashful when dealing with game fighters who hit hard.

It appears that Singer's manager has assured him that Sammy will not hit hard, and this may embolden the boy to belt Samuel in the chin with his right. That would be interesting but there is no assurance that he will do it and accepting precedent as their guide, the customers probably anticipate 15 rounds of skillful boxing than which there is no more exasperating spectacle known to them.

STEERS SUSPEND ALEXANDER; ASK WAIVERS ON HIM

Dallas, Tex., July 15.—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, former big league pitcher, now on the pay roll of the Dallas club of the Texas league, again has been suspended for breaking training.

Old Alex recently was signed by the Dallas management at a considerable salary—both in the hope that he would prove a good gate attraction and that he would stage a comeback. His suspension was announced tonight.

Waivers were asked for him and any club in the league has the privilege of claiming him within twenty-four hours upon the payment of $1,500 to the Dallas club. Alexander was absent from the park yesterday and failed to show up again today, when he was assigned to pitch.

Profit taking which developed during yesterday's trading on the Chicago Stock Exchange held prices fairly well in check, but on the whole the tone at the close was strong, with a considerable number of the issues making fractional advances. The new set will not be sold under the Zenith name, but will bear a new trade mark. Distribution is expected to start in August. Mr. Klugh also intimated that the Zenith company during next year plans to furnish its dealers with products other than radios to permit dealers to operate the year around on a profitable basis.

Reports Sales Gain.

In the general division Electric Household was up a ½ point to finish at 42½. E. N. Hurley Jr., president of the company, said yesterday that July sales of Thor washing machines were double those of the same month in 1929, while sales for the first half of this year are ahead of sales in the same period last year.

Monighan sales for the first six months of 1930 were reported yesterday as being 646,000 in comparison with $288,000 for the same period of last year.

Monsanto Chemical Works.

Please advise regarding an investment in the common stock of the Monsanto Chemical Works.—W. W. E.

Monsanto Chemical Works has been in business for nearly thirty years. At its St. Louis plant it manufactures fine and medicinal chemicals, condiments and flavors. Plants are also operated in Monsanto, Ill., Norfolk, Va., and Woburn and Everett, Mass. Graesser-Monsanto Chemical Works, Ltd., is its British subsidiary. In 1929 it acquired Rubber Service Laboratories company, an Ohio corporation engaged in the manufacture of accelerators and anti-oxidents for the rubber industry. Merrimac Chemical company of Boston was also acquired last year.

The company's earnings have increased rapidly in the last few years, notably in 1929 as a result of expansion. Consolidated net profit in 1929 was $1,921,142. Of this amount $546,041, representing profits earned by subsidiaries prior to acquisition, was transferred to capital surplus. Last year's profits were equal to $4.25 per share. The 1929 figures cannot well be compared with those of the preceding year because of the acquisition of several companies in 1929.

As of Dec. 31, 1929, current assets were $6,832,092 and current liabilities were $1,379,343, leaving a net working capital of $5,452,749. Capital surplus was $3,193,534 and earned surplus was $2,487,821. There were outstanding 398,286 no par shares and a funded debt of $1,748,500.

The business of the company has shown steady improvement since the early part of 1930, but profits are believed to be running somewhat lower than last year. Net profit in the first quarter was $293,170, or 73 cents per share. The company's business for the rest of 1930 will depend largely on the trend of general business.

During 1929, $1,000,000 was spent on plant improvements and charged to current operating expenses. To reflect this investment of earnings the company is paying quarterly stock dividends of 1½ per cent in addition to regular quarterly cash dividends of 31¼ cents.

Central Illinois Public Service.

How do you regard Central Illinois Public Service company first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, series G, which are due on Nov. 1, 1968?—J. H. R.

Boston and Albany R. R.

Will you please advise me the standing of Boston and Albany 4¼ per cent bonds, due in 1978?—S. C. L.

The Boston and Albany railroad $5,700,000 guaranteed improvement 4¼s, due Aug. 1, 1978, recently offered, are a sound investment.

PLAN GASOLINE PIPE LINE FROM OKLA. TO CHICAGO

The Great Lakes Pipe Line company has been formed by the Continental Oil company and the Barnsdall corporation for the purpose of constructing a 1,400 mile gasoline pipe line from Oklahoma to Chicago, it was announced yesterday.

E. B. REESER.

This is the longest gasoline pipe line project undertaken and the fourth major line of its kind to be either planned or built under the present revolutionary methods of transporting gasoline into areas of large consumption, it is said. The capacity of the line will be 30,000 barrels daily, and laying of the pipe will start about Aug. 15.

The line, which will cost approximately $12,000,000, will involve no immediate public financing, although it is believed that ultimately a bond issue will be publicly offered to pay for part of its construction. The management of the line will be by the Continental Oil company, which, it is understood, will own a substantial majority interest. D. J. Moran, president of the Continental Oil company, will be president, and E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall corporation, chairman of the board. Although these two companies are the only ones involved in the undertaking at present, other substantial interest, it is said, may be taken in later.

STEEL AND OIL BOTH PROVIDE CHEERING NEWS

Former Expands as Latter Contracts.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Moderate expansion in operations of the steel industry during the last week and another large decline in petroleum production were the most cheerful items in yesterday's news.

While greater activity of the steel mills was in the nature of a rebound from the July 4 holiday period, it led to hopes that the present level of operations will be practically maintained during the summer. The drop in petroleum production was construed as a further move to rectify overproduction and excessive supplies.

Steel ingot output for the country now is reported above 57 per cent of capacity, compared with 48 per cent during the holiday period. The United States Steel corporation moved up from 56 to 63 per cent and the independent concerns made even sharper recovery because their curtailment had been more drastic. They moved up from 42 to 52 per cent of capacity. But both the U. S. Steel and independents are below the last week of June, when the former was around 69 per cent and the latter about 59 per cent, with the average for the country about 64 per cent.

Situation Last Year.

At this time last year, the whole industry was around 95 per cent, with U. S. Steel at 99 per cent and independents about 91 per cent. Two years ago, the average was 69½ per cent, with U. S. Steel at 73 per cent and independents around 67 per cent.

Daily average gross crude oil production last week totaled 2,530,800 barrels, a decline of 50,700 barrels a day, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroluem institute. The largest factor was a decline of 39,900 barrels a day in Oklahoma, where oil operators yesterday agreed to reduce output an additional 100,000 barrels daily to 550,000 barrels a day until Aug. 31. This output will represent only 18 2-3 per cent of the state potential production, which was estimated between 1,350,000 and 1,400,000 barrels a day.

On the other hand, California expanded its output by 9,600 barrels a day last week. Its production was 613,100 barrels a day instead of the agreed figure of 596,000 barrels fixed recently by a state committee. This overproduction of about 17,000 barrels a day was said to result from inability to curtail output in some fields.

May Stimulate Recovery.

The likelihood that the present period of low commodity prices will stimulate business recovery is set forth in the current CHICAGO TRIBUNE survey.

"Sharp and persistent declines in commodity and security prices were the most noteworthy developments of June," the survey says. "The fact should not be lost sight of that price declines have occurred in the past and that such conditions coming some months after a general business decline have preceded improvements in business and, indeed, have precipitated business betterment. The law of supply and demand tells us that lower prices stimulate buying of most articles.

"It may be, as some have stated so positively, that improvement in business will await recovery in the price level. But history does not suggest that to be the case. Prices began to tumble more promptly in 1920-1921 than they did during the last and current years. However, business recovery did not await the turn in the trend of prices. The bottom of the price decline, which set in during June and July, 1920, was not reached until September, 1922, and yet business began to recover as early as January, 1922, and was brisk before there was any change in the general price level. Prices now favor a business revival and so do money rates."

City and State Land Big Shares in Export Trade

BY SCRUTATOR.

Illinois, and particularly Chicago, have a large and growing share in export trade. A new compilation made by the Illinois Manufacturers association from official data shows that in 1929 the state sent goods of a total wholesale value of $238,762,882 to foreign parts.

This is an increase of thirty-two million dollars over the 1928 export figure, and constitutes a record for all time. The percentage increase was six times as great in this state as in the whole of the country, according to the association, comparing last year with the one before.

It is an interesting commentary on the intricacies of modern business, this statistical demonstration that a series of communities 900 miles from a seacoast can forward to foreigners merchandise valued at more than $30 each for all the inhabitants of the state. The total of the export trade represents something like 4 per cent of the total manufacturing output of that population.

Many Items Listed.

To put it another way, about 25,000 workers could be cared for at current wage rates in processing the exported goods in manufacturing plants. With the normal number of dependents, these would earn a livelihood for 100,000 people.

It might be suspected by those with sketchy knowledge and theories that agricultural products would form the bulk of our foreign trade. In fact, these in the raw state represent a minor fraction of it. Less than two million dollars' worth of wheat went out. Corn was the only raw agricultural material sent out in large quantity—more than ten million dollars.

Figures, furnished originally by the local office of the department of commerce bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, show that there were 58 export commodities moving to foreign countries in a volume greater than a million dollars each, and more than 125 of sufficient value to be listed separately. And the chances are that the totals are really larger by from forty to fifty million dollars, merchandise forwarded to agents in seaports and credited to other states although they originated here.

Tractors Lead List.

The highly manufactured goods were most prominent. Tractors valued at more than twenty-five million dollars led the list, their increase being ten millions over 1928. Lard, although not quite so heavy in the export list as in the years immediately preceding, took second place with more than twenty-three million dollars. Other packing house products showed large gains.

Exports of Illinois radio apparatus, which had never before appeared in the summaries, were more than three million dollars. The outside world purchased nearly seven million dollars of corn starch in the state, more than four millions of telephone apparatus, more than seven millions of electrical machinery, and nearly a million and a half of gasoline refined here. Even chewing gum made in the state was exported to the amount of over $400,000, while our windmills cost the outlanders nearly $700,000.

No separation of the Chicago and downstate figures were made, but it is a good guess that about four-fifths of the exports were from business institutions in the metropolitan area.

SET TIME FOR NEXT FURNITURE WINTER MARKET

Furniture men of the United States will again convene in Chicago from Jan. 5 to Jan. 17, 1931. These dates were set yesterday for the next national funiture market and style show at the American Furniture Mart by the board of governors.

Registration of buyers from retail stores only yesterday passed the 4,600 mark at the exhibition now in progress. Buying was reported to be brisk at many of the display spaces, while others reported fair sales.

Output of Pneumatic Casings Is Reported

New York, July 15.—(AP)—Production of pneumatic casings during the first five months this year exceeded shipments by less than 7 per cent, as compared with 12 per cent for the like period last year, 11 per cent in 1928, 9 per cent in 1927, and 20 per cent in 1926, the Rubber Manufacturers association reports. Shipments of pneumatic casings in May totaled 5,564,236, an increase of 2.5 per cent over April, but a decrease of 22.5 per cent under May last year. Production in May was 6,098,527, an increase of 1 per cent over April, but a decrease of 25 per cent under May last year.

PACIFIC RAIL RATES TO MEET WATER RIVALRY

Washington, D. C., July 15.—(AP)—Pacific coast railroads received interstate commerce commission permission today to make north and south freight rates between California seaports and the north Pacific ports in Oregon and Washington to meet steamboat competition.

The commission's orders, effective Nov. 25, allow the rail line to maintain higher rates to and from intermediate territory and inland points where the water competition is not effective while reducing charges to the seaport areas.

The new adjustments involve situations where rail rates will be higher for short distances than for longer distances over the same routes. The commission placed limits on this for the Pacific rail lines, holding that generally existing rates through intermediate inland points should not be increased above present levels and that intermediate points should not be charged more than 100 per cent above the charges to ports.

Reports May Earnings of 95 Public Utilities

Net earnings of ninety-five public utilities during May, excluding telephone and telegraph companies, totaled $86,000,000, against $89,000,000 in April and $82,000,000 in May, 1929.

Reveals "Agreement" for Division of Steel Business

FRANK PURNELL.

Youngstown, O., July 15.—(AP)—Rumors of agreement to divide the nation's steel business were brought into open court today. Frank Purnell, who rose from the position of office boy to the presidency of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, testified that at a merger meeting in Cleveland last March 11 there was some talk of an understanding between Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel corporation, and Cyrus S. Eaton, heading the Republic Steel corporation and leader of the merger opposition, that Bethlehem was not to come into the west.

Eaton and Grace both were in court as Purnell revealed the discussions at the Cleveland conference, which has come to be known as the "fire escape" meeting because the steel magnates present used that means to escape reporters. The conference was called to discuss Eaton's request for postponement of the merger decision by Youngstown company directors.

Tells of "Understanding."

Purnell asserted something was said also about an understanding between Eaton and Samuel and W. G. Mather.

"Grace admitted he had had a talk with Eaton," Purnell said, "but that referred to conditions existing at that particular time, and he said as long as Sheet and Tube was free he felt he could come into the west."

On April 7 this year, in an action in federal court to enjoin the merger the day before it was voted by the stockholders, Eaton himself testified Grace had told him nothing would tempt Bethlehem to invade the middle west. Eaton did not say there was any agreement or understanding on the matter.

Two basic changes in the steel industry in the Mahoning valley, making necessary alterations in policy, he said, were the introduction of by-product coke ovens in 1917 and the abolishment of the Pittsburgh plus steel price basing in 1923.

Limits Radius.

The coke ovens made river transportation of coal possible, he testified, and placed river plants at a $2 lower assembly cost on each ton of steel. Abolishment of the Pittsburgh plus rate, he said, limited Youngstown's competitive radius.

Purnell described in detail the unsuccessful efforts of the Youngstown company to merge with Inland steel. He said he was very active in negotiations to that end in 1927.

The bulk of Purnell's testimony was in defense of the manner in which the officers of the two steel concerns arrived at the one and one-third shares Bethlehem to one share Youngstown basis for exchange of stock. The Eaton interests have charged the basis was unfair to the Youngstown stock holders.

St. Regis Paper Acquires Bates International Bag

New York, July 15.—(AP)—Acquisition by the St. Regis Paper company of the Bates International Bag company, which in the last few years has licensed a large number of manufacturers to produce multiwall paper bags under Bates patents, was announced today. The announcement said that with this new subsidiary and the Bates Valve Bag company, owned by St. Regis since February, last year, the St. Regis group is provided with coverage in a large part of the world for the development of Bates patents on multiwall bags, cement packers and bag manufacturing machinery. Thirty licensed companies, in many of which Bates International holds a stock interest, operate in several foreign countries.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 15.—Speculative sentiment was toned down a couple of octaves hereabouts today. Some of the boys got to thinking maybe the current stock market recovery was developing too fast to be healthy, in view of the continued uncertainty over general business conditions, and set about to convert their paper profits into actual cash while the converting was good. Others, convinced that a technical reaction was about due, went short on their favorite "doubtfuls."

The result was a good deal of irregularity in the day's trading operations, with a liberal sprinkling of net losses showing up in the final tables. The undertone of the market, however, continued one of strength, with most of the leaders negotiating new high levels for the recovery before profit taking cut down their gains on the day. Gains of from a fraction to 3 points predominated in the day's price changes.

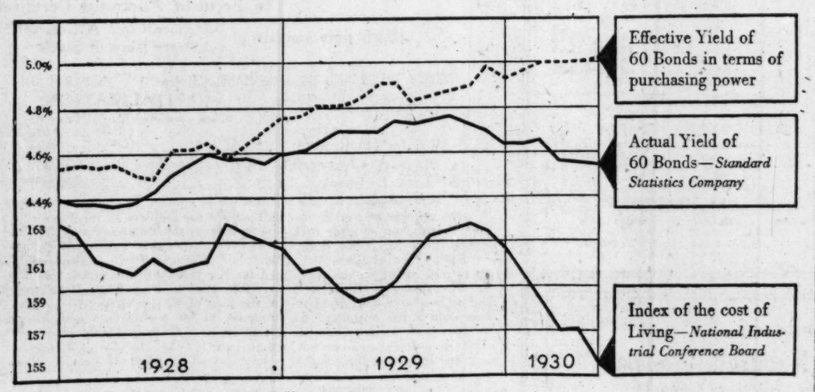
Although bond prices are moving UP ...bonds now yield MORE



● The apparent paradox in the title is explained in the foregoing chart. Bond prices have been rising slowly since last October, as the downward trend of the bond yield curve shows, but because the cost of living has been going down more rapidly than the dollar return from bonds, the purchasing power of bond income has been going up.

Bond prices can move up substantially from present levels and still the buyer at such higher levels will get a larger real return on his investment than was obtainable some time ago at lower prices.

There is a place in practically every investment account for carefully selected bonds. This is a very good time to add to holdings. The prospect is that bond prices will continue their rise. We shall be glad to submit recommendations in line with individual requirements.

...LAN GASOLINE ...IPE LINE FROM ...KLA. TO CHICAGO

The Great Lakes Pipe Line company has been formed by the Continental Oil company and the Barnsdall corporation for the purpose of constructing a 1,400 mile gasoline pipe line from Oklahoma to Chicago, it was announced yesterday.

E. B. REESER.

This is the longest gasoline pipe line project yet undertaken and the fourth major line of its kind to be either planned or built under the present revolutionary methods of transporting gasoline into areas of large consumption, it is said. The capacity of the line will be 30,000 barrels daily, and laying of the pipe will start about Aug. 15.

The line, which will cost approximately $12,000,000, will involve no immediate public financing, although it is believed that ultimately a bond issue will be publicly offered to pay for part of its construction. The management of the line will be by the Continental Oil company, which, it is understood, will own a substantial majority interest. D. J. Moran, president of the Continental Oil company, will be president, and E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall corporation, chairman of the board. Although these two companies are the only ones involved in the undertaking at present, other substantial interest, it is said, may be taken in later.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES ITS UPHILL CLIMB

the first time in about three weeks it has passed the 3,000,000 share mark.

An improved tone in the commodity markets, with wheat rising more than a cent in spite of the administration attitude toward the situation and cotton recovering almost $1 a bale, probably helped as much as anything else to sustain the market against any serious inroads from the sporadic selling flurries. The overnight announcement of a further cut in crude oil production and the semi-annual report of General Electric showing better per share earnings than had been generally anticipated were also factors of some influence. Money continued easy, dropping again to 2 per cent from the 2½ per cent renewal figure.

American Telephone was the outstanding feature of the day, surging forward nearly 9 points following its favorable earnings statement. The street believes that the stock of this great utility system will have a better market upon the expiration on Aug. 1 of the rights to purchase additional common shares and this helped to stimulate buying. Telephone is not ordinarily a favorite short sale, while it is, of course, found in more strong boxes than perhaps any other issue of the entire list.

Oils Find Leader.

Investment oils found an inspiring leader in Standard of New Jersey, big blocks of which changed hands during the course of the session, but profit taking cut its showing down along with those of most of the other gild edged favorites. The more speculative shares of the oil group were sponsored as usual by Houston, which added another 2 points to the gain it has been so steadily pyramiding here of late.

Motor stocks met with selling, although the leaders of the division, General Motors, Chrysler, and Hupp, held their own in good shape.

Commission houses were reported more active on the buying side of the market today than they have been in many weeks. As a matter of fact, floor brokers reported that it was buying of such character which served as formidable offset to the effect of further realizing sales by professionals who had been long of the market for a turn.

GAIN IN LARD STOCKS

Lard stocks in Chicago on July 14, as reported to the Chicago Board of Trade, were 57,375,468 lbs, compared with 57,034,900 lbs on July 1 and 108,199,894 lbs on July 14 last year. Stocks of dry salted clear bellies increased fairly for the two weeks, but were decidedly less than last year.

A light trade was on in lard futures yesterday with a little commission house buying, while cash interests did the selling. At the close prices were 5 to 7½c higher. Liverpool was unchanged to 2d lower with export clearances 508,500 lbs of lard and 80,000 lbs of bacon. Hog prices were off 10c with receipts moderate at Chicago and less than a year ago at western packing points.

Consumption of hams in the United States and England have been unusually heavy of late and stocks in the English markets are said to be small. Prices follow:

N'WEST REPORTS MAKE SHORTS ON WHEAT UNEASY

Close Reveals Net Gains of 1 3-8 Cents.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Continued reports of deterioration in the spring wheat outlook in the American and Canadian northwest is causing uneasiness on the part of shorts and there was much less disposition on the part of the local element to operate on the selling side except on bulges. At no time were prices more than a fraction below the finish of the previous day, and the close was about the best figures, with net gains of 1⅜c. July finished at 91¾@88¾c; September at 91⅞@92c, and December at 97¾@97⅝c.

Local crop observers who are going over the spring wheat area both sides of the international line are finding heavy damage in some sections, and with a continuation of hot and dry weather further damage is feared. H. C. Donovan, who covered an area of 150 by 150 miles in the heart of the big wheat region in Saskatchewan, said that there was an immediate need of rain and cooler weather as the crop was in a bad way. A Winnipeg line elevator house in its weekly report showed a loss of 2@4 points in condition in the prairie provinces during the past week.

Eastern Shorts Uneasy.

It is the gossip of the trade that stock market operators who hedged holdings of stocks by sales of wheat are becoming uneasy, and there was some buying of futures during the day credited to eastern account. The pronounced strength at Kansas City, which closed 1½@1⅞c higher, had some effect on sentiment. The pit element sold September here, early around 91c, but covered toward the last when the market failed to break.

Over 30 per cent of the new southwestern winter wheat crop has already left farms, according to the best information. While there were some hedge sales during the day, the volume was not as large as of late. Some quarters expect a resumption of pressure when Nebraska starts to ship its grain in volume.

Foreign crop news as a whole was less favorable than of late and a leading French authority was out with an estimate showing only 248,000,000 bu for that country, or 140,000,000 bu less than harvested last year. Liverpool closed 1@1½d higher, with July there 15⅝c over. Chicago at the time it closed compared with a discount last March.

July Corn Acts Tight.

With only 811,000 bu cash corn in all positions in Chicago the July delivery has developed congestion, and it advanced 2¼c over Monday's finish and closed at 81¼c, with buying headed by a local operator. Some stop loss orders were caught on the way up. At one time July corn was less than 7c under July wheat, said to be the smallest difference since 1895 when corn sold early in the year at 6c over wheat. Later in the year the latter went to 51c premium over corn.

Continued dry weather over the corn belt with indications of a return of the hot wave brought in fair buying of the deferred futures and they close 1¼@1⅝c higher, with September at 78@78⅛ and December 71¼@71¼c.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Important influences in the butter market were discounted, apparently, by traders on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday. Futures moving within a narrow range. But, for closed unchanged, while November eggs after a listless session, closed steady. Lack of interest in butter trading seemed to indicate an indifferent attitude toward the statistical news. The storage movement in the four markets was the same as last year, the total net change showing 4,000 lbs less into storage. Spot market operations were not conducive to quick market response and receipts were moderate. Sales were: Butter, 41 cars; eggs, 41 cars. Receipts were: Butter, 13,419 tubs; eggs, 20,216 cases. CASH-GRAIN NEWS

A better general demand for cash wheat has developed in the past few days, with elevator interests taking hold rather freely, as the discount of the cash grain under the futures furnishes a good carrying charge, and the new grain is of excellent quality. The local spot basis was steady to ⅛c higher with No. 1 red and hard winter 1¾@2c under and No. 2 grades, 2¾@2½c under the September. Purchases of wheat to arrive made by Chicago handlers aggregated over 200,000 bu.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Action of the wheat market in the last hour was construed by close observers as indicating that bearish conditions had lost their influence, at least for the time being, and that the heavy selling pressure, even hedging, is likely to be somewhat reduced for the balance of the week. Numerous traders who have been bearish expressed the belief that short sales, except on sharp bulges, were too hazardous, and that the market was showing more disposition to respond to bullish conditions, particularly the crop situation in the American and Canadian northwest.

One of the largest cash wheat handlers in the southwest expressed the belief that while hedging pressure may be reduced for the balance of this week, he predicts that the run of wheat at Kansas City next Monday will largely exceed the 2,000 cars reported there on Monday. He also said that matters are not so closely adjusted that 25,000,000 or 50,000,000 bu one way or the other in the spring wheat crop would make any material difference, because that much at least has been added to the winter wheat. He says one must not forget that the carryover in the United States and Canada is 420,000,000. He also adds that North America would do very well to export 420,000,000 bu of wheat between now and July, 1931.

LESS COTTON CONSUMED

Consumption of cotton in the United States in June, as given by the census report, was 405,161 bales, against 474,000 bales in May and 569,414 bales in June last year. The report had no material influence on the market, it being offset by insufficient rains in the greater part of the best sections of the cotton belt.

Offerings were lighter a good part of yesterday and prices moved up fairly, showing 25 points advance. A reaction followed the upturn, induced by sales based on light rains in Alabama, and the close was at intermediate prices.

Spots advanced 10 points, with New York 13.20c, New Orleans and Galveston 12.79c, Houston 12.50c. Liverpool closed 1@2 points net lower and spot sales 2,000 bales.

Substantial increases in cattle receipts have worked havoc to prices during the last few days. Yesterday's trade closed in a semi-demoralized condition, some classes hitting a new bottom for the year when 14,000 were posted at Chicago for today against 9,921 the previous Wednesday and 8,808 a year ago.

Twenty markets in two days handled 124,000 cattle, against 103,000 a week ago, an increase of 20 per cent. Fancy yearling steers were not offered and the top at $11.50 was paid for prime 1,340 lb averages. Bulk of sales lowered to $9.25@10.50. Butcher stock, with the exception of a few top heifers, declined 25@50c more. Nearly 200 baby beef heifers averaging 682@732 lbs sold at $10.85@11.25.

September Hogs, $9.50.

Hog futures opened slightly higher, but closed 5@10c lower, and at the lowest level in two weeks. September mediums sold early at $9.50, or 5c above Monday's price, but closed the day at $9.40, lowest since July 2. July light were bid $9.30 and August light, $9.35, but $10.00 was the lowest offer at the close.

Buyers were willing to pay $8.35 for December heavy, but refused to go over $8.20 on light weights for the same month. Light hogs on the "to arrive" market were bid $9.60 for today's delivery.

Hog receipts on the cash trade exceeded requirements yesterday and prices declined mostly 10@15c, some medium weight butchers at the close showing as much as 25c loss on local account. The top and general average prices lost 10c more at $9.75 and $8.60, respectively, the latter going back to December, 1928, for an equal low.

Washington Lambs, $11.50.

Twenty-six carloads, or approximately 7,000 Washington range lambs were sorted at $11.00@11.50 on yesterday's generally steady market, exactly half of this number going at the top figure. Natives were sorted more closely around $10.75 and a few lots of "hand picked" stock went to city butchers at $11.00@11.25, in a class by themselves in point of quality.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 14,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs and 16,000 sheep, against 9,921 cattle, 18,691 hogs, and 15,767 sheep, the previous Wednesday, and 8,808 cattle, 22,445 hogs and 13,588 sheep a year ago.

REVEAL DETAILS OF $375,000,000 CHILE NITRATE COMPANY

New York, July 15.—(AP)—Details of the formation of the $375,000,000 Chile Nitrate company, representing a consolidation of virtually the entire Chilean nitrate industry, were announced here today in a statement authorized by Pablo Ramirez, Paris representative of the government of Chile.

The Chilean congress has eliminated, in favor of the new company, the export tax on nitrate and iodine and is receiving in return half of the stock of the corporation and guaranteed minimum returns for the next three years, amounting in 1931 to $22,500,000, in 1932 to $20,000,000, and in 1933 to $17,500,000. Thereafter the government will rely on the dividends on its stock and a 6 per cent income tax to compensate for the loss of revenue resulting from elimination of the tax. The latter item has averaged about $30,000,000 a year for the last three years.

Twenty-eight companies, representing more than 91 per cent of Chile's production nitrate capacity, have approved the merger plan. Half of the new company's stock will be used for acquisition of the existing nitrate concerns and stockholders of those companies will receive shares of Chile Nitrate company on the basis of the respective contributions of the constituents.

The proposal has been approved by Anglo-Chilean Consolidated Nitrate corporation, which owns the so-called Guggenheim process for extraction of nitrate from ore.

The authorized capitalization of the new company will comprise 15,000,000 series "A" common shares to be issued to the Chilean government and 15,000,000 series "B" shares, including a block of 7 per cent preference stock. The funded indebtedness of the component companies will remain outstanding.
